PRESIDENT'S ORDERS IGNORED BY MINERS

Dutch Clamp Lid on Kaiser

STRICT CENSORSHIP ENFORCED; BERLIN BARS MONARCHISTS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, Sept. 2.—The Dutch government has notified Germany that henceforth the Kaiser will not be permitted to communicate with his supporters in Germany from Doorn by mail and that his conversations by telephone and his telegrams will be censored. Sedan day, which was celebrated in every German school since the victory of 1871, passed without recognition this year, by order of the provincial school board.

The order forbids reference to the anniversary in any school, the usual holiday has been discontinued, although it was observed all through the war and thereafter, including last year.

It is said the order is due to the fear of nationalistic reactionary tendencies. Advantage has been taken of every patriotic anniversary to develop the reactionary spirit. A majority of the school-teachers are reactionaries. In the face of avowed government disapproval they have presented to Field Marshal Von Hindenburg a testimonial crediting him as "the ideal leader and educator."

PAPERS ARE SUSPENDED.

The government decided to make a good clean-up of the monarchists while it had a chance. Acting on the decree for the suspension of newspapers openly hostile to the republic, it promptly put out of business ten of the principal sensational reactionary papers. The list included three Berlin papers—the Deutsche zeitung, formerly known as a Bismarck organ and recently the unofficial organ of the Deutsch Nationale Volks partie; the Deutsche Tageblatt, a close rival of the other, and its evening edition, the Deutsche Abendblatt, which recently started a sensational reactionary campaign. Other hardly less violent reactionary papers were untouched, but the official course is understood as a warning to them to desist from their recent tactics.

OLD UNIFORMS BANNED.

In the suppressed list is the Miesbacher Anzeiger, a Bavarian reactionary paper, which has been the worst enemy of the present government. A second important republican move dating from today, is the government's ban on the wearing of old imperial uniforms, except when specially permitted by the Chancel-

JAPS WILL TAKE APPEAL FROM RULE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—An appeal to overturn the recent ruling of Atty.-Gen. Webb that crop contract leasing is in violation of the anti-alien land law will be made through the courts by Japanese farmers, it was announced today by T. Yahanda, secretary of the Japanese Agricultural Association of California. His statement followed a conference of twenty leading Japanese ranchers at which it was decided to engage counsel and start legal action.

"The Japanese hold that so long as their leases deal with crops and they are not given an option as to what shall be planted on the land for which they contract, they are not violating even the spirit of the Alien Land Act," Yahanda said.

"Ninety per cent of the 700 members of this association do not own their own land. Most of their leases, contracted for before the alien land law went into effect, expire within the next two or three years. Practically all of them had contemplated entering into crop contracts by which they would be supplied with labor, could grow whatever the landlord desired, and take a share of the harvest profits. The Attorney-General's decision leaves nothing open to them, but to go to work as laborers for some one else."

WILL QUELL INSURRECTION.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The War Department set in motion today machinery to apply irresistible force to disorderly elements in the five mining counties of West Virginia where labor disorders have smoldered into what officials term insurrection. By train from four Army camps an expeditionary force numbering 2100 men was routed for destinations on the edge of the mountain country. Brig.-Gen. H. H. Bandholtz, the government's agent on the scene, has been designated in command.

Behind this force, Secretary Weeks said, were as reserves another 2000 men, and bombing airplanes, which already have arrived in the disturbed area. President Harding's proclamation formally putting Fayette, Mingo, Logan, Kanawha and Boone counties under martial law is in the hands of Brig.-Gen. Bandholtz and will be issued at the discretion of Secretary Weeks.

UNION OFFICIALS APPROVE.

The government's action in sending troops into West Virginia, Secretary Weeks said today, evidently had the approval of mine union officials as well as the civil authorities of West Virginia, who had asked for them. He referred to Brig.-Gen. Bandholtz's report that Phillip Murray, international vice-president of the United Mine Workers, had joined in urging recommendation for troops.

"When railroads are closed up and armed bands of men establish themselves in the country, marching to and fro overpowering resistance," the Secretary said, "you may call it what you please. We call it insurrection."

TROOPS ON MOVE.

The Nineteenth Infantry from Camp Sherman and Columbus, O., and the Twenty-sixth from Camp Dix, N. J., which were the first to move, are provided with machine guns, howitzers, radio and headquarters machinery, one-pounders, spe-

SUBSTITUTE FOR "GAS" IS TRIED OUT.

St. Paul Mechanic Says His Mixture Can be Made and Sold at Low Price.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ST. PAUL, (Minn.) Sept. 2.—A substitute which can be manufactured cheaply and sold at one-half the price of gasoline has been invented by Horace La Clair, 426 West Seventh street, and a patent on the formula now is being sought at Washington, La Clair announced today. The inventor, who is a mechanic at the Enenlee Motor Car Company, says he has used the substitute successfully in his motorcycle during the summer, and that last week in an automobile it proved highly successful.

While La Clair refused to divulge the ingredients of the mixture, he stated that it is made of one part of a mineral composition to six parts of water. In the tests last week he said that he used one gallon of the mixture and six gallons of water to drive the car 120 miles.

"It is the product of a simple formula," he said, "and can be easily and cheaply manufactured. It could be retailed for about 13 cents a gallon."

PATRICIANS ASTOUNDED

Parisian Duchess Shocks Society.

Husband Names 43 Men of High and Low Degree; Best Families Involved.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Sept. 2.—The patrician world of the Fsubourg St. Germain, the most conservative of European aristocracies, is shuddering today from the shock of the most sensational scandal that has burst upon Parisian society in many decades.

No less a personage than the Duchess De Vallombrosa, whose birth and marriage have allied her with the most illustrious families of the French nobility, and whose wealth and youthful loveliness have won her the unquestioned leadership in the ultra-fashionable group of cosmopolitan Paris, is being sued for absolute divorce in the French courts. To make matters worse the Duke has mentioned the names of forty-three men, some of them far inferior socially to himself and his wife, in his formal charges which the Duchess in accord with French procedure, thus far has left unanswered.

SHIMMY TO BLAME.

If her husband's accusations are well founded it would appear that the shimmy is largely to blame for the alleged misconduct of the Duchess. That seductive dance which has gained favor among the gilded idlers of the French capital early numbered the beautiful noblewoman—she is just 21 years old—among its most enthusiastic exponents.

A splendid dancer of the old-fashioned waltz and one step the Duchess was one of the first Parisiennes to master the intricate steps and startling shoulder movements of the shimmy, as performed on this side of the Atlantic. Her grace and the stunning costumes with which she enhanced her slender shapeliness often caused her to be mistaken for a professional performer.

CAME NEAR TO JOB.

Indeed, a well-known New York theatrical man was on the point of offering her an engagement on Broadway—until he learned of her exalted position.

Had the duchess been content to dance the shimmy in her own home or in those of her aristocratic friends, doubtless all would have been well. She became so enamoured of the dance, however, that she began to patronize all-night resorts in which the world and half-world rubs shoulders—literally, where the shimmy is concerned—to strains of American jazz bands. It was in this pursuit of terpsichorean pleasure that his young bride became acquainted, Vallombrosa charges, with persons of doubtful reputation of both sexes.

HIRED PARTNERS.

Among these acquaintances, he declared, were several young men of a class known in Paris' tenderloin as gigolos—youths who make a shady living by hiring themselves out as partners to women of wealth.

The Duchess, it is charged by the Duke, shimmied with individuals of this type in such places as the Clover Club, the establishment in which last year Peggy Hopkins was introduced to Henri Lettilier, the French millionaire later named as co-respondent in the divorce action started against her by Stanley Joyce and in the Perrequet, today the most popular dancing resort with well-to-do American tourists.

For many months the Duke, who, owing to his connection with Morgan, Harjes & Co., the Paris branch of J. P. Morgan & Co., has an American liberal-mindedness, raised no objection to his wife's fondness for after midnight dancing parties. His indulgence vanished, however, when, through his brother, Count Paul De Vallombrosa he learned of the alleged infidelities with which he accused the Duchess in his divorce complaint.

SCARLET CORRESPONDENCE.

Gossip, it appears, linked the Count's name with his sister-in-law which so angered him that he went immediately to his brother and told him all he knew of the Duchess' conduct with other men. The Duke refused to believe until the Count, it is asserted, broke open the Duchess' writing desk and laid before his brother's eyes her scarlet correspondence.

The letters thus discovered show, according to the Duke's complaint,

SEE DANGER AT ARMAGH

Sinn Fein Defies Orangemen.

Commander of Republican Army Says He Will Speak in North Sunday.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

DUBLIN, Sept. 2.—The visit of Michael Collins, Sinn Fein Minister of Commerce and commander-in-chief of the Irish republican army, is attracting great attention here. It was announced that Mr. Collins purposes to address a meeting at Armagh Sunday.

Armagh is the district in which the Orange Association was first organized, and Orangemen are declared to regard the visit there of Collins as an invasion of their territory by a rebel. Mr. Collins was elected to the Northern Parliament for Armagh.

Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, is forecasting the attitude of his followers, on the establishment of the Northern Parliament, said they would keep rebels out of their provinces.

MAY ACCEPT DEFI.

Accordingly it is considered as likely that Orangemen will take the visit as a challenge, as the republican army's commander is credited in Ulster with being the chief organizer of physical force.

Armagh is a city which observes Sunday strictly, as it is observed in Scotland, where political meetings are barred. Sunday's meeting is to be preceded by a procession, and the hope was expressed today the leaders in the movement would confine it to the Nationalist quarter.

In some quarters here the belief is expressed that the visit of Mr. Collins to Armagh likely will lead to visits by Sinn Fein members of the Northern Parliament to their districts in Ulster.

CABINET GETS REPLY.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Prime Minister Lloyd George has sent the reply of Eamonn De Valera, the Irish Republican leader, to his latest communication on the peace proposals, to London, for circulation among the members of the Cabinet. Having regard for the serious issues involved, Mr. Lloyd George has summoned a Cabinet meeting to be held on Wednesday next at Inverness, Scotland.

King George will be at Moy Hall, near Inverness, and Mr. Lloyd George will visit him there.

BELFAST, Sept. 2.—Fresh shooting occurred this afternoon in the Falls division, but the outbreak was not serious. Townsend, Coates and Melbourne streets were the scenes of the disturbances.

HUNGER STRIKE OFF.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

CORK, Sept. 2.—The liaison officer of the Irish republican army announced today that "certain circumstances" having been brought to the notice of republicans held in the Spike Island internment camp, the hunger strike was declared off.

The interned republicans, numbering more than 400, have insistently maintained that the English government has no legal or moral right to detain them.

CAMPAIGN OPENED.

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—A new national campaign in which the "safeguarding of the interests of America and Ireland at the disarmament conference," is one of four issues involved, has been started from the national headquarters in Chicago of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, it was announced today.

The call, based on a telegraphic request from Stephen M. O'Mara, Mayor of Limerick, Ireland, and financial agent and trustee of the Dail Eireann, who is now in Washington, urged the association to double its membership before November 20 for the following purposes:

"First, to intensify the pressure for recognition.

"Second, to safeguard the common interests of America and Ireland at the disarmament conference.

"Third, to make the second loan to the Irish republic a success.

"Fourth, in the event of a renewal of the war against Ireland, to prevent a renewal of the atrocities by the British."

GIRL REPORTED KIDNAPED

W. E. Lee of 501 East Fourth street reported to the police early this morning that Alice Robinson, aged 22, of 236 Huntington avenue, Watts, had been kidnaped by a hold-up man at the corner of Fifth and San Pedro streets. According to Lee's report to Detective Sergeants Hamilton and Smith, he and Miss Robinson had just met when the bandit-abductor drove up in a Mitchell touring car, jumped out, shoved a gun in their faces and ordered them to hand over their valuables, taking a watch and $30 from Lee, together with a watch and chain from Miss Robinson. The bandit then, according to Lee, ordered the girl, under threats of death, to accompany him in the machine. Lee told the detectives he knows who the abductor is. His name is being withheld by the police, who are searching for him and the girl.

Tijuana Customs Collector Held in Jail on Suspicion.

With $26,000 in United States gold packed in bags in their possession, which they assert is the property of the Mexican government, Augustin Antunez, who says he is the Collector of Customs in Tijuana for the Mexican government, and Romero Breton, an employee of the Customs Department, were taken into custody at a rooming-house at 800½ East First street at an early hour this morning and are being held by the police for investigation.

The arrest of the two Mexican youths brings to light a probable political move in Mexico. According to Antunez, the gold, equivalent to $52,000 in Mexican currency, was turned over to him on the first of the month by Francisco Fernandez, who, he says, is the Chief of Customs at Tijuana. Fernandez, Antunez told the police, fled from Mexico when a warrant was issued for his arrest in Mexico City on the first inst.

Yesterday, Antunez declared, he received information that a second warrant had been issued for his own arrest and for the arrest of his companion, Breton. Putting the money, which he said was turned over to him, in canvas sacks, he passed over to this country, arriving in Los Angeles last night by auto.

A third youth, an American giving the name of Harry J. Waldrip, who said he was hired to drive the two Mexicans from the Mexican border to this city, also was held by the police.

Antunez said he borrowed the automobile from a man by the name of Silverio Romero of Tijuana.

The arrest of the three youths was made by Police Officer Ballinger after the officer's suspicions were aroused when he came upon the car parked near the rooming-house on East Eighth street. Waldrip, he said, failed to give him a satisfactory explanation of his presence there. The car also was minus a registration certificate. Waldrip, Ballinger said, told him that he had driven two men from Mexico. Acting upon his suspicions, Ballinger went into the rooming-house and found the Mexicans with the gold packed into a suit case.

Antunez told detectives at Central Station that the warrants issued for his arrest and that of Fernandez were the result of political movements at Mexico City and that he had brought the gold into the United States for safekeeping. Officer Ballinger declared that Antunez offered him $10,000 to let him go.

To Take Silk Shipment East in Four Days.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—An attempt to move a shipment of silk overland from San Francisco to New York in four days and four hours, which would set a speed record for all but air transportation, will be made by the Western Pacific Company, H. K. Faye, traffic manager, announced today.

The train will leave the docks of the Persia Maru here at 5:30 this evening and should arrive in New York at 9:30 on September 6, Mr. Faye said. The train of fifteen cars will have a special crew and the only stops will be Salt Lake, Pueblo and St. Louis.

The fast time is made necessary by the Western Pacific entering into competition with overland systems between the Northwest and East. In order to obtain the shipment the company must overcome a difference of two days in trans-Pacific steamer time in favor of northwestern ports.

FIGHTING CONTINUES IN WEST VIRGINIA HILLS; TROOP TRAINS ARRIVE

LOGAN (W. Va.) Sept. 2.—Heavy fighting on the west end of the Spruce Fork ridge line was reported in an official statement issued by Col. W. E. Eubanks tonight. His announcement added that toward the center some firing was in progress, but to the east, where Blair Mountain is located, all was quiet.

Col. Eubanks, who is in command of Logan county deputies, State troopers and volunteers, further states airplanes dropped bombs on roads in the affected district.

The statement made no mention of casualties, although one man, Private Goff, a State trooper, was brought in from Crooked Creek suffering a bullet wound. He was not dangerously hurt.

SOLDIERS ARRIVE.

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) Sept. 2. Federal troops are in West Virginia, ready to put down the disorder that has been disturbing the peace of the State since last week. The first troops train arrived at St. Albans early tonight from Ohio and was followed by other trains bringing infantrymen and equipment from the Fifth Corps area of the Middle West. Troops from Camp Dix, who left New Jersey today, are not due until tomorrow.

Command of the contingent of the Federal troops now at St. Albans was met at St. Albans by Col. Stanley H. Ford, War Department General Staff, who conveyed orders to the commanders of the troops where to place his men. St. Albans is about twenty-five miles from the affected area in Boone and Logan counties.

Brig.-Gen. Bandholtz, in command of all the troops ordered here, worked out the details for placing the commands today. He would not divulge the exact spots where men are to be stationed.

AT CENTRAL POINTS.

The infantrymen will be stationed at about half dozen central points from which they will operate in smaller detachments to all surrounding places where they may be needed. Gen. Bandholtz had no very disturbing reports today from boundary lins of Boone and Logan counties, where the armed miners and others are facing the largely recruited county and State peace officers and men. The armed bands are on the Boone county side of the line and in a strip of Logan county east of Spruce Fork ridge, while the opposing State and county forces are on the Logan side.

Gen. Bandholtz made no statement on the situation, but said he expected that when the military arrived, the invaders would quickly disperse and return to their homes. This also is the opinion of State authorities and responsible members of the United Mine Workers.

With Federal troops in the State and every prospect of order being rapidly restored, it was generally believed that if the government declared martial law it will be of a modified, but effective, form that will not disturb business in Charleston and other places.

GOV. MORGAN'S ORDER.

Gov. Morgan today issued a proclamation to "all State and county officers, civil and military, and deputies, assistants and subordinates," ordering all to co-operate with the United States troops and to obey the orders of the Federal commanders.

It was said Gen. Bandholtz might order all persons outside of the Regular Army establishment to disperse and return to their homes.

Gov. Morgan's office gave out unofficial reports of continued shooting in the mountains to the south. There were, however, no details as to the casualties. There is no definite official information here, so far as learned, as to the number killed.

One report stated armed men

"AMERICAN" IS PASSPORT FOR CHINA.

Chinese Minister Says That Word Carries Weight in His Country.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BALTIMORE, Sept. 2.—The word American is an open passport throughout China, Dr. Sze, Chinese Minister to the United States, said in an address tonight before the Foreign Trade Club. China wants to trade with a customer like America, he added, a customer "who believes that both sides gain in an honest business transaction and who cherishes no ulterior designs of political domination."

Dr. Sze reviewed the history of commercial intercourse by the United States in the Orient and discussed the resources of China. Referring to the traditional friendship of the United States for his country, he said:

"We have American altruism and disinterestedness toward China typified in your open-door policy; in your return of the surplus of the Boxer indemnity; and later on in your interest in our troubles pertaining to Shantung and in the present invitation of President Harding to China to participate in the conference on Pacific-Far Eastern problems.

"China knows that America harbors no design upon China's territory; that you have no desire to exploit our people for selfish ends. You have shown your altruism in your relations with the Philippines, an island territory very close to China and a territory where Chinese merchants have received a square deal."

IDLE DEMAND HUGE SUMS.

British Taxpayer Can't Stand It:

Mayor and Councillors Who Refuse to Levy Imports Are Arrested.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Unemployment reached new heights today, and the problem grew more acute as the result of the arrest of the Mayor and eleven councillors of the London borough of Poplar, and an outbreak in Woolwich borough, there is an increase of the disorderly spirit among the unemployed in these and other sections of London. The labor situation faces a new crisis which is engaging the attention of government officials.

London main labor leaders have written to Premier Lloyd George demanding that he either convene Parliament at once to take steps to relieve the unemployment situation, or else provide finances to support the idle that local taxpayers, now almost at the limit of their resources, may not suffer further.

"The condemned neglect of the unemployment problem may produce consequences to the social order of very undesirable character," the letter concludes.

JAIL COUNCILLORS.

Six of the Poplar borough councillors were arrested last night and five more and the Mayor were arrested today and lodged in Brixton jail. They are charged with refusing to levy taxes demanded by the Ministry of London county council, whose demand is backed by an order of the court. The defense of the councillors is that the taxpayers are already burdened to the limit with the taxes imposed for the care of the unemployed in the borough, and that they cannot stand further taxes for the whole of London, whereas there are wealthier boroughs which do not have to bear the burden of caring for the idle.

SINGING BY CROWDS.

The arrests today were effected without violence, although crowds singing and shouting gathered about homes of the councillors, who they knew would be arrested, and followed them through the streets to the prison. "The red flag" was constantly sung by the crowds in front of the prison, and there were constant shouts of "up with the rebels."

Before their arrests several of the councillors addressed the crowds and advised them and the people of Poplar borough not to pay rent until the borough officials were freed from prison.

Last night's trouble in Woolwich, another one of the poorer boroughs of the city, came about through the demand for an increase in the allowance for unemployed men with large families. In the case of some

BAR TALKS AERONAUTICS.

Conflicting Views Expressed at Association Meeting in Cincinnati; Taft Presides at Dinner.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 2.—Conflicting views on the power of the national government to control aeronautics caused heated debate before the convention of the American Bar Association today when the report of the committee on the law of aviation was received and finally adopted after numerous substitute resolutions had failed.

The report advocated that the association give attention to "the fundamental problems of jurisprudence," without venturing into the field of practical aviation, and left the question of legislation open to Congress. Legal questions involved in air legislation must be first decided before the details of control were settled, the committee said.

The proposition that it was an invasion of the rights of private ownership of property to utilize the air for flying was challenged by the report, presented by Charles A. Boston of New York, chairman of the committee.

Maj. Jefferson Davis of Los Angeles, former air service officer, raised strenuous objection to several features of the report which he declared would retard aviation for ten years. He disagreed with the

GRAPHIC PICTURE OF REAL HORROR

Correspondent Says Russian Famine Not Red Lies.

Starvation, Death, Suffering Has Stricken Populace.

Abandoned Children Dying by the Hundreds.

BY FLOYD GIBBONS.

SAMARA, Aug. 24. (Delayed.)—Russia's famine is not Bolshevik propaganda. It is real. It is terrifying. It affects 40,000,000 people, of whom 15,000,000 are slowly starving, and of the latter at least 1,000,000 are doomed to die in spite of any relief measures that America or the world may take in the next few months.

The last estimate is my own, based on a 2000-mile eight-day trip by rail, motor, horse and boat through the Volga region and the visiting of a number of communities ranging in size from a city and rail center with a population of over 100,000 to country hamlets numbering 1000 souls.

LARGER THAN FRANCE.

The area affected is larger than France, but not so large as the Mississippi Valley region, although there are frequent and striking resemblances to the father of waters and its basin. The people almost entirely are simple Russian peasants and hard-working farmers, being extremely religious. In fact, they live a life of Christ-like simplicity, passivity and piety, which undoubtedly accounts for the Russian word "Kristianin," by which all peasants are known.

"The people are dying by the thousands daily. Inland from the river I saw them in isolated villages, 100 miles from a railroad, wasting away slowly in their clustered log huts or dropping over in barren fields while searching for roots and seeds for food. At the river landings along the Volga I saw them drag themselves from the banks to wave futilely for help from passing steamers or to beg food from those that stopped, imploring in the name of their dying children and women to be taken on board and removed from the ghastly sandbanks, marked with fresh crosses for their dead.

CHILDREN ABANDONED.

We passed caravans of them on the roads, plodding wearily on foot and carrying sacks on their backs or in wagons drawn by dejected skeletons of horse flesh and followed by crows and other birds waiting to swoop down on each deserted camp in search of possible human wastage. In small country seats I saw hundreds of abandoned children housed in schools and dwellings and spending their entire time in beds or huddled under blankets and carpets to conserve as much as possible the heat and energy which they derived from their pitiful daily rations of bread made of grass, straw, weeds and a minimum of rye flour.

In the cities and towns along the railroads conditions are immeasurably worse, due to the congestion, overpopulation, total absence of sanitation and the total inability of the railway and municipal authorities to help move or to feed the ever-increasing thousands which continue to arrive by railroads from all directions. They cover the city streets, railroad yards, river banks, public squares, and even camp and live in cemeteries before making their final resting places.

DOGS DEVOUR DEAD.

I talked with a doctor who saw a dog tearing the flesh from a dead man lying here in the market place. The commandant of our train told me of a woman with two children in her arms who threw herself under the train preceding ours. Women with puny, wizened babies biting at their flat breasts wander through the streets shouting wildly in gibberish and with a wild light in their eyes. Every day the city authorities find rotting bodies in cellars, attics, lofts, sheds and out-of-the-way places where misery crawls away to gain the privilege of dying alone rather than in the midst of the city's filth and confusion.

Even death is comparatively clean in the country where the famine victims succumb principally from malnutrition or eating poisonous weeds or from stuffing themselves with a native clay called zel, which the system is not able to eliminate with the result that the foreign matter causes a monstrous abdominal distention and finally results in death by worms. But in the city the filth is terrible. It is a breeding spot for vermin and disease. Families of human rag bundles are lying everywhere on the ground beside other lousy heaps of rag-clad sufferers.

There are no toilet facilities—the simplest army trench latrine being unknown—and the ground is covered with the bones and carcasses of dead horses, melon rinds, hulls of sunflower seeds, rags, old sacks, newspapers, parts of broken wagons, broken pottery and all manner of debris that could be assembled from four directions by frantic thousands.

AIR IS PESTILENTIAL.

The air is pestilential. The long summer drought has made the ground like fine powder and the prevailing hot winds sweep the streets with choking dust clouds, heavy laden with contagion. With the wind comes all the surrounding smells. The members of our party were heavy towels over the mouth and nose when talking in the street, in the camps and in the concentration areas of the sick and starving. The number of cholera and typhus cases is so large that counting and registration, much less isolation, has long since been abandoned. Newcomers from the country simply land in a death trap.

Most remarkable to observe is the docility of the victims. It is perhaps a heritage of their oppression under the Czar, and later their submission to the revolutionary dictatorship, which now makes it possible for them to sit with empty stomachs and wait for death. Almost in the midst of the starving wretchedness in front of the railroad station here is a thriving small market with rows of peddlers squatting on the ground after the fashion of Oriental bazaars. They are stocked with small supplies of flour, grain, large loaves of black bread, melons, potatoes, dried fish, some cheese, butter and eggs. Most of these luxuries are bought at the station from passengers on passing trains and then sold in the market at speculative prices.

PEASANTS ARE DOCILE.

The surprising fact is that the pangs of hunger so far have not driven the starving hordes to storm the market place and take the food there displayed for themselves. It may be because they are too weak—maybe it is because starving men will not fight, for these men and women do not fight, not even the latter to save the lives of their children. Among the thousands occupying the streets and squares in front of the station market, I counted not fifty armed soldiers guarding the depot entrances and this small force could hardly constitute intimidation which might hold the starving in check. I witnessed no fight between any of the sufferers over food. The Russian peasant remains docile even in Samara, which once, during the revolution, was the refuge of Kerensky's constituent assembly and also provided a hatching ground for the white counter-revolutionary plot.

So far as I could learn, both from government and antigovernment sources there has not been a single case of an uprising or revolt throughout the entire fifteen states which comprise the area, which has a population of 15,000,000 souls, of which number 13,000,000 are peasants.

CENSORS WATCH FORMER KAISER.

lor. A series of regimental reunions began several months ago, at which participants appeared in uniforms and were addressed by Ludendorff, Hindenburg and other leaders of the old army. These affairs usually turned into reactionary demonstrations.

A series of meetings arranged throughout Germany to hear Lettow Vorbeck lecture on African campaigns became monarchist demonstrations headed by former army leaders in various districts. This course became so bad last week that a few days before the death of Mathias Erzberger the Socialists forbade and prevented further meeting in Saxony and the Rhineland.

Another feature of the reactionary campaign was an effort to rouse old nationalists by using patriotic anniversaries for their propaganda.

EFFECT IS CONTRARY.

The effect of the reactionary campaign upon the people was contrary to the expectations of the promoters, for they led to republican counter-demonstrations.

Further republican precaution is shown in the third decree forbidding members of the Reichswehr and members of the police to participate in reactionary meetings, those who attended being ordered discharged from service.

Today's demonstration for the republic was spontaneous on the part of the Liberal parties. The government decided to take advantage of the occasion to organize identical republican demonstrations throughout the country in order to prove that the reactionary cause is hopeless.

FOR THE FIRST TIME.

Thus for the first time Democrats, Socialists and Communists are demonstrating together.

The Communists are no less inimical to the republic than the monarchists and the government will be prepared to turn against them if occasion should come for doing so. Communists and Independent Socialists are for the moment friendly to the government because the effect of recent decrees has been to lift the state of siege in Middle Germany that had held over from the Red uprisings of March. The Communist organ, the Rotefahne, warns its readers, however, that the decree for the suppression of hostile newspapers may soon be turned against that publication.

Adoption of the international air and navigation convention by the United States was advocated by Maj. Davis, adding that every big nation in the world had ratified it with the exception of the United States. The incomplete nature of the report left the committee with much work ahead and provision was made for the committee's continuance during the coming year.

The convention adjourned to the usual dinner tonight. Chief Justice Taft was toastmaster.

A resolution declaring that electors should meet as early as possible after election and vote for president and vice-president, who should be inaugurated without any unnecessary lapse of time thereafter, and that Congress should come into being immediately after election, was adopted by the association.

C. A. Severance of St. Paul (Minn.) was elected president of the American Bar Association today. Frederick E. Wadhams of Albany (N. Y.) and W. H. Thomas Kemp of Baltimore, were re-elected treasurer and secretary respectively.

MINERS BLAME GOV. MORGAN.

Union Official Says That Men Welcome Troops.

Declares Attack Made After Strikers Dispersed.

Denial of Statement Issued from State Capital.

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) Sept. 2. Phillip Murray, international vice-president of the United Mine Workers of America, today gave out the following formal statement on the West Virginia situation, as representing the views of the union.

"After making a survey of the entire situation in the disturbed sections of West Virginia, I am forced to conclude that there is but one solution to the whole question, and that is complete abolition of the mine guard and Baldwin-Felts system now in general use throughout the nonunion coal mining fields of this State.

FEDERAL TROOPS WELCOME.

"Despite any statement that might be made to the citizenry by the Governor of West Virginia, evidences of the brutality of the mine guards and Baldwin-Felts agencies can be found in the nonunion territories of the State. My personal judgment is that the presence of Federal troops in the disturbed sections will result in immediate quiet being restored. The men engaged in the present conflict against the Governor's misuse of power welcome with open arms the coming of the Federal troops. They believe that their presence will at least assure them, their wives and families protection from assassination at the hands of this armed band of desperados.

"It is not generally understood, but it is nevertheless true, that on August 20 these citizens engaged in the present uprising against the Baldwin-Felts and mine guards entered an agreement with Brig.-Gen. Bandholtz and President Keeney to disperse peaceably and return to their homes, with the distinct understanding that their lives would be protected while following out the terms of the agreement.

RETURNED TO HOMES.

"The miners in good faith did disperse and did return to their homes, but not quite twenty-four hours later an armed band of men, consisting of members of the State constabulary and deputies from Logan county, crept into the town of Sharples in the dead of the night when the men, women and children of the community were in their beds, and when those armed thugs had completed their night's work they had killed two members of the United Workers of America, and injured another two.

"They stealthily crept back to where they came from and despite the fact that the responsibility for the commission of this most reprehensible crime was charged directly to the State, yet up until today, so far as I know, the Governor of the State of West Virginia has not even interested himself in this deliberate killing, which, it is alleged, members of his own State constabulary committed on August 27.

BAY CITIZENS OUTRAGED.

"The feelings of the citizenry of the entire State of West Virginia were completely outraged as the result of crime, which was committed in Sharples and resulted in a complete remobilization of not only the forces which had returned to their homes, but in addition there came hundreds of citizens from practically every county in the State to join in a fight for the abolition of this most terrible system which is permitted to be practiced by the State authorities.

"The general impression that has been created by the Governor is that the movement of this armed band of men is confined to members of the United Mine Workers of America. Nothing could be further from the truth. As a matter of fact, from my own personal observation of the situation, I discovered that the men who are on the firing lines consist of miners, railroad men, merchants, doctors, ministers of the gospel and almost every element of citizenship.

NOT IN AMERICA.

"The slogan of the men on the firing line is, as they give it to me, 'We fought for America in France. We returned home to find that we, in West Virginia, are not really and truly in America. We have made up our minds to do battle in West Virginia for the purpose of returning the State to our country.' Everywhere you go along the fighting line, all that one will hear is: Let us win West Virginia back to America.

"Additional charges have been made by certain agencies throughout the country that the marchers have looted stores for food and supplies, and that in addition they have committed various other depredations. I talked to practically all of the merchants between the towns of Marmet and Sharples, and each and every one of them is willing to testify that he has not been molested in the slightest degree by any of the marchers.

"The responsibility for the present sad state of affairs in West Virginia must of necessity rest upon the Governor. He has been calling for recruits for the past number of weeks to assist him in suppressing this alleged lawlessness, but up to date, he has not been able to muster a sufficient number of citizens to make up a corporal's guard to go out and defend his policies.

DEFENDING LIBERTIES.

"Federal troops are now on their way into the State. The citizens of West Virginia, who are on the fighting front today defending their liberties against the onslaughts of men who are seeking to take them away from them, will undoubtedly respect the Federal troops and the mandate of our Federal government.

"Their coming will bring about a peace in the disturbed area and that peace will continue to be here so long as Federal jurisdiction over the affected sections remains in effect.

"But what is going to be done about the source of all this evil? Who is there in authority within the confines of this great commonwealth willing to stand up like a great big broad-minded American citizen and seek to eradicate for all time the sources of these great industrial conflicts.

"Let us hope when this situation passes over and Federal jurisdiction has been removed from West Virginia that Gov. Morgan will meet this situation by saying to the Felts agency and the nonunion coal operators of this state: 'You must keep your Baldwin-Felts spies, gunmen and notorious guards out of the State.'

"Such an ultimatum, served by him upon these people, will have a far-reaching effect in restoring that measure of industrial transquillity which the United Mine Workers of America believes the citizens of West Virginia are entitled to receive."

GOVERNOR'S STATEMENT.

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) Sept. 2. Gov. Morgan tonight issued the following statement bearing on the telegram sent to the War Department last night by Brig.-Gen. Bandholtz to the effect that it was believed the withdrawal of invaders last week would have been achieved, but "for the ill-advised and ill-timed advance movement of State constabulary on the night of August 27, resulting in bloodshed."

"The squad of State police that went to Beech Creek on the night of August 27, led by Capt. Brockus of the Public Safety Department, did not enter that section to attack the insurrectionists, but to serve warrants on individuals who were charged with attacking two State policemen and robbing them of their equipment.

"For ten days these armed men had patrolled the roads and committed offenses against the peace and dignity of the State. They had refused to disperse even when requested by the Federal officers and when Capt. Brockus made his appearance his force was attacked. When fired upon, his force returned the fire."

ASK BIG SUMS FOR IDLENESS.

families this would amount to as high as $20 a week. The board of guardians was in session at the time and a delegation of twenty-eight of the borough's unemployed called and made their demands, while hundreds of the idle shouted outside the building.

The board of guardians flatly refused the demands for increases, and pointed out that the taxpayers of the borough could not stand the increase on account of the large taxes they have been paying to support the unemployed. The delegation refused to leave and would not allow the members of the board to depart from the building. The argument continued throughout the night and until 6 o'clock this morning, with hundreds of the idle still waiting in the streets. Finally both sides became tired and sleepy and the guardians were allowed to depart.

The present recrudescence of unemployment disturbances is largely due to the fact that idle men can draw the government allowance for only sixteen weeks in one year and a large majority have already drawn that much. The London borough councils which differ from any official bodies in the United States exercise considerable authority over the subdivisions of the county, having power to grant relief to the poor. Their funds come from direct levies on owners of real estate. Some of the boroughs have granted as high as $18 a week to the unemployed, but they insist they will not be able to stand the strain much longer.

Poplar and Woolwich boroughs are only two of the poorer districts of London and the conditions there are duplicated in others. Further trouble is feared in both these districts and a consequent spread to others.

that during the three years of their married life his wife had improper relations with no less than forty-three men, some of them intimate friends of both brothers, others belonging to the "gigolo" class.

PAINFUL SCENE.

A painful scene followed, as a result of which the Duchess fled from her husband's residence to that of her mother, the Countess Dubourgde Bosas. The two women went to Deauville and at present the Duchess is taking the cure at Carlsbad with her sister, the Countess De Beaumont. The Duke remains in Paris awaiting the trial of his action.

Owing to the French law prohibiting the mention of divorce cases until after the judgment has been rendered, nothing has appeared in the Paris papers about the affair, which, however, is widely known in society and already has become a "cause celebre."

MAY SEEK ANNULMENT.

Although both the Duke and the Duchess are Roman Catholics, religious scruples have failed to halt the former's determination to sever his marital ties. Probably he will seek a nullification of his marriage by the Pope if the French courts grant his appeal.

The Vallombrosas are of Sardinian origin. The founder of the family was Jaime Manca, first duke, who lived in 1500. A Savoy title of Marqas of Mores was added in 1456, it being held since by the eldest sons of the dukes. The father of the present duke was murdered in the Sahara during an exploration expedition.

Six Killed When Tenement House in Harlem Burns

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Six persons, four of them members of the same family, perished in a fire in a Harlem tenement house tonight.

Vincenzo Catalano, his wife and 16-year-old son and 8-year-old daughter, who occupied an apartment on the third floor, were burned to death, as was Fred DeLucca and an unidentified baby.

DeLucca's wife and several other residents of the building were taken to a hospital suffering from burns.

cialists in gas warfare, as well as rifles, riot guns, automatic rifles and revolvers. The enlisted strength of the two organizations, according to latest reports, is 2100, exclusive of the personnel of the Eighty-eighth Light Bombing Squadron, estimated at 150 men. The Nineteenth Infantry was brought to field strength by replacements from the Tenth Infantry at Camp Sherman and Columbus, the Fortieth Infantry at Camp Knox, Kentucky, and two companies from Fort Thomas, Kentucky.

Officers of the War Department familiar with martial law precedents and the policy of the administration, said the extent and duration of its existence in West Virginia, if declared, would depend largely upon the discretion of Brig.-Gen. Bandholtz.

Its primary object it was explained, is the quelling of disturbance, and the reinstatement of proper and constituted civil authority in the disturbed area.

WILL CO-OPERATE.

Consequently it is expected that the military forces will co-operate with State and local police, that no military courts will be set up for trial and punishment of captured disturbers of the peace, and that local business and industry will be encouraged to continue. Exception to this general policy, it was said, would only be occasioned by prolonged and virulent disorders, which could be stamped out only by military operations. If this should happen, it might be necessary to remove even peaceable residents from territory where troop movements and encounters with armed forces were probable.

Even should prisoners be taken in large numbers by the military organizations, it was said, they probably would only be detained until the civil authorities were capable of taking them over to the civil law.

"President Harding should summon operators and miners in West Virginia to a conference as the best means of restoring order," James Lord, president of the mining department of the American Federation of Labor, said today.

URGES CONFERENCE.

"I am convinced," he added, "that if President Harding would request the mine owners and the miners to confer, the parties so invited would come together.

"Once a conference was opened, it could not be closed without progress toward agreement or without abatement of some of the most grievous evils that have driven men desperate in Mingo.

"The mine operators of Mingo today are in the position of defying a government order. They have refused to apply the United States coal commission award of 1920 and that refusal is the cause of the strike out of which the present deplorable situation grew.

"The government has a duty to perform in view of the attitude of the operators toward the Federal award.

"An impartial investigation by the government is timely. The situation is one of common concern to the whole country. The district can be pacified on the surface, but it can never be brought into true co-operation and good citizenship as a harmonious part of the State and country until justice is done on the basis of finding of fact.

"President Harding has an opportunity to perform a constructive, helpful and just service by bringing together the opposing forces in West Virginia."

captured a train of eight cars, loaded it with men and sent them to the front. On order of Gen. Bandholtz, observers in Army airplanes made an observation flight to the south.

TRAINLOAD OF SOLDIERS.

ST. ALBANS (W. Va.) Sept. 2.—The first troop train bound for the disturbed area in the West Virginia coal fields arrived here at dusk. It carried about 200 soldiers from Camp Sherman, O., under command of Col. Ford.

The train was sidetracked here and Col. Ford said that the men would be sent up the little Coal River Valley tonight.

Another troop train was reported due here in a short time and still another, it was said, would arrive before midnight.

Attached to the first train was a hospital outfit, a commissary, and a stock car containing horses.

BODY OF VICTIM.

The body of James Roberts, who was killed in fighting on Blair Mountain yesterday, was brought here tonight on the first train to reach St. Albans from Clothier since the railroad was closed by the officials of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company Wednesday. The train also carried two wounded men and a number of others who said they had just come down from the front.

The wounded men, each wearing a red cross on his arm, refused to discuss events in the disturbed district other than to say that when they left there this afternoon fighting was continuing on Blair Mountain and was, if anything, more severe than at any time this week. They said the forces there had been added to by a large party of men who arrived from Boomer, W. Va., on the train which has been operated by armed bands during the time the road was closed.

Has Plan for Changing Dead Into Statues.

PARIS, Sept. 2.—Deceased relatives may be petrified and preserved like marble statues instead of being buried, if the discovery of an embalming fluid by a Hungarian savant lives up to expectations.

A noted Hungarian scientist has offered the French Academy of Medicine pigs, dogs, cats and rabbits like stone through the injections of secret preparations. He asserts he has human bodies petrified, but he is not able to ship them outside of Hungary. The fluid turns the tissues and glands into a stone-like substance, although the hair falls off.

A Budapest man states that hereafter the survivors will petrify their relatives and stand them about like statues, instead of putting them into coffins for centuries.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2. The crew of the superdreadnaught Idaho won the annual cutter race of the Pacific Fleet here today, the Mississippi coming second, Nevada third and New Mexico fourth. The course was three miles long. The race was for the trophy given by the Olympic Club of San Francisco. The Idaho also captured the trophy last year.

Criminal Libel Charge Against Moore Stands.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—William C. Moore, publisher of a Wall Street market letter, will be prosecuted for criminal libel for his attacks on Edward L. Doheny, president of the Mexican Petroleum Corporation. Judge Charles C. Knott in general sessions court refused to dismiss the indictment against Moore, which resulted from the publication in the syndicated letter of an intimation that Doheny had lied about the oil situation.

Counsel for Moore appeared before Judge Knott and entered two demurrers seeking the dismissal of the indictment, which alleged that Moore criminally libelled Doheny and a second indictment charging criminal libel against the Mexican Petroleum Corporation. Both indictments were returned on July 20. Judge Knott dismissed the indictment in the corporation's case, but sustained the other.

After considering the article which appeared in Moore's publication on May 24, last, Judge Knott decided there was nothing libelous in it concerning the corporation and therefore threw out the corresponding indictment.

But in alleging that Doheny had lied about the oil situation and asserting that the president of the Mexican Petroleum Corporation had paid to William Randolph Hearst, $25,000 every three months, Judge Knott ruled there was basis for a criminal trial.

REFUSE COMMENT ON OBREGON STATEMENT.

STATE DEPARTMENT SILENT OVER PRESS DISPATCHES ON TREATY QUESTION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—State Department officials, in the absence of other than press dispatches, declined today to comment for publication on President Obregon's statement to the Mexican Congress that recognition of Mexico by the United States was "neither possible, convenient, nor necessary, and is contrary to Mexican constitutional precepts."

Officials, in declining to comment, however, emphasized that official advices were being awaited on the recent decision of the Mexican Supreme Court in the case of the Texas company, indicating that decision might have a most important bearing on the question of recognition of the Obregon government.

GET TERRITORIAL DISPUTE.

League of Nations Assembly Called Upon for First Time to Settle Matter of This Kind.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

GENEVA, Sept. 2.—At its forthcoming meeting the assembly of the League of Nations will for the first time be called upon to decide a territorial dispute. This is a result of the action of the League council today in referring to the assembly the entire question raised in Albania's complaint against Greece and Jugo-Slavia for occupying territory conceded to Albania by the powers in 1913.

The case will be presented to the assembly by a Harvard graduate, Bishop Noli, head of the Albanian delegation. Jugo-Slavia will contest the right of the Albanian delegation. Jugo-Slavia will contend it has been divided by the establishment of the Mirdite republic.

REPORT ON BLOCKADE.

The council today received a report by the blockade commission, which recommends an amendment to the League covenant, doing away with the rule requiring a unanimous vote in a case where the council is required to decide whether there shall be a blockade against a nation having a representative on the council.

This, it was said, would prevent the offending nation, from blocking action.

In an animated meeting of the disarmament commission today, the failure was registered of the proposal of the assembly last year that an attempt be made to induce powers to limit armaments for ten years to the amount of their war budget.

BUT FIFTEEN REPLY.

It was reported that only fifteen countries had replied in the affirmative; six countries were willing to accept the proposal conditionally, while seven had given no for the answer.

Charles Noblemaire, representing France, made a heated protest against the charges of militarism lodged against France. He declared his country was maintaining no more under arms on the Rhine "not because she wanted them there, but because the powers in making peace had assigned to her largely the duty of watching the Rhine."

When all were ready to co-operate for mutual security, he added, France would be glad to demobilize these men.

GREAT CAMPAIGN FAILURE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Details of the "greatest advertising campaign ever conducted"—launched in a futile effort to dispose of this country's emergency fleet of wooden ships—were disclosed tonight by Allen D. Lasker, chairman of the United States Shipping Board.

In an interview in which he made another appeal for a permanent merchant marine, Mr. Lasker, who is in Chicago in connection with personal affairs, referred to the failure of this sales campaign as supporting his contention that the wooden boats are all but worthless. He said it proved nobody wants them at a reasonable figure, because they can be operated only at a loss.

ONE SINGLE BID.

"Following what I, as an advertising man, believe to have been the greatest publicity campaign ever conducted in this country," said Mr. Lasker, "we received just one bid for the fleet of 280 boats. This offered $2100 for each ship.

"When I undertook to get rid of this fleet, I realized it would be a difficult job. So I determined to advertise widely, offering every inducement to prospective buyers. This I did through newspaper interviews and display advertising. In addition I wrote to virtually every Chamber of Commerce in the United States and to every Congressman appealing for co-operation in finding purchasers.

HELD DOWN VALUE.

"I was criticised for depreciating the value of the boats. I deliberately did this, because I knew they were not worth much.

"As a financial venture, operation of the wooden ships is impracticable. They are 3500-ton boats, and it takes 700 tons of fuel to steam one across the Atlantic. Then, too, insurance rates on them are prohibitive, about twice what it costs to insure a steel ship."

Mr. Lasker said the prospects for a permanent merchant marine of a size that will afford adequate transportation facilities in event of war, and will give the United States its share of world trade in peace times, are good, since President Harding favors it.

BRITISH VICTIMS OF ZR-2 ARE BURIED

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

HULL, Sept. 2.—The bodies of Air Commodore Maitland and four other officers and men, British victims of the ZR-2 disaster, were interred here today in a plot of ground purchased by the Air Ministry. The men were buried in a grave one large enough to accommodate sixteen bodies. The grave will be reopened to admit any other bodies found and a monument will be erected there.

The funeral procession included a contingent from the American detachment in Howden.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Recovery of the bodies of Robert M. Coen of Owensboro, Ky., and Lloyd E. Crowl of Charleston, S. C., and William J. Steele, Bainbridge, Ind., victims of the ZR-2 disaster, was reported today to the Navy Department.

ASKS LABOR TO HELP FARMERS.

Farm Bureau Representative Makes Proposition.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—A proposal that the railroads reduce freight rates on grain and hay 25 per cent, and that railroad labor agree to a cut of 5 per cent in wages to make the rate reduction possible, was submitted by Clifford Thorne of Chicago, general counsel for the American Farm Bureau Federation, in argument before the Interstate Commerce Commission today in the grain and hay rate investigation.

Declaring that after every great war a period of decline in prices has developed, and in the struggle to prevent the lowering of charges the agricultural industry has been the weakest, while the railroad industry has been the strongest, Thorne said the agricultural industry must reduce costs to the prewar level.

"During these proceedings we have heard railroad officials continually stating that rates cannot come down unless wages are reduced," he said. "I desire to ask this question: If railroad labor shall consent to a reduction in wages for the specific purpose named, will you consent to the reduction in these rates on grain?"

Mr. Thorne submitted estimates to show that a 5 per cent decrease in wages would permit a 25 per cent reduction in freight rates on grain and hay.

NO REPLY GIVEN.

Counsel for the railroads present said obviously they could not reply to the question. Thorne asserted that the vice-president of one important western railroad approved the proposition.

"The conditions in the agricultural industry are intolerable," asserted Thorne, "and one of the principal factors helping to produce this situation is the excessive transportation burden resting upon agriculture. And yet the railroads claim they are not making what the law allows, and they say they cannot consent to any reduction in rates without a reduction in wages. On the other hand, railroad labor is thoroughly opposed to any reduction in wages. There is a controversy as to which tribunal has jurisdiction over the combined issues—how far the authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission goes and how far the jurisdiction of the Labor Board goes. With these conflicting factors it is difficult to find a common ground upon which we can all agree."

To reduce freight rates on grain, grain products and hay without a reduction in operating expenses would be disastrous to the railroads, in view of their present financial condition, and would throw many, if not a majority, of the western carriers into bankruptcy, while no substantial relief would be afforded the farmers, J. E. Davis of Chicago, assistant general solicitor of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, declared in his argument.

Dist.-Atty. Churchill did not attend the arraignment. He is in Santa Rosa investigating evidence.

Mrs. E. D. Barker, known also as Mrs. E. D. Duncks, who was arrested with Spencer in San Jose and who is accused as an accessory before the facts in connection with the killing, is a prisoner in a private home here, there being no accommodations in the Lake County Jail for women prisoners.

Sultan of Sulu Some Potatoes Around Jolo.

JOLO (P. I.) Sept. 2.—The Sultan of Sulu has a gorgeous purple, red and gold uniform topped with a red plush turban from which waves a long aigrette, but he did not wear this outfit on the day that the Wood-Forbes mission attended a tea party at his palace in Jolo. Instead he came out from behind a screen buttoning an ordinary looking gray coat. One could see that under it he wore nothing but a shirt—but this is a hot country. Gray trousers, black shoes and a soft cap—something like the doughboys' overseas cap, completed the informal attire.

The Sultan is about 50 years old, has black hair and a sensual mouth. When he entered the room his youngest and newest wife was on display. He has had her only a few weeks and she makes up for one that ran away with the Chief of Police of Jolo a short time ago. The girl is only 17, and she has had her eyes on the young Moro men, but she could not refuse the Sultan's offer and now she has taken her place in a long line of favorites.

It is somewhat disputed as to how many wives the Sultan has at present. He keeps two or three over in Borneo, where he is the nominal sovereign, he having leased that country to a British trading firm, until 1924. He has two or three scattered around towns here and four or five in his town house.

ASKS LABOR TO HELP FARMERS.

Farm Bureau Representative Makes Proposition.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—A proposal that the railroads reduce freight rates on grain and hay 25 per cent, and that railroad labor agree to a cut of 5 per cent in wages to make the rate reduction possible, was submitted by Clifford Thorne of Chicago, general counsel for the American Farm Bureau Federation, in argument before the Interstate Commerce Commission today in the grain and hay rate investigation.

Declaring that after every great war a period of decline in prices has developed, and in the struggle to prevent the lowering of charges the agricultural industry has been the weakest, while the railroad industry has been the strongest, Thorne said the agricultural industry must reduce costs to the prewar level.

"During these proceedings we have heard railroad officials continually stating that rates cannot come down unless wages are reduced," he said. "I desire to ask this question: If railroad labor shall consent to a reduction in wages for the specific purpose named, will you consent to the reduction in these rates on grain?"

Mr. Thorne submitted estimates to show that a 5 per cent decrease in wages would permit a 25 per cent reduction in freight rates on grain and hay.

NO REPLY GIVEN.

Counsel for the railroads present said obviously they could not reply to the question. Thorne asserted that the vice-president of one important western railroad approved the proposition.

"The conditions in the agricultural industry are intolerable," asserted Thorne, "and one of the principal factors helping to produce this situation is the excessive transportation burden resting upon agriculture. And yet the railroads claim they are not making what the law allows, and they say they cannot consent to any reduction in rates without a reduction in wages. On the other hand, railroad labor is thoroughly opposed to any reduction in wages. There is a controversy as to which tribunal has jurisdiction over the combined issues—how far the authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission goes and how far the jurisdiction of the Labor Board goes. With these conflicting factors it is difficult to find a common ground upon which we can all agree."

To reduce freight rates on grain, grain products and hay without a reduction in operating expenses would be disastrous to the railroads, in view of their present financial condition, and would throw many, if not a majority, of the western carriers into bankruptcy, while no substantial relief would be afforded the farmers, J. N. Davis of Chicago, assistant general solicitor of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, declared in his argument.

That the appropriation of $4,000,000 for the extension of the Milwaukee breakwater to the south depends upon the success of the city of Milwaukee in acquiring title to the whole of Jones Island, south to Wilcox street, was the assertion of Col. W. V. Judson, chief district United States engineer in Chicago.

DETROIT.

DETROIT, Sept. 2.—With the arrest of four men believed to have been the brains of the Middle West automobile theft ring, Federal officials are convinced a death blow has been dealt to an organization whose operations were even more widespread than were those of the Bridgeport-Detroit gang which went to pieces in Federal court here recently.

Mayor Cousens's plan to oust the D.U.R. from Fort street and Woodward avenue will be delayed in all probability due to steps taken by business men to have the proposal presented to the people at either the October primary or the November election.

The fruit season is exceptionally early this year and harvesting and marketing will be completed well in advance of the usual date.

ST. PAUL.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 2.—Jay Harmel, vice-president of the George A. Harmel Packing Company of Austin, has been appointed receiver of R. J. (Cy) Thomson's famous Oakdale farms.

The United States Grain Growers, Inc., may open an office in the Twin Cities and be under way with a complete "commission firm" organization within two months, J. M. Sultan of Sulu Some Potatoes Around Jolo.

JOLO (P. I.) Sept. 2.—The Sultan of Sulu has a gorgeous purple, red and gold uniform topped with a red plush turban from which waves a long aigrette, but he did not wear this outfit on the day that the Wood-Forbes mission attended a tea party at his palace in Jolo. Instead he came out from behind a screen buttoning an ordinary looking gray coat. One could see that under it he wore nothing but a shirt—but this is a hot country. Gray trousers, black shoes and a soft cap—something like the doughboys' overseas cap, completed the informal attire.

The Sultan is about 50 years old, has black hair and a sensual mouth. When he entered the room his youngest and newest wife was on display. He has had her only a few weeks and she makes up for one that ran away with the Chief of Police of Jolo a short time ago. The girl is only 17, and she has had her eyes on the young Moro men, but she could not refuse the Sultan's offer and now she has taken her place in a long line of favorites.

It is somewhat disputed as to how many wives the Sultan has at present. He keeps two or three over in Borneo, where he is the nominal sovereign, he having leased that country to a British trading firm, until 1924. He has two or three scattered around towns here and four or five in his town house.

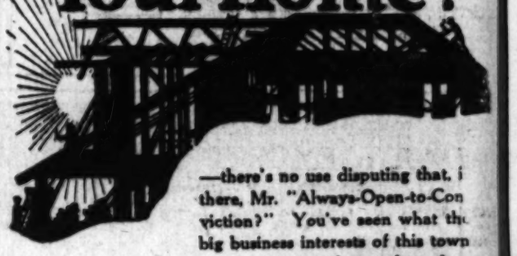
NOW is the time to BUY or BUILD Your Home!



—there's no use disputing that, there, Mr. "Always-Open-to-Conviction?" You've seen what the big business interests of this town are doing—you know that they aren't "letting any grass grow under their feet"—that they're building as fast as it's humanly possible to build!

We're glad to see you following their lead—they're setting a fast pace, but residential building is more than holding its own.

New homes are springing up all over Los Angeles—folks are beginning to realize that there's nothing to be gained by "stalling"—waiting for prices to drop—they've been convinced that NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY OR BUILD!

Walnut Park—

Where "Home" is All That the Word Implies :: ::

That word "home" is muchly abused. Some folks call a hot, cramped apartment or flat "home." They're all wrong. There's only one kind of real home—a house of your very own—a place where you've got plenty of "elbow room" where your kiddies have plenty of romping-room—where you're the "big boss"—landlord and owner all in one.

That's why so many folks turn to Walnut Park when they're in search of a real home—they like its beautiful "Modernized Adobes," its cozy little Colonial bungalows, its miles of green lawns, its many flower beds and shady trees. They like its wide, paved boulevards—the fact that they get all city conveniences without having to pay city taxes. You can get a real home there—on less-than-rent terms.

Walnut Park has the backing of such men as:

Fred L. Baker, President Baker Iron Works and L. A. Shipbuilding Co.
A. B. Cass, President Southern California Telephone Co.
L. D. Gale, President Western Wholesale Drug Co.

BOBBED HAIR NOTHING NEW.

Egyptian Flappers Did It 3000 Years Ago.

Also Wore Short Skirts and Concealed Ears.

Peruvian Ancients, Too, Had Similar Styles.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Bobbed hair, concealed ears, short skirts and all the other fads and foibles associated with modern women's styles are as old as the pyramids, according to the mute story told by the mummies of both Egypt and Peru in the Field Museum.

Wrapped in their pitched shrouds and encased in sarcophagi covered with curious paintings and hieroglyphs in colors still bright after 3000 years and more, these mummies, all that was mortal of a human being of ages ago, today link the present to a civilization long since dead.

STRANGE FASCINATION.

The daily center of thousands of curious eyes, for the mummies seem to hold a strange fascination for every visitor to the museum, they are silent spectators of the passing throngs, but the paintings which adorn their resting places tell more plainly than words of styles, customs and manners of a forgotten age.

"Why, ma, they're dressed just like the girls we see on Michigan Boulevard," exclaimed an aged visitor to his wife as he gazed at the strange figures adorning the sarcophagi.

"It appears like they did not wear a bit more then than they do now," the woman answered as the pair moved away.

It is a far cry from the Nile of Cleopatra's day to the Pacific Coast of Peru in South America, but mummies from both regions lying almost within reach of each other now, but in life ignorant of each other's existence, bear graphic evidence of the greatest similarity and proficiency in many arts at a time when the Normans were ravaging all of Southern Europe and the Old World had almost sunk into barbarism. Dr. J. Alden Mason, assistant curator of Mexican and South American anthology at the museum, has prepared an outline of the known history of the Peruvian mummies.

WOVE FINE CLOTH.

Both wove cloths in every weave known to the modern textile artist and made in some cases, finer than are duplicated today by the best mechanical means and the most skilled artisans. Their pottery is unsurpassed even today in its type and their work in gold and copper challenges the modern craftsman. Unlike the Egyptians, the Peruvians used no process of embalming, but so dry were the sands of certain of their deserts that the dry bodies, with their wrappings around them, have been preserved perfectly to this day with the objects placed around them.

Near the town of Ancon on the coast of Peru was found the greatest cemetery of these people. A great desert waste, no evidence of occupation is seen on the surface. Even when the first Spanish conqueror passed this way in 1533 every vestige of human occupation had entirely disappeared and the location of the town was quite forgotten. It was not until about seventy years ago that the first graves were discovered and for half a century they have yielded fortunes to treasure seekers who despoiled them to recover the golden ornaments left beside the bodies.

And now the mummies of both of these peoples tell of strange similarities in style, adornment, manners and industries to those of the present generation. It is a linking of the past to the present which holds a peculiar attraction, for the mummies, lying in silent state, are the most popular exhibit for the thousands of visitors who daily crowd the museum.

ARTISTRY OF JAPAN PRAISED BY ROWELL.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—The only ugly things in Japan are European houses and European clothes, Chester H. Rowell, State Railroad Commissioner, and formerly member of the United States Shipping Board, told a Commonwealth Club gathering today. His topic was his recent trip to the Far East.

"Every native thing, even the humblest, like a wood pile or a straw stack, shows the touch of conscious art," he said. "It is respectable to rave over beauty in Japan and manly to write spring poetry. The same artistic sense illuminates the manners and life of the Japanese. They are a graceful, attractive people, who have adorned a beautiful country.

"Californians are acutely unconscious that there is another side and no one who observes Japanese conditions can avoid being struck by the analogy between the present organization and situation of Japan and that of prewar Germany. Just as there were plenty of Germans with sound views before 1914, so are there plenty of antimilitarists and liberalists in Japan.

"The safety is that the world, including Japan, has had Germany's warning. Forewarned is forearmed or better still, forestalled. Long before things come to an impasse the good sense of both countries should be able to avert a foreseen calamity.

"If the international experts who assemble in Washington in November will but show a little more character and a little more sense than their predecessors at Versailles, they may demonstrate that the human race is at least morally fit to be trusted with the force, which its intelligence has discovered."

Rowell referred to China as a human ocean. "No matter how much you pump out of this ocean the level is unchanged," he said.

Campbell, bridge superintendent.

RELEASED PRISONER IS HUNTED BY POLICE.

BAIL REDUCED AND RYAN LEAVES, THEN OFFICERS FIND CIRCULAR.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 2.—An hour after the bail of James E. Redmond was reduced from $5000 to $1000 by Police Judge Anderson on his charges of resisting an officer, and Redmond furnished the bail through an attorney, deputies in the Sheriff's office found a circular from Seattle showing Redmond was wanted there there for the alleged robbery of a bank messenger. Redmond's picture on the circular was under the name of Jimmie Ryan. Efforts to locate Redmond have been unsuccessful.

He had been arrested in company with William Ryan for raising a disturbance at a roadhouse, and with Ryan attempted to overcome Deputy Sheriff Cook, choking him with handcuffs and shooting him. Ryan was wounded five times by Cook. The only charge that could be preferred against Ryan was resisting an officer.

BRIAND TO TRAVEL HERE ON WARSHIP.

FOCH, HOWEVER, SUSCEPTIBLE TO SEASICKNESS DEMANDS LINER PASSAGE.

PARIS, Sept. 2.—Premier Briand expects to leave for the United States for the disarmament conference early in November. He will make the trip on a warship.

Marshal Foch is leaving France on board the new liner Paris on October 22, which will not give the Paris time to make a round trip to take Briand across in time for the conference, which begins November 11. If the Premier takes a warship he will probably proceed direct to Hampton Roads.

Marshal Foch insisted on travelling on the largest liner available because he is a bad sailor. He has always been seasick even in crossing the English Channel and he wants the steadiest boat possible.

WOOD PROMISES AID TO LEPER COLONISTS.

MANILA, Sept. 2.—The Wood-Forbes mission stopped off at the Culion leper colony a few days ago and left a silver lining to the dark clouds hovering over the unfortunate inhabitants. One of the world's greatest specialists on leprosy, Dr. Victor G. Heiser, accompanied the party, as did D. W. F. Lewis of the Army Health Service.

These experts were able to assure the lepers that the latest experiments with Chaulmooga oil treatment made by American doctors in Hawaii gave a fair chance for recovery.

Culion hospital has cases which have shown a remarkable improvement during the last two months. Gen. Wood told the lepers that he would do all he could to get a sufficient appropriation so that all could have the treatment.

Abd-El-Krin has begun to issue paper money in various denominations, bearing his stamp and signature. His far-reaching plan of dominion, however, is meeting with opposition from the powerful Moroccan tribes.

Question: Can a contestant who enters in one class change his list to a higher class by making the proper subscription adjustment? Yes.

Regarding Subscription Payments: All payments for subscriptions which are intended to qualify contestants in the prize contest must be mailed or brought directly to The Times main office or to The Times' Los Angeles branch office. This is important. The Puzzle Manager positively cannot qualify lists of names unless accompanied by the proper remittance.

Classes "B," "C" and "D" are open to those who renew their subscriptions for a moderate period, or to anyone who secures a new or old subscription for 3 months, 6 months or a year; in all cases payment to be made in advance.

The same puzzle picture will be used throughout the contest. Contest closes at 6 P.M., September 30, 1921.

Where plural is used, singular cannot also be used, and vice versa.

Only names of objects or parts of objects will count.

Words of the same spelling may be used only once, even though they apply to different objects.

An object may be named only once even if more than one of the same kind appear in the picture.

Parts of an object may be named in addition to the object itself.

Do not use hyphenated or compound words, that is, words formed by the combination of two or more complete English words, where each word is itself an object.

(7.) The answer in each class containing the largest number of correct names of visible objects beginning with the letter B, will be awarded the first prize in that class, the second best list will receive second prize, and so on.

(8.) More than one person may co-operate in submitting a list of names, but only one prize will be awarded to any one household or group, which has been working together.

(9.) In the event of a tie for any prize, the full amount of the prize will be given to each tied participant.

(10.) A committee of well-known Los Angeles people having no connection with the Los Angeles Times will act as judges, their names to be announced in a few days. The judges will use Webster's New International Dictionary as their reference; participants agree to accept all decisions of the judges as final and conclusive.

(11.) Judges will meet on October 5, and announcement of prize winners and the best list of B words submitted as determined by them, will be published as soon thereafter as possible.

(12.) All questions or correspondence regarding the observation puzzle should be addressed to Puzzle Manager, Circulation Department Los Angeles Times.

JAP EVACUATION OF SIBERIA PREDICTED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

TOKIO, Sept. 2.—The Asahi Shimbun, after forecasting the probable success of the conferences in Dairen between representatives of Japan and the Far Eastern Republic of Siberia, which it declares will inevitably be followed by Japanese evacuation of Siberia, says this will open up the important questions of reinforcing the garrison in Korea to cope with Korean malcontents and bandits in Manchuria and generally to protect the Korean frontier.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Readjustment Problems Seen Through the Eye of the Producer; Day in Review.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

Rockwell D. Hunt of the college of commerce and business administration of the University of Southern California, has returned from a vacation trip through California, but he read as he ran and some of his observations are worthy of consideration as representative of the composite thought of an important division of the State's producers as reflected and analyzed by competent authority. It is often possible to arrive at true conclusions through personal contact to better advantage than in the sifting of many statistics.

Prof. Hunt has talked to the farmer in the latter's chosen environment, and he says that the soil tiller is far from being in a satisfied frame of mind. He is painfully conscious that his products have fallen to prewar prices or below, while the products of town industries, including needed farm implements, have undergone comparatively slight reductions.

As a result, he says, the producer of raw materials and fundamental goods finds himself unable to buy more than about half the normal supply of industrial products. This condition inevitably brings discontent where we can least afford it. One farmer says he inquired the price of a mowing machine, and on finding virtually no change from war prices declared, "You can keep your machine right where it is till you come down in your price; I'll get along without it." This farmer is typical of a multitude.

"When a farmer buys a watermelon at 2 cents a pound or a box of tomatoes for $1.25, he naturally thinks of his purchase in terms of tons and calculates that he is paying from 300 per cent to 600 per cent more than he could get as a producer. I have talked with the Master of the State Grange, who has attended three national conventions of that great organization. From him I learned something of the spirit of the American farmer and of the rising tide of sentiment of unison as a defensive measure and for mutual benefit. When the farmers learn to pull together their demands will be heeded, the fundamental producer must not be put out of business; nor will he submit in being exploited by town folk. His inactivity or discontent is bound to be reflected in every part of our complex and delicately adjusted industrial and social economy.

"This is a crucial year for certain of the younger co-operative marketing associations, such as the California Co-operative Canneries, with home office at San Jose. The results of such organizations as the California Fruit Growers' Exchange and the Raisin Association are too well known to require comment. The latest entrant to the ranks of co-operative associations, which have made California famous, is the California Potato Growers' Exchange. After the sad experience from the 1920 crop the grower is sorely in need of ready money and unable credit. While he is a believer in the principle of co-operation as an aid to marketing his product, he is tempted to return to the 'fleshpots of Egypt,' that is to the private corporation, or middleman, who promises actual cash on delivery.

"The outcome of the present season will be watched with great interest. In the meantime it is highly important that students of economics and finance give serious attention to the problems of agriculture, for agriculture is the very foundation of the industrial pyramid. Without the farmer's fundamental production there would be no use for the banker, the manufacturer, or the transportation manager—the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker would be utterly without occupation. There can be no real prosperity without such readjustment of relations as will bring a square deal and reasonable contentment to the American farmer."

COTTON FARES BADLY.

In its direct or indirect bearing on the industrial situation, the government's monthly report of the cotton crop was a matter of paramount importance.

It had been known beforehand that the crop, after starting out with 28 per cent reduction in planted acreage, was faring badly. Weather in the south has been unpropitious nearly all this summer, but especially in August. On the basis of conditions two months ago, the Department of Agriculture estimated probable yield at 8,428,000 bales and one month ago at 8,203,000. This would have meant a crop smaller by 38 per cent than in 1920 and smaller than any cotton crop since 1895.

Estimates of private experts within the last few days had fixed an even lower figure, ranging from 7,900,000 bales down to 7,100,000, but Thursday's government estimate went below all of them. For the crop's average condition, it named the lowest figure, 49.3 per cent of normal, ever reported since Washington "condition estimates" began in 1870; the percentage of deterioration has been only once exceeded in the month of August, and the indicated yield is placed at 7,037,000 bales.

This would not only be much the smallest crop of any year since 1892, but it would mean a decrease from last year's harvest of 6,323,000 bales, or 47 per cent.

FEDERAL RESERVE.

The weekly reserve bank statements gave no sign of preparation for large demands on credit in the autumn. Total rediscounts decreased, both at New York and in the system as a whole and note circulation went in both to the lowest level of the year. This can hardly be expected to continue when the seasonal increase of business activities begins. Chiefly because of addition of $21,000,000 to its gold reserve, the system's reserve percentage rose from 44.5 to 46.5, the highest of the year, but the New York reserve bank drew heavily on reserves of other districts. Its own gold holdings increased $32,000 from 74 5-8 to 75 1-2, the highest from 74 5-8 to 75 1-2, the highest since the autumn of 1917.

In the Twelfth Federal District, which includes Los Angeles, gold reserves declined from $223,235,000 August 24 to $218,589,000 at the close of business August 31, according to the comparative statement of condition released yesterday at the branch bank here. A year ago, however, the total gold reserve was only $158,485,000. Resources show a corresponding decrease, i.e., to $395,653,000 from $402,177,000 a week ago and $432,144,000 in 1920. Other totals reported are: Bills on hand, $132,127,000; earning assets, $141,247,000; deposits, $114,347,000 against $131,286,000 for the preceding week and $123,271,000 for the corresponding period a year ago. Federal reserve notes in actual circulation are $225,722,000. This is a slight increase for the week, the previous total being $224,549,000, and a decline from $247,038,000 in 1920. Discount rates on all classes of paper remain unchanged at 5½ per cent.

OFF WITH THE OLD.

The only ceremony which marked the passing of a fourteen-year tenancy in the quarters of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange in the I. W. Hellman Building was the taking of a picture of the members after the gavel fell at 11:45 yesterday; a sketchy cheer or two, and a burst of sentiment by one member who remarked that "the old dump has seen lots of doin's."

Perhaps it was the picture, or the desire to be in at the death, or a somewhat more vigorous market, or perhaps it was a combination of all three which drew a larger attendance of traders than usual. Whatever the reason trading was fairly active and there was a stiffening in prices in several of the leaders.

There will be no further sessions of the exchange until 10:45 Tuesday morning when operations will be resumed at the new home of the organization in the Los Angeles Stock Exchange Building on South Spring street, and even then the morning will be largely given over to jollification, inspection and speech making with President Frank Hervey Pettigrell of the exchange, and Henry R. McKee, vice-president of the Merchant's National Bank in the chief roles.

Beginning Tuesday, afternoon sessions will be resumed. During July and August only morning calls have been held.

Goodyear preferred held the center of interest yesterday, recovering 3 of the points lost on the preceding day and selling up to $9.00.

HOLIDAY TIME.

Today will be almost as much of a holiday in financial circles in Los Angeles as Monday. All exchanges and many offices put up their shutters yesterday for three days, and there will be no general resumption of business until Tuesday. Banks, of course, will observe the usual Saturday hours. Monday there will be a general suspension of business throughout the country. No market reports will be available after today until next Wednesday morning.

FORD CUTS PRICE.

Whenever Henry Ford anticipates a falling off in business he apparently reduces the price of his cars. There is always a reaction to treatment of this character and dealers are looking for another rush following the latest cut announced yesterday. Just how far this system can be carried is affording automobile people food for considerable cogitation at the present time.

AUGUST FAILURES.

There was an August increase in failures throughout the United States, according to Dun's, which reports 1,543 failures, an increase of 8.5 per cent over July, and the largest since last February. In August, 1920, defaults were only 673.

SPOT COTTON.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Spot cotton steady, 65 points advance, 18.15 asked for middling upland. Southern spot markets were: Galveston and Savannah, 18.50c; New Orleans, 17c; Memphis, 16.50c; Houston, 17.75c; Little Rock, 16.25c.

BEARS RETREATING.

Stock Advance Is General; Cotton Also Strong, But Wheat Weakens; Liberty Bonds Improve.

BY ALEXANDER DANA NOYES,
Financial Editor New York "Times."
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The confused economic tendencies of the moment were strikingly illustrated in today's markets. On the stock exchange prices ended the business week with another vigorous recovery, but sterling exchange declined violently, carrying other European exchange rates along with it.

Cotton advanced again rapidly on the basis of Thursday's government estimate and lost only part of its earlier gain before the closing; but wheat prices, after a temporary show of strength, closed at a net decline for the day which ignored the record-breaking figures in the statement of total wheat exports for the week. The money market was motionless; it is not without interest to recall that the 5½ per cent on call loans and 5¾ on time at this official ending of the summer season compares with 7 and 8½ per cent, respectively, at the corresponding time a year ago.

To the day's advance in stocks there was practically no exceptions. These advances were both in railway and industrial shares; they evidently embodied further retreat of the recent unsuccessful speculators for the decline. The strength of the United States Victory 4¾ per cents was noteworthy. Their price rose several days ago above the previous high mark of the year; today it crossed 99 for the first time since Jan. 10, 1920. With these bonds, however, mere lapse of time plays in favor of a higher valuation; for they must be redeemed at par on May 20, 1922.

Cotton advanced more than $3 a bale over the previous day's high closing price before the afternoon reaction began. The future course of that market will be interesting in more ways than one; it will be governed by industrial as well as agricultural influences and by psychological effects. The spinner himself has apparently not yet made up his mind whether the short crop and the advancing price are an advantage to his trade because they will bring in buyers who had held back for possible lower prices or a distinct disadvantage because they may force the marking up of the finished goods to prices which the consumer will not meet.

One of the weekly mercantile reviews remarks today that while the recovery in cotton has brought better orders from southern distributors than in many months, on the other hand manufacturing centers are restricting purchases, disliking the prospect for trade on a higher basis of prices. These are largely mental considerations and so is the equally doubtful question whether the southern holder of the cotton carry-over will sell freely on the rise in price or will be governed by his imaginings of a 30 or 40-cent price restored.

BUSINESS NEWS.

The production of oil from the properties of the General Petroleum Company during the year ended June 1, showed an increase of 1,064,862 barrels over the preceding year. During that period the company had a gross profit of $14,280,260.33 and a net income of $4,185,545.81.

The report of the directors issued yesterday states that after the payment of dividends at the rate of 12 per cent on the common stock and 7 per cent on the preferred, there was added to the profit and loss surplus during the year the sum of $1,261,548.81. Seventy per cent of the eligible employees of the company have subscribed for stock totalling over $500,000 par value.

The production of oil from the properties of the company, including 812,490 barrels from Mexico, and 83,667 barrels from Wyoming, was 5,327,327 barrels, an increase of 1,064,862 barrels over the preceding year. Daily production from California properties during July, 1921, was approximately 1250 barrels greater than during July, 1920.

Oil in storage at the close of the fiscal year consisted of 1,727,946 barrels of refinable crude, 1,328,207 barrels of fuel oil, and 449,541 barrels of refined products, or a total of 3,505,694 barrels.

During the year the company acquired by purchase or lease 2679 acres of proven prospective California oil land, and abandoned after test 6819 acres.

Thirty-six wells were completed to production, and twenty-two wells were drilling at the close of the year. Four wells were abandoned on account of mechanical difficulties, and ten dry holes were drilled.

The drilling campaign of the company has been principally centered in the Richfield and Brea Canyon districts, where the company has now a total of twenty-four wells producing 4800 barrels of oil per day.

Acreage has been secured in the new Huntington Beach field and near Signal Hill. One well is now being drilled at Huntington Beach.

Work is still proceeding in Ventura county, and some revenue has been realized from intermittent production of high gravity oil and from sales of gas, but the problem of obtaining a steady commercial production is still unsettled.

The operations in Louisiana have been abandoned. A new well was brought in during the current year in Wyoming, where drilling is now progressing on four wells and three more are shut down. On account of the very low price of oil in Wyoming operations have been temporarily curtailed as much as possible.

VALUES INCREASE.

Kern county land values have have doubled in the past year, according to figures furnished by the District Bond Company. The new assessed valuation placed on Road Improvement District No. 3 amounts to $25,280,650 or over twice last year's valuation of $14,024,355. District No. 3's valuation has been increased from $11,298,040 to $26,481,540.

These growing land values are said to give the road bonds an exceptionally strong factor of safety. The District Bond Company, which is handling a $312,000 6 per cent issue for District No. 14 and an $87,500 issue for District No. 3, point out that the bonds bear the same status as school bonds, the interest and principal of both being payable out of county taxes.

B. L. Hames, sales manager of the company, predicts a growing popularity for this type of municipal bond as soon as the public has learned more concerning its essential investment features. He says the bonds are of exceptionally high yield considering that they are exempt from Federal and State taxes. The average yield is from 6½ to 6 per cent.

NEW BOOKLETS.

Two new booklets have been issued by Chicago investment firms. One is "An Explanation of United States Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness and Gold Notes," published by Halsey, Stuart & Co. "Chicago, the Wonder City" is the title of the other booklet. It was issued by the Harris Trust and Savings Bank.

RATES ADJUSTED.

Water rates in effect since 1907 of the Sherman Water Company supplying the town of Sherman have been adjusted by the Railroad Commission so as to allow a return of eight per cent on a valuation of $39,095. The monthly flat rate remains the same while the meter rates are placed on a more equitable basis whereby the small user is relieved of an unfair burden and the larger users pay increased rates.

ACQUIRE PLANT.

The acquisition of the Union Water Company plant by the East Bay Water Company has resulted in the addition of 4500 new consumers to the list of the latter company. Mr. Edwin O. Edgerton, president of the East Bay company, said yesterday that the merger would bring about an increase in the company's earnings of $150,000 a year, besides eliminating its only competitor of consequence in the territory

ELECT SEVEN.

Seven new members have been elected to the Los Angeles Curb Exchange. They are A. J. Logan, J. C. Burch, Young and Company, A. A. Postel, C. C. Streeter, W. G. Carey, and Joseph A. Kirkham. Officials of the exchange report that several other applications for membership have been received and are now in the hands of the membership committee to be acted upon at the next regular meeting.

CHANGES NAME.

The local firm of Orton, Wolff and Company, bond brokers, has changed its name and will be known in the future as Ralph G. Wolff and Company. This change, however, does not involve any alteration in location or policy, according to R. G. Wolff, head of the new firm.

EAGLE ROCK WELL.

At 2500 feet the Eagle Rock well of the Beatty Oil & Development Company is being cemented.

The well has been showing considerable oil colors for the last few hundred feet and at this depth it showed sufficient live oil to indicate that the drill is not far from a good oil sand, and the prospects are extremely good.

The hard drilling encountered in this well compares very favorably with some of California's and Texas' biggest producers, it is claimed.

A number of oil men who have closely watched the formations encountered predict a well of the gusher type or at least a well that will produce oil in large quantities, which, if verified, will mean the opening up of a new oil field within the city limits.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Edward V. Carter, resident manager of the Los Angeles office of Carstens & Earles, left yesterday to visit the northern offices of his firm.

DIVIDENDS.

Regular on allied common and preferred.

Regular on Orpheum.

Regular on American Woolen. Quarterly $1.75 on common.

TICKER TICKS.

Reported that Tobacco Products will show the most prosperous year in its history.

International Paper Company and Canadian Export Company cut news print prices to four cents a pound, reduction of three-fourths from prices in third quarter.

Average price twenty industrials, 66.83, off .28; twenty rails, 71.31, off .34.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Sept. 2.—Business as reflected by bank clearings here has quieted down somewhat in late weeks, but certain lines of industry have shown definite signs of improvement. Much of this improvement is traced to seasonal fall activities. A good volume of orders for fall and winter trade is being received by manufacturers of women's wear and men's clothing. Textile plants are taking on more help and conditions in that industry are approaching normal.

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Sept. 2.—Building operations in this city, particularly the construction of dwellings and apartment-houses, broke all records since 1916 in the month which just ended. The number of permits issued in August was 471, an increase of 167 over the corresponding month a year ago. The money value of the dwellings planned this year was $2,137,950, as against $919,870 in August, 1920. The dwellings in general range in price from $3000 to $9000.

SEATTLE (Wash.) Sept. 2.—The Pacific Northwest is leading the procession along the broad highway of better business, according to Mason F. Backus, Seattle banker and member of the board of the Federal reserve bank of this district. He based that statement today on a summary of business conditions in this territory and cited the big demand for Northwest Coast lumber products and equal activity in the canned and fresh salmon markets in its support.

Who Buys Bonds?

A Naval Officer

A naval officer on sea duty with the New Mexico buys bonds from us. His plan of saving is unique and worth your consideration.

This man buys one to three hundred dollars of government bonds out of his salary each month. At present low prices these pay a very good income for temporary investments.

As soon as he has a thousand dollars worth, he exchanges them with us for higher yielding industrial and utility bonds. He has bought three bonds from us in this way already and has exchanged securities purchased during the war for issues paying a much higher income.

Our files show that this man answered one of our advertisements for "Investment Opportunities of Today." He has never been in our office, but deals entirely through our representative. He says that buying bonds is certainly a convenient form of investment—he doesn't even have to leave the ship.

If you are a salaried man you ought to set aside a certain sum each month as savings—and invest your savings in good, sound bonds. We'll be glad to suggest a plan to keep your money working until you get enough to buy a bond.

SLOW DECLINE IN APPLES CONTINUES.

TREND OF CANTALOUPES IS DOWNWARD AGAIN AFTER SMALL GAIN.

The slow decline on the apple market is continuing and arrivals from the Watsonville and Watsonville districts are still coming in heavily. Buyers are not taking supplies freely as the supplies are beginning to accumulate. Gravensteins, Alexanders, Rhinebeck Beauties and Bellflowers are the principal varieties being offered.

Cantaloupes dropped sharply again yesterday on account of heavy receipts. Sales were made at prices ranging from 40 to 60 cents a crate.

There is little change in the grape market, prices remaining around Thursday's level. Muscats sold at 4 cents a pound, Tokays at 9 and 10 cents for good stock, and Black Hamburgs and Black Morocco at 5 and 6 cents.

Little activity is evident in the onion market at present and few sales are being made either of carlots or small lots direct to retailers. Prices to retailers for Stockton White Globes and Yellows are around $2.50 to $2.75 a hundredweight. The potato market remains unchanged with comparatively light buying. However, there is a slight upward tendency in prices, as $2.50 per day logs sold from 75 cents to $1, on account of the improved demand.

Use Your Own Judgment

Information just received by the writer to the effect that "the larger companies in Texas have been compelled to give in to the demand of the world for oil—more and as a result they are now fighting each other in their haste to make settlement for the delivery of crude for one, two and even three years, hence, giving substantial increases on these contracts."

Oil prices in El Dorado, Arkansas, have risen from 40c per barrel to 90c, the latter price, and a number of concerns are getting as high as $1.10 per bbl. for oil. The fields of Texas are also experiencing the same reaction, for during the past week the Pierce Oil Corporation and the United Producers and Price Line Company have offered premiums of 25c per barrel, thus giving the operators $1.25 for their oil.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Further extensive reduction of the short account in the stock market today resulted in gains of 1 to 3 points among leaders and more substantial advances in special issues.

The cautious attitude of the bear faction seemed to be prompted by fear that events over the triple holiday might prove detrimental to their interests.

Prices suffered a sharp setback at the outset, Mexican oils reacting 1 to 3 points on advices which suggested a hitch in the negotiations now under way between the Mexican government and foreign concessionaires.

This was offset, however, by the strength of other oils, as well as steel, equipments, motor, leather, tobacco, sugar, shipping and chemical issues, rails also throwing off their recent heaviness.

Selling for profits caused an irregular shading of quotations in the final dealings, but many substantial gains marked the close, representative issues being last affected in the realizing movement. Sales amounted to 525,000 shares.

Call loans again held at 5½ per cent, that rate applying as well as accommodations extending over to next Tuesday. Quotations for time money were unaltered, but in freer supply, with some demand for commercial paper.

A reaction of almost 4 cents in sterling and declines of 5 to 30 points in continental remittances occasioned no surprise among dealers in foreign exchange, where the recent spirited advance was regarded as largely speculative.

Trading in bonds diminished, but without impairment of recent gains. Recognized domestic and foreign issues were firm and gains prevailed in the Liberty group. Total sales, par value, $9,250,000.

FEWER WORKING IN THE STATE.

Census Figures Show That Some Are Loafing.

Returns Give 1,511,320 Persons Under Employment.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2. — The Census Bureau has issued preliminary general occupation statistics for California, which, though subject to change, are probably approximately correct. The number of persons engaged in each particular occupation will probably not be announced until the tabulation of the occupation data, now in progress has been completed. This will be about July 1, 1922.

According to the returns of the fourteenth census there were 1,511,320 persons ten years of age and over in California engaged in gainful occupations in 1920, constituting 44.1 per cent of the total population of the State (3,426,861) and 53.6 per cent of the population ten years of age and over. In 1910, the 1,107,668 gainful workers were 46.6 per cent of the total population of the State and 55.3 per cent of the population 10 years old and over.

Of the gainful workers of California in 1920, 1,224,773 or 81 per cent were males and 286,548 or 19 per cent were females. The male gainful workers constituted 80 per cent of all males 10 years of age and over in 1920, as against 82.1 per cent in 1910, while the female gainful workers constituted 21.4 per cent of all females 10 years of age and over in 1920, as against 20.1 per cent in 1910.

Of the gainful workers of California in 1920, 272,317, or 18 per cent were engaged in agriculture, forestry, and animal husbandry; 24,715 or 1.6 per cent, in extraction of minerals; 430,476, or 28.5 per cent in manufacturing and mechanical industries; 124,869, or 8.3 per cent in transportation; 209,137, or 13.8 per cent in trade; 45,654, or 3 per cent in public service; 116,670, or 7.7 per cent in professional service; 154,611, or 10.2 per cent in domestic and personal service, and 133,971, or 8.8 per cent in clerical occupations.

WIFE TAKES HUSBAND'S ADVICE

And Is Made Well Again by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Springfield, Mass.—"The doctor told my husband that I had to have an operation, otherwise I would be a sickly woman and could not have any more children on account of my weakened condition. I refused to have the operation. My husband asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For the first four months I could do but little work, had to lie down most of the time, and was very nervous, but my husband was always reminding me to take the Vegetable Compound, which I did. Of my eight children this last one was the easiest birth of all and I am thankful for your Vegetable Compound. I recommend it to my friends when I hear them complaining about their ills."—Mrs. M. NATALE, 72 Fremont St., Springfield, Mass.

Sickly, ailing women make unhappy homes, and after reading Mrs. Natale's letter one can imagine how this home was transformed by her restoration to health. Every woman who suffers from such ailments should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. It is surely worth while.

SMOKING WOMEN ARE POOR RISKS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Young women who drink and smoke are not good insurance risks, Miss Frances Partridge, general secretary of the Women's Benefit Association of the Maccabees, said today at the National Fraternal Congress. Statistics showed, however, that working women were as good risks as housewives, she said, and that women's greater independence and modern mode of dress have contributed to their longevity.

GAS RATES ARE TO BE INVESTIGATED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—The Railroad Commission announced today that an investigation would be made of the artificial gas rates charged by four companies who have not yet conformed to the commission's program of lowering rates to correspond with declines in oil prices.

The companies and the dates for hearings are:

Western States Gas and Electric Company, rates in Stockton, hearing in Stockton September 7.

Coast Counties Gas and Electric Company, serving Santa Cruz, Watsonville, Hollister and other points in that vicinity, September 30 at Watsonville.

Central Counties Gas Company, serving Visalia, Lindsay, Tulare, Porterville and Strathmore, September 27 at Visalia.

Modesto Gas Company, serving Modesto, September 28 at Modesto.

The Western States Corporation has an application before the commission to reduce its rates 5 cents a 1000 feet. It serves a mixed product of artificial and natural gas.

ARGENTINE APPROVES POSTAL RATE FREEDOM

FEAR TAX BILL IS INADEQUATE.

Senator Penrose Believes the Revenues Too Small.

Secretary Mellon Warns of Big Deficit.

Question of Making Measure Retroactive Discussed.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Members of the Senate Finance Committee continued consideration today of the tax bill without attempting to pass upon any controversial points.

Senator Penrose, chairman of the committee indicated that it seemed to be the general opinion that the bill as passed by the House would not raise sufficient revenue. Senator Penrose stated, however, that as yet he had no official figures on the subject but that he expects Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to be prepared to discuss this phase of the situation when he appears before the committee next Thursday.

WARNING BY MELLON.

When Secretary Mellon recently agreed to the reductions in taxes by the House it was with the qualification that expenditures would be cut sufficiently so that a deficit would not result at the end of the year. He has warned, however, that unless the curtailment in expenditures is actually carried out the government is likely to be hard pressed to meet current obligations.

While some of the departments, including the Army and Navy, have promised to make cuts below the amount already appropriated for them there are reports that these savings may not be possible and that the Navy Department, at least, will be back asking Congress for additional funds.

The tax bill as passed by the House would yield about $3,350,000,000 during the present fiscal year and after all the tax changes have become effective the yield would be reduced to $2,652,000,000. This would mean a final net reduction in taxes below the aggregate yield of the present law of $3,810,000,000. The present law, it is estimated, will yield $3,350,000,000 during the present fiscal year.

IDEAS OF TREASURY.

The question of making the tax changes retroactive on income of the calendar year 1921 was discussed by the committee today, but without attempting to ascertain the opinion of a majority of the members. A number of treasury officials, it is believed, would prefer that the tax changes be made retroactive instead of effective on Jan. 1, 1922, as provided in the House bill.

Dr. Thomas S. Adams, tax adviser of the treasury, in discussing the excess-profits tax today, expressed the belief that the large corporations are the ones which really benefit from the excess-profits tax, as compared with the smaller and more conservatively capitalized corporations. Those with inflated capitalization, he pointed out, are subject to a less heavy excess-profits tax than those which have a proportionately smaller invested capital and a larger percentage of return. From this line of reasoning, the inference was drawn that it was considered preferable to make the repeal of the excess-profits tax retroactive rather than to defer it. There is no indication, as yet, however, that the committee will take this view of the situation.

SAM'S GREED LOST HIM HIS FORTUNE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—"Oi Yoi, the Genoffs; the low brows," wailed Samuel Eisenberg as he berated three card sharps who had pried him loose from $2000.

"And me, I would have it fried mush where it is supposed to be mine brains. My tree tousand dollars all gone, and I vorked so hard with a needle to earn it. Oi Yoi, I should jump off the dock and make it a hole in the river, yet."

Samuel, it appears, livened to the oily talk of three card sharpers who were planning to make a cleaning in Coney Island. They intended to trim a stranger by the use of marked cards. The thing was a dead open and shut proposition, but they needed a little more money to bet with. They were willing to let Eisenberg in if he would furnish a little cash and give him half the plunder. The gang played a sample game to show Samuel how easy it was and he hastened and got his $2000.

Then they went to Coney Island and met the "stranger" in a hotel room. In a few turns of the cards the "stranger" lost $2000. Then the stakes were doubled and Eisenberg put his entire capital in the pot. By some egregious blunder on the part of the dealer the "stranger" was given the winning hand; the one that was meant for Eisenberg. His friends faded out of the room. Eisenberg believes he has been swindled and the police coincide with him.

MANY GREEKS WILL HAVE TO RETURN.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—All the Greek immigrants on the Acropolis, beaten into port by the King Alexander yesterday in the "quota race," are expected to be deported because the King Alexander alone brought in more Greeks than can be legally landed this month.

A few Greeks in excess of the quota will be admitted. The immigrants are examined one at a time and permitted to land until the quota for the month, 657, has been admitted. Then special consideration is given those left over. It was said that leniency would be accorded in the case of a wife who seeks to join her husband already in the country or a minor child seeking to join parents.

Officials of the American Black Sea Line, owners of the Acropolis, have made a formal protest against the exclusion of the Greeks on their ship. They claim the Acropolis really beat the King Alexander in the quota race.

SOUTH FIGHTING WATER HYACINTH

Beautiful South American Plant is Pest.

Growth Clogs Bayous and Streams of Louisiana.

State Will Use Live Steam to Stop Spread.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—After nineteen years of expensive and laborious effort, with only varying success, interested shipping interests and government experts now express the belief that a method has been found that will solve the problem of the water hyacinth that is choking practically every bayou in the State with its green and lavendar floral magnificence.

TO APPLY LIVE STEAM.

The new method, which was suggested by Gov. Parker, is the simple application of live steam. Preliminary reports from experiments now under way, according to government agents, indicate that the governor has at least pointed a way to check, if not exterminate the plant that has proved such a menace to Louisiana's inland waterways for the last twenty years, and which according to the government observors, is now threatening the fresh water portion of the Panama canal.

The water hyacinth appeared in Louisiana immediately after the Cotton Centennial exposition here in 1884. The plant, which is a native of South America, was exhibited at the fair and its beauty was greatly admired. At the close of the fair a number of plants were taken to the country districts for growth in garden pools.

When they overcrowded the pools they were thrown into nearby bayous, where they caused heavy losses by choking the bayous and streams to such an extent that small vessels could not make their way through the tangled masses of foliage and roots which at places extended for miles with no break of channel through them.

From a beautiful curiosity in 1884 they became a decided menace in 1894 and ended on clogged a number of streams that an appeal was made to Congress for relief and, in 1899, $25,000 was appropriated for the purpose of extermination. Since then hundreds of thousands of dollars has been spent in the fight.

Today there is hardly a stream in Louisiana that does not become so clogged with the hyacinth that navigation is almost impossible in the summer months.

MORE MEN ARE GOING TO WORK IN CHICAGO.

SLIGHT DECREASE NOTED IN EMPLOYMENT BY STATE DEPARTMENT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Director Boyd of the State Employment Department said today that jobs were becoming more plentiful in the Chicago district. The department observed a slight increase in August, but there are still five men for every two jobs. A short time ago the ratio was eleven men for every four jobs.

"This shows," said Mr. Boyd, "that unemployment, while not greatly decreasing, is waning a bit. But while there are fewer men out of work, there is more poverty, and poverty, I think, will increase this month. Throughout the summer months many workers have been living and supporting their families by dipping into their savings and supplementing them with an occasional job. Most of them, however, have reached the last of their saving. Thus a situation is developing that is making it harder for a father to put shoes on his children's feet, even though unemployment is decreasing."

Mr. Boyd will urge the State to make jobs for the unemployed next winter or support the idle in prisons, which they "certainly will fill unless provided with the opportunity to earn an honest living."

DUKE OF MANCHESTER TO ACT FOR SCREEN.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The Duke of Manchester does not propose to permit Lady Diana Manners, daughter of the Duke of Rutland, to steal a march on him. Lady Diana recently startled English society and brought down the displeasure of the Queen when she entered the movies.

It was announced today by Jennie Jacobs, theatrical agent, that the Duke of Manchester will arrive in November and start immediately upon a production for the screen in which he is to be starred. Miss Jacobs said:

"The Duke is entering this venture despite strong opposition from his family. He will have his own company and the picture will be made in New York City. I am not in a position to state at present what the name of the picture will be or who will play opposite him.

"The Duchess of Manchester will not accompany her husband to America as far as I know, and I do not believe she sanctions the Duke's debut as a screen star."

The Duchess of Manchester was formerly Miss Zimmerman of Cincinnati.

FREIGHT RATE CUTS ARE BIG.

Apply to Westbound Traffic from the Atlantic.

Reductions Voluntary and on Small Quantities.

Many Commodities Affected, Says Statement.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Reductions of 20 to 100 per cent in transcontinental freight rates soon will be effective on all railroads, it was announced by W. G. Barnwell, assistant freight traffic manager of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad. Most of them apply to westbound traffic and are applicable from all eastern points.

The reductions, which are said to be voluntary, are as follows, the rates applying to all units of 100 pounds:

The present import rate on green coffee from Pacific Coast ports to eastern destinations, will be reduced from $1.06¼ to 90 cents per 100 pounds, in carload lots, the minimum weight also to be reduced from 80,000 pounds to 40,000 pounds, and a special rate of 80 cents will also be published to Chicago and points west, with the higher minimum of 80,000 pounds. Before publishing the 90-cent rate, the concurrence of lines operating east of Chicago must be obtained.

CUT ON BOTTLES.

Metal bottles, insulated or jacketed, less carload lots, will be given the same rating as glass insulated bottles, the rate on which ranges for $7.25½ from New York and Atlantic seaboard to $5.35½ from Chicago, and $4.69 from Denver, and will mean reduction of $6.07½ from New York, $5.87½ from Chicago and $3.44 from Denver.

The present minimum weight of 40,000 pounds on carload shipments of leather from Chicago and points west to Pacific Coast ports for export is being reduced to 30,000 pounds.

Effective October 3, the following reductions in westbound transcontinental rates will be made:

Poultry feeders, waterers and poultry house scrapers will be reduced to $2.58½ from Atlantic seaboard, $2.25½ from Chicago, $2 from Kansas City and $1.87½ from Denver, on carload shipments.

Gummed paper will be permitted shipment in mixed carloads with paper bags and wrapping paper, and rate will be reduced on carload lots to $2.06¼ from Atlantic seaboard, $1.75½ from Chicago, $1.66½ from Kansas City and $1.56½ from Denver.

METAL REDUCTIONS.

Strip steel will be reduced to $3 less carload and $1.83¼ carload from Atlantic seabord, $2.50 L.C.L. and $1.50 C.L. from Chicago, $2.50 L.C.L. and $1.25½ C.L. from Kansas City, $1.95½ L.C.L. and $1.17½ C.L. from Denver.

Rosin sizing, in barrels, carload lots, will be reduced to $1.66 per hundredweight from Atlantic seaboard, $1.50 from Pittsburgh district, $1.42 from Detroit district. Rate on shipments in tank cars will be 8¼ cents higher per hundred pounds than these rates.

New carload rates on furniture subject to certain valuation restrictions will be published as follows:

Bedroom furniture, $2.89½ from Atlantic seaboard, $2.55¼ from Chicago, $2.33¼ from Kansas City and $2.74 from Denver. Dining-room furniture, $3.57½ from Atlantic seaboard, $3.46 from Chicago, $3.05½ from Kansas City and $2.50 from Denver.

Kitchen cabinets, $3.33¾ from Atlantic seaboard, $3.93 from Chicago, 2.66⅔ from Kansas City and $2.50 from Denver.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Homer Hendee, 98 years old, of Antioch, Ill., has danced a jig on his birthday for the last sixty-seven years and expects to accomplish this feat for at least four more years. Mr. Hendee attributed his spryness to his habit of drinking red pepper tea.

"The red pepper plant is the real century plant," he says.

"I have never taken any medicine," said Mr. Hendee, "and haven't missed a meal in fifteen years. I never allow myself to worry."

Mr. Hendee is the oldest man in Lake county. He has shaved himself all his life. He figures that he has scraped the razor over his face 13,000 times. Estimating that it costs 20 cents to be shaved by a barber in a small town, Mr. Hendee figures that he has saved himself $2600.

SOUP KITCHENS OPEN FOR MOSCOW CHILDREN

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Sept. 2.—"All the food which the American Relief Administration sends to Russia will be purchased in the United States, because it is cheaper there and American money is being used," said Walter Lyman Brown, before proceeding to London and after attending the Supreme Council's meeting at Qual D'Orsay.

"Two American soup kitchens for feeding children are opening in Moscow today," said Mr. Brown. "Two relief agents sent a wireless message this morning saying that they had arrived in the Volga region and that they would open kitchens as soon as supplies arrived.

"The first relief ship reached Petrograd on Monday. It brought three trainloads of food, 8000 tons, which were started on their way to Moscow yesterday. The distribution of American supplies will be made by auto trucks, owing to the rundown railways and to the lack of them in the famine areas. The Paris Y.M.C.A. is turning over twenty-five motor trucks and others are en route from the United States, although there are tens of thousands of American army trucks rusting to pieces in camps since the French took them over."

FOR SALE—
Here is the chance you have been looking for. We have one of the cleanest, new double bungalows in the city, in one of the best and highest locations, on which we can make a proposition that will give you a splendid home and for the next couple of years you will get your rent free, and at the expense to you less than $50 a month, you will be actually paying $100 a month on the purchase price of your property after that you have your rent free and a handy monthly income besides. Each side of this splendid place contains 6 rooms and tiled bath, 2 bedrooms and disappearing bed. If you are looking for a cheap, shoddy place, this won't do; but if you want a real high-class home, good enough for anyone, you cannot beat this. The final argument in its favor is that it is absolutely certain to greatly increase in value. $9000 will handle. We are glad to show this without obligation.

PEGGY AND MERILLON INSEPARABLE ON SHIP.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Peggy Joyce had eyes for none but the youthful Peter C. Merillon while the two were aboard the Olympic on the first liner's last voyage to Europe, according to employees of the steward's department.

Peggy occupied a luxurious suite on the exclusive B deck which cost her $3700 and adjacent was Merillon's more modest quarters.

Neither the name of Joyce nor Merillon appeared on the passenger list, but the steamship was hardly out of the harbor before most of the ship knew that Peggy Joyce was aboard. When Peggy knew she was discovered, she protested to the purser, who showed her that the passenger list did not contain the name of Joyce. "She pounded her heel on the deck and turned to the young fellow with her, stating 'It's a damn shame,'" said one of the deck stewards.

Stewards painted Peggy as quiet and demure without even a flirtatious glance for any of the ship officers. After the second night's dance aboard ship, Peggy and Merillon did not miss one, he said, and she had a different gown for each one. Although she gave most of her dances to Merillon, she danced with a good many of the passengers one time or another and always most decorously, but scarcely any of her partners got two dances the same evening. That was a privilege reserved for Merillon.

Probably the spot most popular aboard ship with Peggy was the outdoor Parisian cafe, where a thirsty traveler escaping from the States can laugh at the Volstead Act, Peggy, with Merillon always within call, assuaged the thirst she may have acquired at Atlantic City before her departure, but never to an extent which would have attracted attention in the anti-Volstead days

The curtain is drawn: the world waits expectant while Autumn enters! Little wonder she gasps and glows with gorgeous coloring as she beholds the reception she is to receive. But who could do otherwise than glow with heightened anticipation at the thought of a Friday night at the Green Mill Gardens and a Fall Fashion Revue from Citrin's? That is the happy combination to be offered at California's most exclusive and unique cafe, on the Venice highway. Here Citrin's will present the newest Autumn modes, which will make any woman stop and look—and long! But not in vain, for, unlike the usual fashion revue, Citrin's will feature charming creations for the limited income. That will interest just everybody, won't it? The Green Mill Gardens provides a charming background and ample room for displaying fashions to an audience comfortably seated, which, of course, you'll want to be as you view those effective evening gowns and wraps or the entrancing little evening frocks for the season's gaities. Then those tailleurs, so smart of line and so indispensable for the street. And it won't be an easy matter to choose your favorite, so stunning are they all. That sports apparel—luckily, in this sunny clime an all-year-'round necessity—will be shown in such distinctive combinations that you will want them every one. S-s-sh—hush! Now, out peeps the lingerie, so irresistibly dainty and so dear to the feminine heart. And who can blame her? Not the masculine mind, surely. It's quite unnecessary to tell you to phone for table reservation in plenty of time for September 9—Santa Monica 62934. Of course, the genial hosts, Bill Paine and Morrie Rauch, will greet you and assure you that dancing and dining continue till the wee sma' hours.

Are women less progressive than men? Sometimes one would think so; to see the old-fashioned kitchens which some women still tolerate, while the men, for their work, demand the best of modern equipment. With little expense and trouble a new Mueller Sink Combination can be attached to both kitchen faucets, and it is surprising how quickly you'll find it to be an absolute necessity. Water at any temperature, a sprinkler for dampening clothes evenly or rinsing the dishes, and a convenient hose, are only a few of many uses for this new work-saver. The distributors are the Shinn-Holtz-Lyon Co.—60574.

Don't tell me you haven't some of these things that need repairing: a clock, a phonogrpn, an electric appliance, toilet articles with handles off, a mirror to be resilvered, or an alcohol burner changed to a modern electric plug. Call the Household Service Co.—24123—for quick service on all repairing.

"Oh, that's good; now I feel better"—and the empty glass is put down with a good deal of satisfaction, yet hoping more is coming. That's the way everyone feels when you serve ice-cold Arrowhead Ginger Ale. Yes, sir; the biggest half of your discomfort will just vanish in this air if you are sure that on the ice is "the makin's" of a delicious cooling punch. It's hard to tell which is best of all those Arrowhead fruit juices, so better order some of all of them. And say, have you tasted Dr. Sweet's Root Beer? It's great! With this array of cooling drinks, it won't be the fault of the Arrowhead Springs Co. if you think it's hot these days. Call South 381 and they will gladly send your order right up.

When boiling macaroni place a small piece of butter in the saucepan to prevent boiling over.

For Healthy children, for stomach and lung troubles, get goat milk; but, be sure to order from Eagle Glen Goat Dairy, R.F.D. 12, Box 359, phone South 3651-R-11, because this dairy's milk received the highest Health Board score. Delivered, 25 cents a quart, or at 323 W. Third street, city, 30 cents a quart.

Quite the most exquisite arrangement of perfect flowers is to be had at Lichtenberg's Floral Shop, 913 W. 7th.

All the world loves a good cup of coffee. And isn't it with a great feeling of pride that you become noted among your circle of friends for making "that velvety kind?" Remember the time when you couldn't seem to make it right at all, no matter what you did? But that was before you discovered Jevne's Coffee, wasn't it? More and more people, thank goodness, are daily making that same happy discovery and adding so much to the enjoyment of their meals. You can buy Jevne's Coffee at all the better grocers.

Are you trained to know just what temperature the water should be to keep that silk shirt from being hard and discolored; or just how to remove that stain from your precious linen; or what will keep that gay gingham dress from running? Most of us will have to answer "No!" Our washing is usually a haphazard affair. The Crown Laundry has experts to direct the scientific care of all your clothes, and will return them to you in perfect condition. Call South 945—23063 for intelligent service.

"If only I had known"—that's the way I felt when I discovered the charming picture frames—ranging from 39 cents to $2.25—at The Robert Deland Company, 515 S. Main, the other day. And there before my eyes was an exact duplicate of the frame for which I paid four times as much elsewhere. You'll simply marvel at the low prices, and—as I did yesterday—you'll rush right down and choose frames for all those pictures that you have been so long without.

Baked Beans and Boston Brown Bread! Was there ever a better combination? "Too much bother to make," you say. Taste those from The Food Shop at 121 S. Western avenue, where the beans are baked in those old New England crocks. Take some home—and you'll never bother to make them yourself again.

Your table is laden with food but are you sure that the family is physically improved by it? Indeed, it's the duty of each housewife to make sure of that and I know of no better way than to get the habit of using Castruccio Bros.' Olive Oil. (You can tell it by the red cross in the trade mark.) This superior oil, direct from Lucca (Tuscany) Italy, is used not only in salad dressings but imparts that delicious flavor to any number of foods and furnishes that much needed nourishment. Can be purchased in any size can, from a gallon to a half-pint, at the better stores or from Vignolo-Giacomino Co., at 177 N. Spring. Call Pico 136—12811.

The flavor of tea or coffee is best preserved if kept in tin cans with tight-fitting lids.

"Oh, I wouldn't have missed it; thanks for telling me," said my enthusiastic friend when I met her just after she had been to visit Lichtenberg's Floral Shop at 913 West Seventh. This charming reproduction of the old California Missions is surely a rare treat for anyone to see, and Lichtenberg's are delighted to have you call in.

The afternoon of a woman usually has an hour or so for those visits made up of charming chatter and tea and laughter. And could there be a place more fitted for such times than the Elite? They specialize in making such occasions most delightful with the tastiest of salads and sandwiches and the newest of pastries and creams so distinctively different. And should one be more seriously bent, their dinners of steaks, chicken, or duck, or trout will satisfy your fondest hopes. The address is 641 South Flower.

Have you that comfortable feeling when unexpected guests drop in? Or does your mind rush hither and thither trying to think "what to serve?" Such delightful salad (which these hot days really forms the main part of a meal) can be concocted from most anything—bits of this and a piece of that. Then lo! an otherwise sketchy dish becomes a "piece de resistence" when mixed with Jevne's Mayonnaise. Keep a bottle of this on hand for, as it is ready to serve, it saves many a worry.

Is your body satisfied—or just your appetite? That is a question which will be answered in the health of the family. If you are using Phospho Meal for breakfast you may feel at ease. For this cereal contains the very best of the wheat and, being partially cooked, has that delicious nutty flavor which will make your family, like "Oliver Twist," ask for more. It requires only a little cooking to be ready to serve.

The line of least resistance is the line we are all apt to follow until it leads us into a perfect rut. Break away once in a while anyway and try something new, and perhaps you'll find it's just as easy to follow as your old way. I know that once you try Los Angeles Creamery Cottage Cheese in its many tasty forms you'll just naturally want it all the time. Mix a carton of Los Angeles Creamery Cottage Cheese with half a cup each of nuts, raisins and cocoanut. Serve with crackers and coffee. A light meal—but full of nourishment.

Are you one of the many who, as school is about to start, realize what a lot of clothes the children must have? And with the charming and simple styles of this season it will not be much of a task if you have a "New Home" (electric or foot-power) Sewing Machine at your service. Your first thought is that you can't afford one. But that thought will quickly vanish when you are told that, with a small first payment and the easiest of terms, The Eastern Outfitting Company, 620-626 South Main, will put one in your home and have an expert teach you all about it. Once you know all that the New Home can accomplish you will be delighted. It comes in either fumed or golden oak and will fold up so it looks like a writing desk.

Hot days and ice cream—they just naturally go together, don't they? And the heat these days won't be nearly so noticeable if you are treating yourself to "Hughes." One hardly expects that "home-made" taste in ice creams we buy but there is a most delightful surprise that comes with the first velvety spoonful of Hughes Ice Cream! It is so delicious and there are so many flavors, too. I know you'll swear their peach ice cream is the best you ever tasted—and everyone will agree with you. When you see that yellow-and-white sign, stop and ask for "Hughes."

No reason now for complaining about the hard water here in Los Angeles for "Nox-All," like a genii of the fairy-tales, has sprung up to help us. It softens the water like magic; but that is not all, for when "Nox-All" is used you will need no soap nor will you have to dry the dishes. After they are rinsed just let them drain and they will fairly sparkle. And it works just as effectively on the bathroom fixtures. Needn't worry about your hands—it won't hurt them.

AIR KIDNAPING SUSPECT HELD.

Man Accused of Abducting Woman in Plane.

Asserted Victim Disappears a Second Time.

Girl in Heart Balm Case Says She Was Drugged.

Held on a charge of abduction as a result of the asserted kidnaping by airplane of Miss Clara Eunice Barker, R. C. Miller, a married man, living at 1522 North Normandie avenue, last night scoffed at the charge against him, declaring it all is a result of a "wild party" that began a week ago last Thursday.

Meanwhile the relatives of Miss Barker were searching for her as a result of a second disappearance. She had voluntarily come to the district attorney's office earlier in the day with a taxicab driver who had been taking her and Miller throughout Southern California and into Mexico during the last few days. Late last night she had not returned to her home.

Miss Barker, who is the same woman that figured several months ago in the sensational heart-balm suit affecting Charles W. S. Munro, wealthy zinc manufacturer of Joplin, and later in a suit by Mrs. Munro, charging her with alienation of affections, yesterday told an amazing story to Chief of Criminal Investigation Manning at the Sheriff's office. She declared that she was asked to go to dinner with Miller, who was merely an acquaintance, and that he compelled her to drink some fruit gin he bought at a drug store.

DRAWS OUT MONEY.

From that time on, she said, her mind was hazy. She remembered, however, drawing $2500 of her own money from a local bank and trips to San Diego and Tijuana, Mex. She asserted she was virtually kept captive by the use of drugs.

The complaint was sworn out before her appearance at the Sheriff's office. R. W. Barker of 6100 Delongpre avenue, a brother of the asserted kidnaped woman, swore to it. The arrest was made at Seal Beach by Marshal Whittington on information from Mr. Manning and Constables Thomas, Stensland and Adams.

When Miller was taken to the County Jail by Constable Townsend he appeared little alarmed at the charge. Emptying his pockets of about $500 in travelers' checks and cash, which he admitted was part of the $2500 Miss Barker had procured, he said the whole case is the result of the "party."

"The only drug I saw," he explained, "was some gin. We had plenty of liquor and we had a big party, but I was not kidnaping her during that time. The party started

DIVIDEND WILL BE PAID BY GOODYEAR TEXTILE.

President Wilmer Says Tire, Rubber Company's Profits Average Two Hundred Thousand Monthly.

The Goodyear Textile Mills Company will begin the payment of dividends next October 1. The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of California has a deficit of approximately $2,400,000 which must be paid before dividends can be declared. The latter company has been operating at an average profit of $200,000 for the past four months. The financial status of the Goodyear companies in Los Angeles was thus stated by President E. G. Wilmer at the close of directorate meetings yesterday afternoon.

F. A. Selberling, J. S. Williaman and J. R. Reilly were replaced on the board of directors of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of California by Mr. Wilmer, G. M. Stadleman and P. W. Litchfield. Mr. Wilmer, who is president of the Goodyear Company of Akron, succeeds Mr. Selberling as president of the California company.

DIRECTORS REPLACED.

Mr. Selberling, S. A. Steere and C. N. Turner were replaced on the board of directors of the Goodyear Textile Mills Company by Messrs. Wilmer, Stadleman and Litchfield and Mr. Wilmer was elected president of that organization, succeeding Mr. Selberling. The board of the textile company declared a quarterly dividend on its preferred stock of 1¾ per cent payable next October 1 and it was announced that dividends still in default will be paid when, and as, the company's situation will permit. Three dividends have been passed.

Mr. Wilmer stated that the textile company now has a surplus sufficient to cover all dividends in arrears, but that, due to investments in inventories, etc., the directors deem it advisable to restrict the present declaration to the dividend to be paid in October.

Mr. Wilmer's outlook on the future of the local Goodyear organizations is optimistic. While the present rate of profit will pay off the deficit in a year Mr. Wilmer declined to make a prediction as to the probable time when the tire and rubber company can pay dividends. He stated, however, that some months recently have shown a greater profit than $200,000 and expressed his belief that the company's business outlook is excellent.

BUSINESS IMPROVES.

The Los Angeles plant, he says, is the most modern, up-to-date tire plant in existence and its efficiency as a producer of tires is beyond question. He regards Los Angeles as an exceptionally favorable location with respect to raw materials, distribution and labor conditions and believes that the business, which has been steadily improving, will continue to increase.

Mr. Wilmer has been looking over the Los Angeles situation for several days. He expects to leave Monday for Phoenix, where he will visit the Southwest Cotton Company, an auxiliary company involved in the Goodyear reorganization.

The reorganization of the parent company at Akron, Mr. Wilmer said, is working out successfully. There is nothing in the Akron situation, he said, that will be anything but helpful to the California companies.

Concerning the difficulties of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of California and the progress made in its rehabilitation Mr. Wilmer made the following statement:

WEEK'S INSPECTION.

"I have spent a week in the inspection of the Los Angeles plant and going over the affairs of the California company. Like every the company in the United States, and like practically every basic industry, the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of California sustained substantial losses late in 1920 and early in 1921, due to the substantial shrinkage in the values of its inventories of raw materials, work in process and finished product. The losses of the California company in this respect have been proportionately smaller than those sustained by many of the other tire companies.

"After giving due effect to an adequate writedown of inventories, as of March 1, 1921, and offsetting the profits accruing from the operations subsequent to March 1, there is an existing deficit as of July 31 of approximately $2,400,000. On the basis of the current costs of operation made possible by the writedown of inventories the company has conducted its operations from March 1 to July 31 at an average profit of approximately $200,000 per month, available for interest and reduction of deficit.

"The cash and current position are most gratifying. On July 31 its quick current assets approximated $4,000,000, and its current liabilities $625,000, and its cash balance was approximately $1,000,000.

"I have been exceptionally well impressed with the condition and character of the company's plant. It has produced during the current year as high as 4000 tires per day, and is apparently capable of producing double that number. In other words, Los Angeles has an established plant, which, in its industrial significance, its ability to employ labor and to produce product may ultimately be made twice as large as it is.

"With aggressive effort on the part of the organization in the development of its sales and the support and patronage which this western industry should be accorded by the West, there is abundant reason for optimism for the future."

HOOVER INDORSES AID FOR RUSSIAN RELIEF.

MONEY IS BEING COLLECTED BY QUAKERS, WHO HELP IN FOOD DISTRIBUTION.

While the United States government is not making a direct campaign for funds with which to afford relief to the millions of starving Russians, the American Friends are collecting money for this purpose. Secretary of Commerce Hoover, himself a Quaker, has asked for support here for this purpose. Dr. C. C. Young, a Russian, now living at 1520 East Fourth street, is interested in the matter and in a private telegram received in Los Angeles Secretary Hoover states that he has asked Wilbur Thomas, of the American Friends Service Committee, to get in communication with Dr. Young. The telegram says:

"The American Relief Administration is carrying on no direct campaign for funds, but the American Friends Service Committee (Quaker) is undertaking such solicitation and its organization co-operates with us in distribution in Russia under Col. Haskell's general direction. I am asking Mr. Wilbur Thomas of the Friends committee to get in communication with Dr. Young."

Secretary Hoover adds that he hopes The Times can give the committee its support.

HURT BY AUTOMOBILE.

Motorcyclist Hurled Beneath Machine is Blamed by Driver.

Thrown under the wheels of an automobile driven by Mrs. N. E. Cramer of 419½ South Catalina street after the machine had collided with a motorcycle he was riding at Vernon and South Figueroa street early last evening, Morris De Groote, aged 52 years, og 3302 Canfield street, suffered a sprain of the left shoulder and painful bruises of the head and body. He was given emergency treatment at the Receiving Hospital, where he was taken in Mrs. Cramer's car.

Mr. De Groote told Detective Sergeants Curtis and Davidson that he had already made the turn into Vernon avenue from Figueroa street when Mrs. Cramer's car crashed into him.

Mrs. Cramer stated, the detectives declared, that Mr. De Groote had failed to make the proper signal when he turned to the left.

NEW ANGLE IN BOND SCANDAL.

Coincidences Pointed Out in City's Sacrifice.

Unpaid Campaign Debts to be Settled, is Report.

Suit in Court May Disclose Interesting Facts.

Is former Mayor Snyder, who is now in New York, where he went immediately after his defeat on June 7, to be drawn into the scandal over the sale of the bonds for the purchase of the Edison distributing lines in the city at a discount of $1,535,000 when other city bonds have since sold at a premium?

This question was raised at the City Hall yesterday as the result of the continued complaints made against the action of the Council in selling the power bonds at a figure which should net at least $2,000,000 profit to the purchasers.

While the deal was manipulated by the Public Service Board, the Council cannot escape responsibility for complicity in wasting $2,000,000 of the taxpayers' money.

Complaints have multiplied since the open sale on Wednesday of $1,200,000 harbor bonds at a premium of $27,840. These bonds were advertised and sold in the open market. The power bond sale was the result of a private dicker between holdover appointees of the former Mayor and local representatives of Wall street syndicates.

STRANGE COINCIDENCES.

Some of the protestants have pointed out that Irving H. Hellman, who purchased the power bonds, was chairman of Mayor Snyder's finance committee during the city campaign, and that Dr. John R. Haynes, who was appointed to the Public Service Commission by Mayor Snyder, and who did most of the private negotiating in putting over the bond sale, was one of the former Mayor's political allies and has been active in defending the sale of the city's securities at so ridiculous a figure.

Former Mayor Snyder is known to have been active in Wall street since he left Los Angeles. The power-bond sale, which was handled here in the name of I. H. Hellman, is known to have been engineered in New York, first by the Bankers' Trust Company and, later, by the Chase National Bank, which is now the fiscal agent of record for the bonds.

Now comes the angle which may throw new light on the transaction. When the former Mayor left for New York he also left about $35,000 of unpaid campaign bills, for which his finance committee is responsible.

These bills are for printing, and for workers who were supposed to be paid, but have not received the money. Collectors have since worn a groove in the sidewalk trailing from the Hellman bank to the offices of the members of the Snyder executive committee. They have worn out shoeleather and their welcome, but they haven't been able to collect.

SUITS THREATENED.

Suits have been threatened, but the rumor has gained circulation that when certain negotiations now pending have been completed the money will be forthcoming.

Just what these negotiations are has not been established. The ways of secret diplomacy surpass the understanding. Two Councilmen, two bankers, two Public Service Commissioners and two politicians make eight. But eight what?

Light may be thrown into the dark places, however, when the suit to test the legality of the bond sale, now pending in the courts, comes to trial. It is possible that the former Mayor may be asked to testify here, or that his deposition may be taken in New York.

The testimony of Dr. Haynes in his triple capacity of Snyder politician, member of the Board of Public Service Commissioners and negotiator of the bond sale might also be interesting, especially when checked against that campaign deficit.

Chairman Mushet of the Council Finance Committee protested against the sale of the bonds to Mr. Hellman without open competitive bidding. He made the prediction yesterday that the bond sale will be declared illegal by the courts, on the ground that the new States law permitting municipalities to sell their bonds at a discount is unconstitutional. If that takes place there will be enough tat on the fire to fry eight of most anything.

QUESTIONS IN PAIRS.

How was the bond deal put over? How is that Snyder $35,000 campaign debt to be liquidated? Such questions seem to go in pairs like trained work mules. Neither has yet been solved; nor has an absolute connection been established between them. Is it possible that a single solution will fit both?

Three things have been established: the taxpayers have been mulcted out of $2,000,000 by the power bond deal, creditors of the Snyder finance committee are still whistling to the tune of $35,000 and members of that finance committee are also principals in the bond transaction.

FURNITURE WON BACK BY WOMAN.

Company Ordered to Return Articles Taken from Home and to Pay Damages.

Juanita Eldsen won her fight yesterday in Justice Brown's court for furniture which had been taken from her by a local company on a claim and delivery action.

The young woman was made defendant by Morris Tovil, representing a furniture company, in a suit for recovery of the articles valued at $290, and $50 for attorney's fees. It was stated to the court by the defendant's attorney, that she had paid all but $128.05 on the furniture and stood to lose her equity. The furniture was removed from her house, and it was asserted this interfered with a small business she was conducting. Her attorney stated that she tendered payment of the amount due, having obtained it from the Red Cross, and the court gave her judgment for the return of the furniture with damages of $25.

The court ordered the plaintiffs in the action to return the furniture to the defendant's house by 5 o'clock last night.

Booze Charges Hold Physician, Cider Sellers.

One doctor and two soft drink sellers were arrested late yesterday afternoon and lodged in the City Jail charged with violations of the Volstead Act. The arrests were made by Federal Agent Dan O'Leary and Patrolmen D. McJones and Steckle of University Station.

Dr. Russell Sheay is the physician taken into custody. According to the officers he sold them a pint of gin for $4. The police say that the physician is not licensed to prescribe liquor.

Harry Reardson, 42 years of age, of 235 South Main street, and L. F. Hagan of 139 South Main street were taken into custody in their establishments and charged with selling hard cider. A number of bottles of the cider were seized by the police.

The three prisoners will be turned over to the Federal authorities today.

Slaying Boast is Charged in Divorce Suit.

Joseph A. Devore's asserted boast that he killed a man in Bisbee, Ariz., is made a cause of complaint in a suit for divorce filed against him in the Superior Court yesterday by Mina C. Devore. Devore was formerly proprietor of a butcher shop in Venice.

Other charges brought by Mrs. Devore in the complaint are as follows: Misconduct with a "Jane Doe" Krausley in a West Sixth-street hotel; failure to obtain a final decree of divorce from a previous wife, Mabel Wineman Devore, before marrying her; inducing her to invest her savings in his butcher shop and then neglecting to attend to the business, and decamping with $1500 in cash, leaving her with a large number of unpaid bills.

She asks for $50 a month alimony and a judgment of $400, representing the value of a diamond ring given by her husband to Mrs. Devore.

"Other Man" in Wife's Nightie, Says Husband.

Charging that he found his wife in a hotel room with another man, who was clad in one of Mrs. Cartwright's night gowns, C. I. Cartwright yesterday, in Judge Summerfield's court, won a divorce from Mrs. Fern Cartwright.

Mrs. Cartwright, the testimony showed, left her husband last March 18, after a married life of five years.

Mr. Cartwright is a resident of Glendora.

MAN WITH BOND LOOT ARRESTED.

Police Trap Suspect in Bank and Find Stolen Securities in Home.

Bonds valued by the police at $13,000 were recovered in a Los Angeles Harbor rooming-house late yesterday afternoon following the arrest of Raymond Ramos, 33 years of age, a Mexican who was taken into custody at a downtown bank while attempting to cash some bond coupons.

Police learned, following the arrest of Ramos, that the bonds were part of the loot taken from the home of H. W. Kennedy of 400 Rose Avenue, Lamanda Park, last January, when the house was ransacked by burglars and stocks and bonds valued at $30,000 taken.

Ramos appeared at a downtown bank late yesterday afternoon and offered the coupons to one of the tellers. Believing that something was wrong the police were notified at once and led by Chief Joneg a number of detectives rushed to the bank. When Chief Jones saw the coupons he identified them as part of the loot taken from the Kennedy home and at once started to question the prisoner.

At the City Jail Ramos gave the police his address at Los Angeles Harbor and stated that the bonds had been given to him by his roommate. He declared that he did not know the man's name or his business or where he had obtained the bonds. Police are searching the harbor city for him.

Spouse Boasted of Other Woman, Declares Wife.

Mrs. Emma E. Hoag married Harold M. Hoag in Lockport, N. Y., June 3, 1909, but her married life was not happy. Mr. Hoag, she testified yesterday in Judge Toland's court, where she was granted a divorce and the custody of her two minor children, frequently absented himself from home. He was cruel and caused her to suffer, she said. He did not want her to bear children, and boasted of his conquests among women. He swore at her and once he threatened her with a revolver for not responding to his caresses, she testified.

Anna Beth Tanner, her sister, was a corroborative witness, detailing how Mrs. Hoag's health suffered by reason of her husband's conduct. Mr. Hoag was not in court, but was represented by an attorney. Pending the trial Mrs. Hoag was allowed support of $75 a month for the children by her husband. This amount was approved by the court in granting the decree.

TAUNT IS CHARGED.

Wife Says Husband Dined Instead of Getting Medicine for Her.

Morris Pettinger is purported to have said to his wife, Mrs. Florence Pettinger: "You're all right only you are afraid to die," when she complained to him for going to dinner with a friend when she had sent him to get medicine for her. At the time she was sick in bed. Mrs. Pettinger was in Judge Summerfield's court yesterday seeking a divorce. The court took the case under advisement.

ONE IS KILLED, MANY ARE HURT

Sightseeing Bus and Electric Car in Collision.

Victims Trapped Under Top of Auto at Sawtelle.

Vehicle Hurled Many Feet Along the Tracks.

One man was killed and twenty-two persons were injured, some seriously, at noon yesterday when a heavily-loaded Los Angeles sightseeing automobile bus and a Pacific Electric work car collided at the Wilshire-Boulevard entrance to the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle.

R. L. Williams of Salt Lake died soon after the crash, and four or five other victims of the accident are suffering from injuries that may prove fatal.

Coroner Nance will hold the inquest Tuesday at the morgue of F. L. Fitch, Sawtelle.

The crash came when the auto bus was half-way across the Pacific Electric tracks, having just left the Soldiers' Home grounds. The work train, in the charge of Motorman H. L. Knapp, 3108 West Norton avenue, struck the bus, rolling it over and pushing it about thirty feet down the track, according to eyewitnesses.

Caught beneath the crushed top of the bus, the passengers were unable to extricate themselves until workmen from the electric car cut away the covering. The sightseeing car was driven by R. A. Snale, 1336 South Hoover street. His report of the accident at the Central Police Station declares he was driving at a rate of between eight and twelve mile an hour when his bus was struck. The P. E. car hit the bus about its middle. Snale's view of the track was obscured by a row of large palm trees, it is understood.

The list of dead and injured compiled by the Emergency Hospital at the Sawtelle Soldiers' Home and by the police follows:

Dead:

R. L. WILLIAMS, Salt Lake City. Chest crushed and compound fracture of right leg. Died in hospital.

Injured:

The following were taken to the Loanshire Hospital, Santa Monica.

FAMILY JARS.
When a husband sues for divorce because he is kept awake nights by his wife's hisses does the court call it cruelty?

WRONG BERTH DAY.
A man climbed into the wrong berth on a Pullman the other night and cut his leg on a bottle belonging to another person. Look before you sleep.

NIGHT OF THE BATH.
If King George confers the Order of the Bath upon Charlie Chaplin the comedian will have it made good for Saturday night or else arrange to have it cashed at the Athletic Club plunge.

CLEANING UP.
They are putting in bathrooms for the Aldermen in connection with the headquarters of the Council in the Chicago City Hall. It will take something more than a shower to clean up the Chicago Council.

TOO MANY BANKS.
When the Comptroller of the Currency said that there were too many banks in the country possibly he meant some of the fare kind. He surely doesn't mean that we can have too many savings banks.

ROCKS AT THE UMPIRE.
The American Bar Association declares that Judge Landis is trailing the ermine in the dust by holding his baseball job while still a Federal judge. First thing we know Judge Landis will be benching the bar.

AMONG THE MAILS.
The business of the local postoffice is now running at the rate of $400,000 a month. The receipts for August were almost 25 per cent greater than a year ago. The females must be patronizing the mails—and somebody must have sent a souvenir postal card back East.

ORIENTAL COURTESY.
The Japanese government gives the use of one of its ships to an American college professor to study and investigate the coral formation in connection with some of the islands of the Pacific. This would not indicate a very quarrelsome disposition. As a matter of fact, the Japs are disposed to be very kindly and considerate so far as Americans are concerned.

SEARCH AND SEIZURE.
It seems that the government may not always seize and dispose of the motor cars and other vehicles used in the transport or smuggling of contraband liquor. At least if the owner is not an active party to the illicit transaction the auto may not be held. This would seem sensible. Under the circumstances the government should have no more right to condemn and sell the car than it would to sell the ocean liner on which a case of whisky was smuggled or to seize the building in which some bootlegger has plied his infamous trade.

MUSICAL TRAGEDY.
If one is curious to know what war is like let him take two phonographs and lock them up in a room together—one playing a record of "I'm Moaning in the Gloaming," by the Bornco Jazz Band, and the other spieling the "March of the Hundred Pipers," by the Highlanders and their bagpipes. A man did that thing the other day. He lives to tell the tale, but that is about all. He is now a pitiful wreck of a human being. To be even in proximity of a meeting between a jazz band and a dock of bagpipers is tragedy. The explosion of a boiler shop seems a peach Melba by comparison.

STIRS UP ANOTHER MESS.
Clara Smith Ramon's efforts to break into the films may result in an otherwise unnecessary revival of screen censorship. Now that she has married again it would be better for her to go behind the screen instead of in front of it. The picture she has made is hardly worth warring over save for the fact that it was unworthily inspired. From all accounts it is cheap stuff and poorly acted. It would have died of its own weight after a few showings. Even one of the backers admits that the picture has been wrecked in the making. The film industry should be able to check inroads that are based merely on nasty notoriety. That it has not been able to do so in this case may prompt a returning demand for local censorship. Instead of going into the films Clara should have gone into the cellar.

HIDDEN WEALTH.
According to the testimony of returned travelers, notably of Washington Vanderlip, Russia still has immense wealth in the form of diamonds, jewels, gold and precious stones that were once the property of the nobility and ruling classes. Much of this is in possession of the Lenin government and is hidden away in secret vaults. This wealth is variously estimated at from one to three billions in American money. When the final crash comes Lenin and Trotzky will still have a treasury worth looting. At present some people are unable to swap diamonds for ham and eggs. According to the word of Mr. Vanderlip the Russian government seriously contemplated placing the currency of the government on a diamond basis. They had more diamonds than anything else and needed something as a background for their paper rubles.

PUNISHING CRIMINALS.
Taking the crime wave as a pretext the press of the country is flooded by a propaganda against capital punishment. The argument is advanced that the present treatment of criminals is wrong, that brutal slaying by the law relieves murder of moral obloquy and that the State sets the example which individuals follow. If we are to believe the self-styled humanists, murderers should be comforted and not condemned; society should set them an example of loving forbearance; they should be given a course of moral instruction and then released.

In support of this propaganda frequent reference is made to the case of Oregon. Capital punishment was abolished in that State by a constitutional amendment in 1914; but, instead of diminishing, the number of murders increased and a new amendment was passed last year by which the death penalty was restored. During the last six months, however, there has been an epidemic of capital crimes in Oregon, as in many other parts of the country, and the opponents of capital punishment are pointing to this record as proof that the restoration of hanging has increased the number of murders.

But the Portland Oregonian has refuted that contention by quoting the record to show that, despite the great number of killings, but a single murderer has been executed since the new law went into effect. It asserts that the failure of judges and juries to apply the death penalty keeps capital punishment from acting as a deterrent to crimes of violence. The Oregonian asserts that since the death penalty was restored "there has been a horrible succession of fearful homicides and but one man has been executed. It is a sad record." Continuing the Oregonian observes:

> An innocent man or woman is killed in revenge or malice or passion and the public is sadly shocked; but it quickly forgets its indignation at wanton crime and its sympathy for the sorrowing relatives of the victim in an awakened compassion for the murderer. It is no mere joke that maudlin men and foolish women shower a murderer with tokens of interest and flowers of sentiment. It is literally and horribly true. It should not be true. Until there is a wholly changed attitude toward murder—an expressed and efficient determination to punish it—scorn and detestation for the perpetrator—men will kill, lawyers will trifle with the courts, juries will forget their duty and justice will not be done. . . . The general attitude toward murder is a reproach to the American people.

California has seen during the last six years the sinister effect of giving free rein to the spirit of maudlin compassion for criminals. It resulted in the passage of laws providing for parole and indeterminate sentence in cases where a felony has been committed. Under our present laws a murderer receiving a life sentence can be granted parole sooner than one serving a sentence of twenty years.

Taking human life is an awful thing, even when it is done in the name of the law. But experience has repeatedly demonstrated that in the States where crimes of violence are rigorously punished their number is less than in those where the death penalty is never exacted and where light punishments are imposed for serious offenses.

At every session of the California Legislature in recent years the anticapital-punishment propaganda has been in evidence. Its proponents claim to be attempting to humanize the Penal Code; but the only effect of their efforts has been to make the conviction of persons guilty of crimes of violence more difficult and their punishment lighter. Their argument is that of the criminal against society. The death penalty was stricken from the Penal Code of Russia a hundred years before the Bolshevist revolution, yet the effect does not seem to have been to make the Russian people more loving or less inclined to violence. Men and women were slain in as great numbers as in any other European country. And it is possible that a life sentence to the mines of Siberia was as great a deterrent to crime as capital punishment.

The Oregon record of one execution for fifty murders is almost equivalent to abolishing capital punishment. In California the death penalty is applied oftener, yet the number of hangings, compared with that of premeditated murders, is unjustifiably small. Vigorous enforcement of the law is the best known deterrent to crime; and the idea that abolishing the death penalty would lessen the number of murders is as erroneous as some of the Bolshevik ideas about government and economics.

NOT FORMING A TRUST.
It is the assertion of certain officials that there is a "movie trust." It would certainly be a curious animal if its picture could be thrown on the screen. There have been and are certain understandings and agreements in various fields of film activity, but it would be hard to call any of them a trust—that is a combination that is against the interests of the public. Most of the co-operation thus far has been in the direction of simplifying production and improving the standard of screen offerings. These would ordinarily have the approval of the public. The film industry has become so vast and its ramifications so extensive that it cannot be grouped into a trust. When the man in the street can write a scenario, hire a flock of actors or build a theater to show his picture there can be no serious damage to the public because of any trade or production agreements made in the industry. The film folk are striving to do their own house cleaning and some sort of a get-together program is essential to accomplish the desired end. There is no immediate menace to the people either way.

TAMMANY IN THE SADDLE.
The street-car companies in New York have gone broke on a 5-cent fare and receiverships are demanded. Now Tammany wants to get hold of the systems. The politicians are promising a continuance of the 5-cent fare under municipal ownership and Tammany operation. That would be fine business! Tammany couldn't operate a corkscrew for less than a thousand dollars a day. If the government cannot operate a handcar without losing six-bits a second, what sort of a figure would Tammany cut in running the street railway systems of Gotham? It is another example of seeking to strengthen the Tammany machine at public expense.

The Prodigal Son.

AMENDING THE DIRECT PRIMARY.
How like the traditional exploit of the King of France and his 10,000 men who "first marched up a hill and then marched down again" is the experience of the majority of the American States with the direct-primary system. Ten years ago it was brought forth with a fanfare of trumpets as the one thing necessary to save government in this country from boss domination. Now the reaction against it is as strong as was the original impulse in its favor.

Boss rule in the United States is much more prevalent than ten years ago. Our two chief cities, New York and Chicago, are suffering from administrations admitted intolerable and yet the people find that the direct-primary system has fixed the bosses so firmly on their thrones that all efforts to the present time to unseat them have miscarried.

It is true that the bosses did not want the direct primary. They were doing fairly well under the old convention system and feared a change. But these same bosses are now frantic in their protests against returning to any form of the convention plan. They have found possibilities for complete domination under the present system undreamed of ten years ago.

The New York Legislature set the example last spring of breaking away from the direct primary and returning to the party convention. Tammany Hall fought this reform with all the weapons available; but the feeling in the State outside the city of New York was so overwhelmingly against the direct primary that it had to go.

And why were the people "up State" so opposed to the direct primary? During the last four years Tammany had waxed so powerful under it that the machine threatened to control the politics of the entire State. It was a question of abolishing the primary or passing under the dominion of Tammany, and the people of New York thought more of their political freedom than of any primary system.

Inspired by the example of New York, there is agitation in several other Eastern States for a return to the convention plan of nominating candidates. There is not a single Eastern State in which the rule of the boss has not been strengthened by the direct primary; and the people of those States are awakening to the fact.

While the theory of the direct primary was appealing, ten years of practice have proved that it is too cumbersome and unwieldy to be applied successfully to State elections. And there is a fatal defect that threatens the very foundation of American institutions. In a convention no candidate can be nominated unless he receives the vote of a majority of the delegates. Under the direct primary there have been instances in our own State in which a candidate who received less than one-fourth the total votes cast by his party in the primary was nominated.

Maryland has occupied a place in the list of direct-primary States; but the reaction is now so strong that it is doubtful if the State will ever again select candidates to a national convention or for State offices under the direct-primary plan. Recently the Baltimore American opened its columns to a discussion of proposed amendments to the direct primary. The following extract from a recent editorial in the American shows the result:

> In bringing up the subject of amendment of the direct-primary law the American and News were free to admit the probability that the first reaction to the proposal would be hostile. We are free now to confess that, the question once having been raised, scarcely a word in unqualified defense of the primaries has come to this office. It is as if people had been sitting tongue-tied, ashamed to admit that they found anything radically wrong with a scheme that everybody else knew was well-nigh perfect. But, once the lid was off, the rate at which admissions have flowed in consigning the whole primaries system to perdition has been astonishing. The old convention system of nominating seems to have a friend at every street corner; not from among the politicians, who came over to the primaries system so reluctantly, but from among the very independents who ten and twenty years ago were working with all their might to get that system adopted.

The American in a later editorial protested that it did not intend to start a movement which would bring back the old convention system in the form that it was abandoned, but its editors admitted that if a vote of the people were to be taken on the two systems at the present time the result would be enormously in favor of the convention plan. It proposed, editorially, that a compromise should be made between the two systems, that the party leaders should name the candidates, but that the right of holding a primary by petition should be reserved to the party at large. This plan has received favorable comment from those who are interested in good government, but are not themselves actual or expectant officeholders.

Applying this plan to State elections in California, the State Central Committee of each party would meet and select a list of candidates for State offices. If there was no objection to this selection from the party at large no primary campaign would be held; but the right to nominate candidates by petition would be reserved and, in these instances, the primary would be held much as at the present time.

There is some justice in the following contention from the American:

> It would be much easier today to argue for a flat return to the convention than for further experimentation. But when you have got something admittedly good in theory, but working worse and worse with every year in practice, the first logical conclusion would be that you were not yet applying it in the right way.

The Times is fully aware of the corruption and abuse that crept into politics under the old convention system and it hopes that some compromise may be possible by which we can get rid of the present outrageous form of direct primary without taking back the convention with its abuses uneliminated. Between the two, however, The Times frankly prefers the old convention to the new direct primary.

MONKEY BUSINESS.
The contention that our forebears roosted in the tops of the cocoanut palms finds fresh support every now and then. The theory is not always wholesome and many people object to it. When a man has a pedigree going back to William the Conqueror it may embarrass him to show that if he would go still farther back his most potent ancestor was seven-eighths gorilla. It would be very impolite to attempt to prove to the dainty little girl from New Orleans that her great-grandmother was a blue-nosed mandril. It is not safe to assume that the Gibbon who wrote so magnificently of ancient Rome should be the offspring of the gibbon that roamed so blithely through the tops of the tamarinds of Sumatra. Can you imagine a Daniel Webster or a Lydia Pinkham in a shimmering line of descent from the chimpanzee? Are the O'Briens and the orang-outangs from the same stock?

The professor says they are. This particular scientist has disturbed the co-eds of his college by showing that, aside from men and women, the apes and baboons are the champion hand-holders of all time. It is perfectly natural for monkeys to hold hands and even the male and female gorilla will sit for hours on the limb of a baobab tree holding each other's hand. So it seems that when little Lucille and Leander steal hand in hand through the gloaming they are merely responding to the primal urge. Their great-grand ancestors were a couple of confirmed hand-holders in the forest primeval.

There is really nothing to worry about. They can't help it. It is the simian way and we are inheritors of the simian blood. That is what the professor says.

Whereat the co-eds resumed their hand-holding with fresh confidence.

A PRESIDENT'S GOLF BALLS.
When President Harding drives a golf ball into the rough he might as well consider it lost and shoot another. The caddies search for these Presidential balls with tremendous zeal, but with little direct result. The reason is that the President uses a special ball marked with 13 stars and his initials. When a caddy runs across such a ball it offers him an almost irresistible temptation to slip it into his pocket or under a stone, for he knows he can get $50 for it from some tuft hunter. The fact that as much as this has been paid for these souvenirs is responsible for the circulation of the foolish story that President Harding uses balls costing $50 apiece.—[Lincoln Journal.

CUPID'S DIARY.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Monday—So that's settled. He has proposed at last. His mother very depressed—they mostly are. Her mother anxious—but game. Both fathers retrospective. She thinks she would prefer an emerald and diamond engagement ring.

Tuesday—Decided upon formal announcement cards, engraved, expensive. Newspapers informed. Bride-elect has her picture taken.

Wednesday—Series of "showers" planned for bride-elect—all invited expected to make charitable contributions. Helpful suggestions, diplomatically hinted, by bride-elect, bride's mother, bride's sisters, bride's aunt. Nothing like a little efficient discretion to avoid superfluous duplicates.

Saw the dressmaker. Had an argument with father. Bought five fashion magazines.

Friday—Session with dressmaker. Attended kitchen shower given by capable aunt. Much better haul this time.

Saturday—Went calling on wealthy relatives of both parties. Very tactful. Stingy things—but they may come through with a worth-while wedding present.

Sunday—Discussed which minister would prove most dramatically effective and which church provides best scenic effects.

Monday—Went shopping. Father very touchy. Changed dressmakers. Attended stocking shower given by intimate girl friend. Sparsely attended by guests who believe in conservation of resources. Only seven silk pairs in that haul—and those not the best quality.

Tuesday—Chose bridesmaids. Arguments over styles. Bride ambitious, wants Watteau effects and Shepherdess hats. Bridesmaids enthusiastic but reluctant at visions of bills.

Wednesday—Bride delicately hints to another friend that no one has given a miscellaneous shower for her yet. Mabel falls for it. Mabel later confesses that everyone she rang up had a prior engagement. Bride suggests changing the date.

Thursday—Mother of groom-elect announces formal reception. Several hundred guests, punch and cake. Full evening dress.

More shopping. Row with dressmaker. Tiff with father. Touchy with mother. Quarreled with groom-elect. Why not a European honeymoon?

Friday—Wedding invitations out. Engraved, double envelopes, irreproachable style. Pedigrees on both sides telephoned to newspapers. Remote relatives duly exploited.

Attended miscellaneous shower. Murmurings among guests. How many more showers? Getting fed up on them. And still there is the wedding present to consider.

Saturday—Conference of bridesmaids. Strike on expensive dresses. Want to make their organdies do. Bride reproachful but acquiescent. Ushers selected. Floral decorations for church discussed. Father says $25 for flowers ought to be enough. Bride haggles for $50. Discuss suitable music. Bride thinks "Oh, believe me, if all those endearing young charms" appropriate. Father sarcastically suggests "The Lost Chord." Family exchange of personal opinions.

Sunday—Went to church. Created excellent effect. Jazz party in the evening.

Monday—Groom's mother's reception. Awful crush. Full evening dress scattered, many unprincipled guests in sports clothes. Punch weak towards end of evening. Siews of fatuous conversation. Bride effervescent. Groom's mother majestic. Bride's father says he feels a fool in these fool clothes—they insisted on full evening dress for him. Disgraces party by teaching one of bridesmaids to smoke behind the palm.

Tuesday—More shopping. Beauty treatments. Wedding presents begin to arrive. Valuation and appraisement. Numerous absurd duplicates. No price tags. Groom's parents handsome with chest of silver—thank goodness. Plans of the house father is going to give. Otherwise not a thing worth more than $5. Bargain sale stuff. Bride disgusted.

Wednesday—Trousseau anxieties. Theater party.

Thursday—Bought wedding ring. Nothing but fashionable circlet of diamonds would do. Groom feeling anxious.

Friday—Wedding rehearsal. Bride very efficient, should have been film director. Everything going fine.

A Week Later—The wedding. Very fashionable congregation. Seventy-five dollars' worth of flowers. Music very effective. Ushers irreproachable. Clergyman most dramatic. Bride blushing and shy, perfect manners. Bride's mother in discreet tears. Groom's mother patient and correct. Bridesmaids very fetching and simpering. Groom beaming fatuously. Bride's father slightly drunk.

SNAP SHOTS FROM TEXAS.

Our observation is that there are many cases of paper profits, but hardly any newspaper profits.

One reason why all the world loves a lover is because it doesn't have to worry with him till he gets over it.

Of course, we may be censurable, but in times like these we are rather glad to be a wage slave.

One of the strangest things in this world is why a man whose wife is a chronic kicker wants to drink things with a kick in them.

Such is fame that Lenin may become a synonym for famine.

Also why doesn't some enterprising lunch-counter man advertise his place as a filling station?

Another reason why we wouldn't want to be shaved by a lady barber is because we don't look our best in lather.

As a general thing a person who hasn't got any better judgment than to pay bootleg prices for whisky hasn't got any more sense than to drink it.—[Galveston News.

TWO MINUTES OF OPTIMISM.

BY HERMAN J. STICH.

Apropos Prohibition.

The editor is wrong.

EVERY man loves a scrap—average, above average, below average, brilliant, dull, tall, small, pacifist, artist, artisan, highbrow, lowbrow, professional, nonprofessional; two kids mauling each other on the sidewalk immediately gather a motley mob.

From the best of us all through the ranks of the rest of us we love a contest; our hearts thrill to a battle or set-to—we love to see and hear, if not to participate.

It is the universal, elemental brute in us fighting for a way out.

That is why prohibition furnishes so much entertainment in opportunity for argument—and fun—the latter for the fellow who has "his," of course.

And what a battle royal the whole world would have enjoyed had Dr. Buckley and Dr. Ingersoll debated prohibition's pros and cons! If the debate would have been anything like the letters they wrote each other, then we have indeed been cheated out of a few masterpieces of impassioned oratory.

This is a letter Dr. Ingersoll once wrote Dr. Buckley.

Dear Buckley—I send you some of the most wonderful whisky that ever drove a skeleton from the feast of painted landscapes in the brain of man. It is the mingled soul of wheat and corn. In it you will find the sunshine and shadows that chased each other over billowy fields, the breath of June, the carol of the lark, the dews of the night, the wealth of the summer and autumn's rich content, all golden with imprisoned light. Drink it and you will hear the voice of men and maidens singing the "Harvest Home," mingled with the laughter of children. Drink it and you will feel within your blood the starred dawn, the dreamy, tawny dusk of perfect days. For forty years this liquid joy has been confined within staves of oak, longing to touch the lips of man. Your friend,

ROBERT G.

And here is Dr. Buckley's reply:

Dear Bob—I return to you some of the most wonderful whisky that ever brought a skeleton into the closet or painted scenes of lust and bloodshed in the brain of man. It is the ghost of wheat and corn, crazed by the loss of their natural bodies. In it you will find a transient sunshine chased by a shadow as cold as an Arctic midnight, in which the breath of June grows icy and the carol of the lark gives place to the foreboding cry of the raven. Drink it and you shall have "woe," "sorrow," "babbling" and "wounds without cause." Your eyes shall behold strange women and your heart shall utter perverse things. Drink it and you shall hear the voice of demons, shrinking women wailing and worse than orphaned children mourning the loss of a father who lives. Drink it deep and long and serpents will hiss in your ears, coil themselves about your neck and seize you with their fangs. At last it "biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder." For forty years this liquid death has been confined within staves of oak, harmless there as purest water. I send it to you that you may put an enemy into your mouth to steal away your brain, and yet I call myself Your friend.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

CANNED VOICES.

The singers of the olden time were silenced when they reached the tomb; no voice, majestic and sublime, emerges from the final gloom. We hear of human nightingales whose singing gained our fathers' praise; their fame still lives in bearded tales come down from dead and distant days. But when they left this life of stress their music ceased forevermore; we'll never hear their tones unless it be upon some other shore. But now dead singers leave behind the record of their skill and power; my timeworn phonograph I wind and hear Caruso by the hour. A hundred years from now, I wot, such music mills will still be wound and that grand voice will hit the spot and charm the listeners around. And though Caruso lies asleep, throughout the world, on all its shores, in humble cot and stately keep his voice still rolls and throbs and soars. To me it seems a wondrous thing that when a man is in his grave I still can hear him grandly sing great songs, triumphant, strong and brave. I would that phonographs were made ere Eve first struck the breakfast gong, and Adam, in a sun-flecked glade, sent forth the race's primal song. Great singers lived in every age and when they died their voices ceased; oh, could I hear the psalmist sage and eke the Wise Men from the East!

ILLINOIS FISH STORIES.

Fishermen along the Kankakee River in Illinois are out after a big fish that is breaking the lines of the anglers along the river. Abandoning their hooks and seines the fishermen have armed themselves with shotguns in the hunt for the offending fish.

The other day a report from Peoria, Ill., stated that the people along the Illinois River were out gunning for six alligators that had made their escape from a park attraction and the favorite outdoor sport in that vicinity now is the arming of the citizens with rifles to hunt alligators.

Illinois is sending out some strange fish stories here of late, not excepting that one from Springfield put out by Gov. Small in his defiance of the courts and sheriffs.—[Kansas City Times.

...TS COUNCIL IN DILEMMA.

...yor Rejects Plea to Take Back Appointments.

Who's Mayor, You or I? is Substance of Letter.

Attorney Rules Legislators Have Exceeded Rights.

Who is the Mayor of Los Angeles—George E. Cryer or the members of the City Council?

This, in brief, is the substance of a letter sent late yesterday to the City Council by Mayor Cryer and the chief executive answered his own question by saying that George E. Cryer is the Mayor and that appointments of Edwin R. Daugherty as president and W. P. Jeffries and William R. Dickinson as members of the Board of Harbor Commissioners are still before the Council to confirm or reject. The Mayor's letter was written in answer to a resolution adopted earlier in the day by the City Council over the objections of Councilmen Allen and Mallard, returning the appointments to the Mayor. The Mayor said that he had no intention of withdrawing or recalling the appointments and declined to withdraw them.

The Mayor's letter, which was the first bomb fired in the war at City Hall to asset who is "boss" of appointments, the Mayor or the Council, is as follows:

MAYOR'S LETTER.

"Sept. 2, 1921.

"Honorable Council of the City of Los Angeles, Gentlemen:

"I have your communication of this date returning to me 'for further consideration' the names of my appointees to the positions of Harbor Commissioners.

"I note what is stated in the majority report of your Harbor Committee concerning your solicitude for the personnel of the harbor commission. I note that you deem it your duty to do everything within your power 'to place on the harbor commission' men of the requisite training and experience.

"Allow me to call your attention to the letter of the 29th ult., in which you disclaim any intention of objecting in any manner upon the qualifications of my appointees, and to your protest upon my alleged failure to 'consult' with you before making my appointments.

"Which of these communications correctly sets forth your attitude?

"May I be permitted to suggest that you have been reasonably active in trying to place men on this commission.

"Six of your number have caucused upon the matter, notified me of the result of your caucus, urged upon me the advantage of confirmation by your action, and have shown a high degree of diligence in endeavoring 'to place on the harbor commission' men of your selection.

"ARE APPOINTED."

"As I read the charter, the power and responsibility of selection rests upon the Mayor. I have made my selections. The gentlemen mentioned in my letter are appointed to office in so far as the act of the Mayor can accomplish that end.

"I know of nothing further to be done by me until you have exercised your power of confirmation or rejection.

"In so far as your action in returning the names of my appointees for further consideration' implies that I did not give due consideration to the matter of these appointments, I beg leave to inform you that this assumption is entirely erroneous.

"I am familiar with the charter provision conferring power upon the harbor commission, and trust that I have some sense of appreciation of the duties and responsibilities which will rest upon the members of that commission. I appreciate fully the responsibility resting upon me in making these appointments.

"As you are aware I have not been hasty or precipitate. I very carefully considered the merits and qualifications of fully seventy men before making my final selection.

"Since I have no desire or intention to reconsider my action or to revoke my appointments, conceding that I have such power, I wish to suggest that the appointments of Edwin M. Daugherty, W. P. Jeffries and W. R. Dickinson as Harbor Commissioners, are still before you for confirmation or rejection, as provided by law.

"Very respectfully yours,

"Mayor."

The reference in the Mayor's letter as to the caucus of six of the Council and of their approving 'of a candidate refers to William M. Humphreys, former member of the Board of Public Works, whose appointment was recommended by those six Councilmen. Asked if he would now appoint Mr. Humphreys, Mayor Cryer said yesterday, "Not on a bet."

VOTE ON MONDAY?

It is believed that in view of the Mayor's determined stand the appointments will be called up for a vote on Monday morning and it is generally predicted that Mr. Jeffries and Mr. Dickinson will be confirmed by a divided vote, while Mr. Daugherty's appointment may fail to receive the necessary support of five Councilmen. Friends of the Mayor declare, however, that the Councilmen have been defeated by the Mayor in their attempts to rule him and that they will fall in line and confirm all the appointments.

The Councilmen in their first letter, written on August 29, asked the Mayor to withdraw all of his appointments and the Council then unanimously confirmed four appointments to the Social Service Commission and the appointment of James Walter Kays as Fire Commissioner.

Legal basis for the stand taken by the Mayor was given by Assistant City Attorney Whitehead, who said that the Council has no right under the city charter to ask the Mayor to withdraw the appointments, but is required to either accept or reject them.

Chairman Lanzdon and President Criswell of the Harbor Committee precipitated yesterday's harbor board battle by submitting a report recommending that the appointments be returned to the Mayor in order to secure men of sufficient training and experience to supervise the harbor development work. Councilman Allen dissented from this report and recommended that the appointments be voted upon separately and be confirmed or rejected.

BOY MAKES PUZZLING STATEMENT

Mother's Name Not That of Woman Fighting for His Possession, He Says.

Richmond Barker, 9 years of age, who is the prize for whom Capt. Fred O. Barker and his wife, Zola Barker, are contesting in Judge Toland's court, made a strange statement to Judge Toland when the latter interviewed him at school.

At this interview Judge Toland did not tell the boy he was a judge. He wanted to satisfy himself as to certain points raised in the testimony.

The boy told him, the judge said in court yesterday, that "Zola had been to see him." He did not know that "Zola" was his mother. He told Judge Toland his mother's name was "Lillian."

Mrs. Barker is divorced from Capt. Barker. The latter married again, and his second wife is in constant attendance in court with him. The divorce was granted to Capt. Barker in Oregon and Mrs. Barker was awarded the custody of her boy. Capt. Barker was charged by his ex-wife with having kidnaped the boy, but was exonerated in a lower court. Mrs. Barker asserts the Oregon divorce was obtained through misrepresentation.

After Judge Toland told of his interview with the boy, he offered himself for cross-examination, but the attorneys in the case did not accept the proffer. The boy was placed in a military school.

George W. MacKnight, for many years a practicing attorney in this city, died at his home, 1652 South Gramercy Place, yesterday afternoon, after an illness of nearly three months. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Mr. MacKnight, who was 68 years of age, was born at Nashville, Tenn. He came to this city in 1898, and shortly thereafter opened offices in the Byrne Building. During his practice here he was identified with many prominent cases. Five years ago he retired on account of ill health. Eleven weeks ago he was stricken with heart trouble, and failed rapidly.

Mr. MacKnight leaves a widow, Mrs. Louise MacKnight; a daughter, Miss Alpha MacKnight; two sisters, Mrs. S. P. Bearden of this city and Mrs. W. H. MacGillivray of Fresno, and a brother, F. S. MacKnight of Fresno. The body is at the Peck & Chase undertaking establishment.

On Sunday morning there will be a baseball game at Exposition Park between the Goodyear Hercules Silents and division No. 27 Ku Klux Klans. Cohen of New York, the whistling umps, will officiate.

ASSAULT IS CHARGED IN WIFE'S SUIT.

Woman Asks Damages and Receivership for Store She Says She Helped Buy.

Two suits were filed by Mollie Kerzin yesterday in the Superior Court, in one of which she demands $25,050 damages for a purported assault at the hands of the defendant, Harry Blum, and in the other asks for a receivership of the business of a department store in South Vermont avenue, in which she claims a copartnership.

She asserts that she was dragged from the premises and thrown on the sidewalk; that part of her dress was torn, exposing the upper portion of her body, and that she was scratched and bruised.

The second suit, directed against Harry Blum, Ida Blum, Sophia Marks and Bernie Kerzin, the latter the plaintiff's husband, declares that she gave to her husband $5000 to invest in a business at 3700 South Vermont avenue. She says she told him to invest the money in her name and believed that he had done so.

But one day when she picked up a checkbook for information as to the purported appropriation of partnership funds, the purported assault took place. She says she was told she had no interest in the store.

Through Attorney Frank A. MacDonald the court is asked to dissolve the partnership, sell the property and make a division of the proceeds, and to appoint a receiver and issue an injunction.

BUSINESS MECHANICS COURSES PROVIDED.

HIGH SCHOOLS WILL TEACH LATEST OFFICE WORK. METHODS.

Announcement was made yesterday by Superintendent of Schools Dorsey that complete courses in mechanical bookkeeping and accounting have been installed in two of the city's high schools, where the most advanced sort of office work may be learned. This, so far as is known, is the first departure from the old methods to be made by public schools. The high schools in which the new system will be tried are Manual Arts and Polytechnic.

According to the statement of Mrs. Dorsey, there has been a radical change in the accounting and bookkeeping departments of commercial organizations, of which the schools have not heretofore taken cognizance. During this period of change employers have complained that high-school graduates were unable to fill the new positions, as they had learned the mental systems, to the exclusion of the mechanical.

Recently, however, the city schools made an appropriation with which to buy bookkeeping machines, and enough have been purchased that classes may be held in these various subjects. It is planned that regular students in the schools may become thoroughly experienced in the operation of the various types of machines by an hour's application each day, and complete the course in five months. Special students who wish to devote more time to the systems may attend the classes for a longer period each day and complete their courses in a few weeks.

The courses will also be available to students in the evening classes of both schools.

THOUSANDS WORKNG FOR CHILD WELFARE.

GREAT ARMY IS ENLISTED IN CAMPAIGN PUT UNDER WAY HERE.

With 5000 volunteer workers enlisted in the cause, the child welfare campaign yesterday entered upon its second day's big task of garnering funds for the benefit of thousands of needy children, cared for through the agencies co-ordinated under the Bureau of Catholic Charities.

The campaign is being carried into every home in Los Angeles through a great corps of enthusiastic parish workers, and into the city's business districts and industrial centers by a brigade of prominent business men, headed by W. Joseph Ford, chairman of the campaign executive committee; L. N. Brunswig, John G. Mott, J. J. Doran, W. J. Lockwood, Harry Fryman and others.

In connection with the campaign there is being circulated a novel bank check, which donors to the fund are using in the stead of their own personal checks.

This bears the picture of a smiling baby, and carries the campaign's slogan—"Help Share Child Welfare," and the invitation to "fill out this check—then, watch me smile."

The child welfare activities, carried on under the direction of the Bureau of Catholic Charities, are nonsectarian, and the funds secured during the campaign are for the purpose of giving aid to thousands of helpless and suffering children, who must look to strangers for their happiness, for their care and for their relief from dire need in its many phases.

HOLD-UP IS CHARGED TO JAILED SUSPECT.

WOOD WILL TAKE POST IN MANILA.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MANILA, Sept. 2.—Gen. Wood today announced his acceptance of the post of Governor-General of the Philippines, tendered to him by President Harding. Gen. Wood notified Secretary of War Weeks that he would retire from the Army to accept the Governorship. He said he believed it to be his patriotic duty to accept the position owing to the seriousness of the situation in the Philippines. Gen. Wood said he probably would not ask retirement from the Army until his appointment as Governor-General of the Philippines had been confirmed by the Senate.

Gen Wood gave out the following statement in connection with his acceptance:

"I desire to accept the Governorship because I believe the seriousness of the situation rises superior to my personal wishes. I feel that it is my patriotic duty to accept and I will undertake to assume the duties of the office as soon as possible."

According to plans decided upon today, the Wood-Forbes mission will leave Manila for China on September 10, thence proceeding to Japan and returning here about October 10. W. Cameron Forbes, who, with Gen. Wood has just completed a tour of investigation of the islands, probably will continue to the United States after leaving Japan.

Gen. Wood has requested Secretary Weeks to detail Col. Frank R. McCoy, Gordon Johnston, Maj. Edward Bowditch and Lieut. Norman R. Wood to act as assistants to the Governor-General. With the exception of Lieut. Wood all these officers, who are members of the mission, saw service in the Philippines and are familiar with island conditions, especially in Mindanao and Sulu, where the Moros are threatening serious trouble.

ENGLISH AS SHE IS TAUGHT.

The high school teacher, male species, from the northern part of the State, precise location not specified, taking the summer course in the drawing department of the college of engineering, Ohio State University, had just handed in his drawing paper, and the professor who received it, noticing that it was somewhat soiled, asked him the reason therefor. "Oh, the wind blowed it on the floor," explained the high school teacher-student. Somewhat taken back at the educator's inexcusably faulty English, and curious to know what branch he taught back home, the professor looked up his questionnaire and learned that the teacher-student's specialty was teaching English.—[Columbus Dispatch.

"Americans do not understand—they do not appreciate," sighed Tony, proprietor of the Greenwich Village Italian restaurant. "For them we must destroy our Italian customs and ignore the cherished characteristics of my race, for what?—for nothing but convenience."

"For Pete's sake, what are you muttering about, Tony?" asked Genevieve, a village model, as she entered the restaurant. "You sound as if you have a terrible grouch."

"I have and with much cause," replied Tony.

"What's the trouble?" asked Genevieve.

"The spaghetti," answered Tony.

"What's the matter, has it run away?" inquired the bright-eyed model.

"Worse than that," answered Tony. "It's all cut up."

"All cut up," exclaimed Gen. "Who cut it up?"

"I did," answered Tony.

"Whatja do it for?" asked Genevieve.

"It's these girls down here in the village," began Tony. "They are all my friends; they all like spaghetti, and they all come in here to eat. Some of them came to me the other night and said they had tolerated my spaghetti as long as they could. They said it was all right to eat spaghetti the way I served it in the privacy of one's boudoir but not in a public place. 'How can you vamp a man,' asked one, 'when you're trying to get that three-yard stuff in your mouth?' 'Cut it up in little pieces or else we won't come in any more,' said another. And that settled it. I had to order my chef from Naples to cut up all the spaghetti in the future. He cried when I told him, but it was the only thing that could be done. I must retain my patrons."—[New York Sun.

TRIBUTE PAID TO AGED WOMAN

Centennial Anniversary Dinner for Mrs. Mary Coffin.

Dr. Walter Lindley is Speaker at Whittier Gathering.

Declares More People Should Live to Her Age.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WHITTIER, Sept. 2.—More than 300 socially prominent men and women of Southern California were present last night at the banquet given by Mr. and Mrs. John E. Coffin in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the birthday of Mr. Coffin's mother, Mrs. Mary Ann Newlin Coffin. Dr. Walter Lindley of Los Angeles, in a speech on behalf of those present, said in part:

"I am voicing the sentiments of every person here in saying we consider it a great privilege to be present on this occasion. Several of the guests have radically altered their plans for the summer in order to accept the invitation to participate in this dinner. Not because Mary Coffin has lived 100 years, but in recognition of the fact that her life has been one of the highest principle, of great self-sacrifice and sturdy, courageous action. Every person who has pure ancestral blood in his veins, who meets with no serious accident and who contracts no dangerous contagious disease should reach the age of 100 years.

"There have been several here in this city of Whittier who have lived to the age of 100. My grandmother, Mary Lindley, died here at the age of 97 years, her life having been shortened by an almost fatal accident, which crippled her. Her brother, Washington Hadley, lived and died here attending, with distinguished ability, to his duties as president of one of Whittier's principal banks when he was 94.

GREAT ANCESTORS.

"In the 100 years since 1821 we have learned much in regard to diet and hygiene that tends to prolong life, but the young people of today have not learned how to select any sturdier ancestors than we had, who were born in those far-away years. Mary Coffin's father, John Newlin, was a great ancestor; a man of wonderful business acumen and a noted philanthropist.

"He, with a comparatively small group of determined citizens, realised that the people of America owed a great debt to the negroes in this country. Through villainous slave-traders from New England, New York and three or four Southern States, we went to Africa and found the negroes in their native forests as free as the birds of the air or the deer of the plain. We captured them by the thousands, drove them brutally to the Atlantic Coast and there crowded them into ships with false bottoms, these floors often being no more than eighteen inches apart. The negroes were chained together, obliged to lie down in this inhumanly small space, so that in order for one to turn over they were all obliged to turn at the same time. For two hours out of the twenty-four, they were taken out in groups and allowed to walk on the decks.

"The death rate was awful, but these slave dealers figured that they would make a large profit even though 50 per cent of the "niggers" died. From the dying, the diseased and insanitation, the stench of a slave ship could be detected, while at sea, for a distance of five miles. It is no wonder that many a poor negro woman managed to escape with her child and jump overboard welcoming the attack of the awaiting sharks.

HER TRIP NORTH.

"Mary Coffin's first trip north from her Carolina home was with her father, who was bringing sixty-six slaves to Ohio and freedom. John Newlin secured a place to work at good wages for each of these negroes. A wealthy neighbor in North Carolina had died and willed these slaves to John Newlin with the request that he take them north and free them. Before these slaves could be taken north the widow married a new husband, who thought it a shame to let $60,000 worth of "niggers" be taken out of the estate. Every obstacle was raised but finally the transfer was completed and John Newlin took them successfully to Ohio. As there were many threats against him his young daughter, who, at the age of 100 years, sits at the head of this table, went with her father believing he would be less likely to be murdered if a woman were along.

A VALIANT HUSBAND.

"When young Mary Newlin became the wife of Dr. Samuel G. Coffin her interest in emancipating the negro became more intensified. Dr. Samuel Coffin was engaged in the underground railroad scheme and maintained one of the stations. Their home was surrounded at times by ruffians and slave dealers, who threatened to burn the house and hang the doctor. Levi Coffin, his cousin, was the most noted man in this work.

"This evening in addition to expressing heartfelt appreciations and sincere congratulations to our dear friend, whom we all delight to honor, I hope also to refresh the memories of the younger generations regarding the history of the trials and the self-sacrifice of the Newlins, the Coffins, the Hadleys and a number of other resolute souls, who planted the seed that yielded, in 1863, the ripened harvest in the signature by Abraham Lincoln of the Emancipation Proclamation."

Mrs. Dora M. Stevens, wife of Frank D. Stevens, a pioneer merchant of Pasadena, died today at the family home, 85 South Michigan avenue. SEVEN ARE ARRESTED.

Five Chinese and Two White Men Held On Smuggling Charges.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 2.—Five Chinese and two white men, Jay Welch and Jim Scott of Calexico, are held in the County Jail, the Chinese held for deportation to Mexico and the two white men to answer to a charge of smuggling.

The seven were found by Immigration Inspector George W. Webb near Tecate, on the border. Webb saw one of the smugglers standing watching for some one on the San Diego-Imperial highway yesterday. In a few minutes a Studebaker limousine drove up and the inspectors stopped it. Five Chinese, My Dungay, Moy Dung Sui, Moy Dung Kun, Hom Deu and Moy Him, were concealed in the car. There were also three women's hats of the latest style, with long motor veils, and three motor coats. It was apparently the plan to dress three Chinese in these clothes and to hide the other two in the bottom of the car, but the orientals had not donned these clothes when arrested.

Welch and Scott were bound over today by Acting U. S. Commissioner J. Edward Keating, to be tried next Tuesday, and held on $2500 bail each. The Chinese are held in the jail awaiting deportation.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, Sept. 2.—That she neither kept 16-year-old Ethel Vann from her 43-year-old husband, John Vann, by force, nor sought to influence her against him, and that in befriending the girl, she did only what any other decent human being would have done under similar circumstances was the declaration this afternoon of Mrs. M. F. Stine, whose husband conducts a small grocery store in Ontario Boulevard, in denying the charges of Mr. Vann that she had exerted an evil influence over the girl. Mrs. Stine said that she had not encouraged the child-wife to flirt with other men, and branded as false the assertion that she had planned to take the young woman back with her to Oklahoma. She only took the girl in when the child begged that she befriend her in her trouble, she said.

Regarding Vann's story that she had hurried the girl into a back room and there kept her concealed from him on the occasion of two visits to Stine's store, Mrs. Stine declared today that the young wife had been out of sight on orders from the police, who had instructed the woman not to permit the girl's husband to come to her. Mrs. Stine declared today that the girl is afraid to tell her whole story for fear that her husband will kill her.

"During her stay with us," said the woman, "we were kept in constant fear. We didn't know what might happen. We were afraid to go to bed at night, afraid for the girl and for ourselves."

According to Mrs. Stine, Vann has boasted that the girl will come back to him, since he exerts an influence and power over her. It is expected that the child-wife will go back to her parents, in Somerton, Ariz., tomorrow.

Woman Quizzed After Sleuth is Shot by Husband.

Three Suspects Are Arrested; Confessed Bandit Dies.

Renewed activity on the part of deputy sheriffs engaged in the hunt for $32,000 stolen by bandits from the Huntington Park branch of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank last week, brought the following developments yesterday:

The departure of two automobiles loaded with deputy sheriffs and Burns Detective Agency men, equipped with picks and shovels, to a spot located for them by Mrs. Fowler.

The transfer of Detective Curtis T. Rule of the Burns agency, from the Receiving Hospital to the White Memorial Hospital to recover from a bullet wound in his leg, inflicted, deputies say, by Fowler before daylight yesterday.

The death at the County Hospital early yesterday of Manuel McKnight, self-confessed bank bandit who was shot down on the street last Monday night as he was attempting to escape arrest.

TWO ARRESTED.

The arrest of A. C. and J. M. Hickman, brothers named by McKnight in his confession, in which he said he participated in the bank robbery.

All yesterday afternoon the deputies dug and searched about the location given them by Mrs. Fowler, who returned shortly after 5 o'clock empty handed. An hour later other deputies, headed by Dep. Sheriffs Couts and Burns Agency Superintendent Pross, started out again to a place, the location of which was not secret.

Detective Rule was shot by Fowler, the county authorities say, while Mr. Rule and Deputy Sheriff Couts were engaged in questioning Fowler's wife at Third and Figueroa streets at 1 a.m. yesterday. Fowler and a companion came upon the officers in the act of quizzing the woman and Fowler, it is said, yelled to the woman to keep her mouth shut.

Then, turning upon Mr. Rule, Fowler is said to have attacked him but was repulsed by a blow from Mr. Rule's fist. Fowler's hand flashed to his pocket, and, drawing a revolver, he is said to have fired at Mr. Rule, the bullet entering the detective's thigh, shattering the bone.

CAPTURE ATTACKER.

Deputy Sheriff Couts dealt Fowler a blow the instant the shot was fired, and Fowler went to the pavement, where Deputy Couts handcuffed him. Mr. Rule was rushed to the Receiving Hospital and Fowler was taken to the County Jail, where a charge of assault with intent to kill was filed against him yesterday. Fowler's companion escaped after picking up the former's revolver from the sidewalk, where it had fallen.

Deputies continued their quizzing of Fowler's wife yesterday with the result that the searching parties were sent out to dig in a spot said to have been indicated by the woman.

County officers say Fowler knows all about the bandit gang.

It was said at the Coroner's office late yesterday that an inquest in the death of McKnight will be held either today or Monday.

R. C. Miller.

a week ago Thursday when we went to a cabin near the beach. We stayed there until last Sunday, going to Santa Monica. There we rented a big limousine with driver and kept it the rest of the week.

GO TO TIJUANA.

"On Monday, Miss Barker came into town with me and drew $2500 from the bank, saying she wanted to go to Tijuana to gamble. We went, reaching San Diego last Monday and staying until Tuesday. At the gambling joints we dropped probably $800 or $900. Wednesday we stayed at a hotel in Long Beach and I left her yesterday at the hotel, telling the taxi driver to take her back home if she wanted to go.

"That was the last I saw of her. Why she didn't come home Thursday I don't know. The telephone call they say was made by her at San Diego was a simple matter. She called Paula Ives, the woman at whose house she lives, and was talking to her when I came in the room. Clara asked me to talk with her and when I said 'Hello' the other woman told me to bring back Miss Barker. I told her to mind her own business.

"There was no kidnaping about the whole case and as for the money which she put up for gambling and the expenses, I'm perfectly willing to give it all back to her if she wants it."

The assertions that Miss Barker was kidnaped by airplane were erroneous, Miller explains. He and Miss Barker were in no airplanes, but he rented a plane Thursday and made a flying trip to Tijuana, arriving back at Seal Beach just before his arrest, he says. Only he and an aviator were present during this trip, he declares.

Jail Man, Hunt Partner; Stock Fraud Charged.

Charged with violation of the "blue sky law," J. L. Brooks, Jr., of Eagle Rock was lodged in the County Jail last night. The complaint was sworn out by J. D. Nelson of 1501 West Fifty-eighth street and accuses F. Clark—which is the name under which Mr. Nelson said he knew of Mr. Brooks—and another man for whom the police are searching, of obtaining money by fraud. Mr. Nelson asserts he was duped out of $2100 through stock transactions.

Mr. Brooks denies the charges of fraud and says he was a victim of the man now being hunted. He declares he lost $1650. He explains the confusion of names by saying that the other accused man induced him to enter into partnership and gave out that his partner's name was Clark. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriffs Cronin, Sweezy and Harrington and Mr. Brooks told them he is confident he can prove his innocence.

CITY'S TRAFFIC MISHAPS GROW.

Five Hundred and Eighty Were Injured in August.

Deaths Show Slight Drop from Total for July.

Report Says Hold-ups and Murders Increase.

Automobile drivers have failed to take warning and traffic accidents in Los Angeles are still on the increase. This was proved yesterday when Police Statistician L. W. Lyons submitted his monthly report to Chief Jones and showed that 580 persons were injured in traffic accidents here in August. This is an increase of thirty injuries over the total for July.

Statistician Lyons also reports that 2747 traffic accidents were reported in August compared with 2404 in July. In the city and county twenty-eight persons were killed by traffic. Twenty-one of these died in the city. This is a decrease of four as the total for July was twenty-five.

In his report Statistician Lyons states that ninety-nine hold-ups were reported in August, as against seventy-seven in July. Ten murders were reported to the police; only five were reported in July.

Arrests for intoxication decreased, according to the report, from 812 in July to 489 last month. Burglaries reported dwere 325, as against 326 for July.

Only twenty-five persons reported that their pockets were picked, although fifty-three were robbed during July.

In Statistician Lyons's detailed report, he blames 109 of the traffic accidents on "jay-walking" by pedestrians and ninety-five on the motorists for failing to give the proper signals when turning or stopping. Children playing on the streets caused sixty-one accidents; drivers disputing the right of way caused forty-nine accidents; fifty-nine accidents were caused by speeding, and forty-three by drivers not watching the road. The rest of the total is made up of accidents caused by other reasons, and by a long list of unavoidable accidents.

Eleven of the killed died as the result of collisions of automobiles, four were killed by street cars and one in a motorcycle accident. The rest were pedestrians struck by automobiles.

PORT NOTES.

The big Dutch liner Tjikembang of the Java-Pacific Line, which arrived Thursday afternoon from Batavia with 600 tons of cocoanut oil in bulk for the Vegetable Oil Company, was delayed in docking until yesterday morning because Capt. Boumans refused to take his vessel into the inner harbor to the Vegetable Oil dock.

In spite of the fact that Traffic Manager Pedersen assured Capt. Boumans that there is thirty feet of water at Wilmington at low tide, and that the vessel draws twenty-three feet of water, Capt. Boumans insisted on docking at the outer harbor.

The vessel was finally berthed at the Luckenbach dock, where the cocoanut oil was discharged into tank cars at an added expense of more than $1000 to the Vegetable Oil Company.

Three full shiploads of oil went out yesterday to northern ports. The Standard Oil tanker R. J. Hanna and the barge No. 91 left for the Richmond refinery, while the Col. L. Drake of the same company sailed for Portland.

Three steam schooners came in with lumber including the Arctic, Daisy Gadsby and the Centralia. The latter vessel is on her first voyage in the lumber trade after several years service on the Central American freight run.

The four-masted schooner Mindoro set sail for San Francisco in ballast yesterday morning after lying at anchor outside the harbor for several days awaiting orders from her owners. The vessel was expected to be towed north to do up, but instead she went north under sail. The schooner Alvena is still at anchor awaiting orders.

The 7500-ton tanker La Purisima, being built at the Southwestern shipyard for the Union Oil Company, will be launched next Saturday. This is the last vessel to be built at the local yard under present contracts.

WORKERS FIGHT GAS WELL FIRE.

Rush Preparations to Quench Signal Hill Blaze.

Will Seek to Smother Flames With Mud, Steam.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Sept. 3.—While hundreds of workmen rushed preparations for a desperate attempt to extinguish the towering plume of flame, the huge gas well known as the Shell Company's Ness No. 1 on Signal Hill that blew itself in and became ignited early today, continued to burn steadily consuming. It is estimated by Shell officials, 10,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

Gangs of workmen today tunneled to within a few feet of the big gap torn in the earth when the well blew in and laid a pipe line through which mud will be poured into the well in an effort to smother the flames. The mud pumps being placed in a position for operation this afternoon have a capacity of forty-five barrels of mud per hour. This stream will be kept pouring into the hole until the blaze is extinguished below the surface and at the mouth of the casing. Seventeen seventy-five-horsepower boilers are being assembled this afternoon to smother the surface flame with steam in conjunction with the mudding operations.

TERRIFIC ROAR.

The terrific roar which heralded the gas release together with the earth tremors which occurred when the heavy cable tools knocked the plug out of the ten-inch casing caused hundreds of persons to believe that an earthquake had occurred.

The loss through the total destruction of the derrick, the drilling equipment, engines and casing is estimated at the present as being in excess of $50,000. Should the enormous gas pressure in the well have ruined the hole the loss will exceed $175,000.

The well was spudded in on July 19, and was cemented off at a depth of 2757 feet on August 18. The total depth of the well was 2777 feet, but it had been bridged back to affect a formation shut-off. Yesterday morning the water test conducted prior to the drilling through the cement was found to be satisfactory. Late yesterday afternoon the tools were started through the cement.

SHAKES GROUND.

At midnight, Dan F. Delaney took charge of the morning tower shift of workmen. Twelve minutes after Mr. Delaney had started work the well rumbled heavily, the ground shook as if a heavy earthquake were occurring, and within thirty seconds a great volume of gas rushed through the mouth of the ten-inch casing and shooting more than 200 feet in the air, caught fire.

Mr. Delaney, hearing the rumble, shouted to his men: "Here she comes, boys. Run!" He shut off the steam, ran back along the platform and unhooked the twenty-foot walking beam. As he took his hand from the steam control wheel, the gas caught fire.

Dozens of explanations were advanced today as to the igniting of the gas, the principal one being that offered by Mr. Delaney, who stated that the first "heave" of the well resulted in the hurling of thousands of small stones, pieces of shale and cement into the air, one of which, it is believed, broke a light on the derrick. The bursting of the globe resulted in an electric spark which fired the gas.

DERRICK COLLAPSES.

For fifteen minutes the derrick burned before the uprights were weakened enough to collapse. The great crown blocks fell almost straight into the cellar of the well. The derrick engine shed and drilling engine cable tools, 300 feet of cable and various other equipment were lost. The heat from the gas was so intense that a steel shield and two streams of water were used to protect the workmen carrying hose lines fifty feet from the well. Their clothing caught fire several times.

When the gas ignited the flames shot more than 400 feet into the air. Early today they dropped to approximately 150 feet and throughout the day they have been approximately 100 feet high.

Persons at Mt. Lowe, Mt. Wilson and residents of virtually every city within sixty miles of Long Beach saw the flames.

HAD .. MUCH; .. NOW .. SHE'S .. BUSTED

However, the Possession Was Largely a Technical One.

Mrs. Sadie Dennison.

MRS. SADIE DENNISON had $300,000 or a little more at her disposal a few days ago. Now she is "busted."

But, to start the story at the beginning.

The "Poo Bah" of the county is not any official, but a young woman in the employ of the County Auditor. She has the last say. On her action depends whether or not the 3000 employees and numerous others receive their pay checks.

Mrs. Dennison is that woman, and her agile pencil checks over the pay rolls and the warrants, and when she puts her O. K. on them, they are ready to go through, and not before.

The county pay roll sometimes runs over $300,000 a month. Last June the high-water mark was reached with $304,659.49. In July it dropped to $299,312.71. For August it was just a little over $300,000, and it was this sum that Mrs. Dennison had at her disposal.

Mrs. Dennison's highly responsible position has not added hauteur to her dignity. She is affable, accommodating and sympathetic.

DAIRYMEN ALL-YEAR BOOSTERS.

Firms Pledge Aid in Drive to Advertise Southland Throughout United States.

Another group of new contributors to the All-Year Club of Southern California was reported at the meeting of the club's executive committee yesterday and included the Hansen Dairy Company, Western Farms Dairy, Roberti Brothers, Roberts-Cohen Company and Jules V. Riviere. Pledges from these subscribers were turned in by D. H. Jones and K. L. Carver.

The All-Year committee also was informed that the Retail Meat Dealers' Association of Southern California had indorsed the All-Year movement at the regular meeting of the association held Thursday night. William Clifton, president, and W. J. Estill, secretary of the association, are arranging the appointment of committees through which financial support of members of the association will be assured for the All-Year Club.

Still another organization whose members are aligned with the All-Year movement, according to an announcement made yesterday, is the Retail Grocery Distributors. Members of this body were addressed regarding the All-Year plans by D. H. Jones, of the club's executive committee, and the plan met with enthusiastic favor. Mr. Jones, who also addressed the Retail Meat Dealers, is completing plans for the indorsement of the club by organizations representing the retail grocers.

Enough of Rum Running, Says Bay City Man.

"No more for me," said Mike Benso, a San Francisco cafe man, in U. S. District Judge Trippet's court yesterday, when he paid a fine of $250 for transporting liquor in violation of the Volstead Act. "I have had all of the hootch-running I want," he declared, after pleading guilty.

His little "flyer" in the liquor business cost Benso nearly $4000. He had sixty gallons of whisky, for which he said he paid $40 a gallon in Los Angeles, and this was ordered destroyed. His machine, a Haynes, worth not less than $1000, was confiscated, and in addition he paid the fine.

Benso is proprietor of a cafe at 784 Green street, San Francisco. He ran out of liquor at his place, and, learning that some good stuff was for sale in Los Angeles, rigged up his automobile with a half dozen copper tanks, and came down here to replenish his stock. When he reached Burbank, August 17, on the homeward trip, he was overhauled by a traffic officer for exceeding the speed limit. The liquor was found and Benso and a companion placed in the County Jail. Later Benso was released on a bond of $1000. He exonerated his companion.

HAY THIEVES HUNTED.

The City Marshal of Hyde Park and his deputy came upon several men loading five tons of hay on a truck in a field and caused the men to flee yesterday, it was reported to the Sheriff's office. The truck was taken in charge and the officers are seeking the owner to question him. It was thought the truck may have been stolen, though no report of that nature was made.

Joe Nelson of Hyde Park was largely instrumental in stopping the theft yesterday.

Surprising Ignorance.

Recently a writer in the American Forestry Magazine was addressing a large audience of New England people, and asked how many knew the location of Lafayette National Park. Not a single hand was raised. Yet Lafayette Park is the only national park in New England, a gift of land by public spirited residents of Mt. Desert Island, off the coast of Maine.—[Indianapolis News.

LIQUOR FINES' TOTAL IS HIGH.

Assessments for Year Pass Hundred Thousand.

Many Liberty Bonds Used as Bail by Suspects.

Enforcement of the national prohibition law is remunerative, according to figures furnished yesterday by Clerk Williams of the United States District Court. Collections of fines totaled $112,987.49 here for the fiscal year ended last June 30. Receipts in the various months were:

In 1920—July, August and September, $10,606; October, November and December, $24,623.50.

In 1921—January, February and March, $20,645.45; April, May and June, $57,112.54.

Fines of $3000 each were paid by J. Sloto, M. J. Feinberg and H. Leib. F. Ray Groves paid the next highest amount, $2500, and there were scores of assessments ranging from $50, which was the lowest, up to the Groves fine.

The figure of $112,987.49 is not the total revenue derived from the liquor traffic, as thousands of dollars have been realized from the sales of automobiles used to transport the liquor.

It is believed that the coming year will show still larger receipts, as under a ruling of the Attorney-General, the good liquor seized is to be sold for medicinal purposes, instead of being destroyed, as is the present practice.

During the year covered by the report of Clerk Williams, U. S. Commissioner Long has handled more than $300,000 worth of Liberty Bonds, that had been deposited as bail for asserted violators of the prohibition law. Many of these securities were used in the payment of fines, having been accepted at their par value. A charge of 1 per cent is made for caring for the bonds by the clerk and commissioner, but they get no part of this fee.

SHOT ENDS LIFE.

Man Believed Grief-Stricken Because of Father's Illness Kills Self.

Believed to have been grief-stricken because of the serious illness of his father in the East, Lee Ross, 28 years of age, shot and killed himself yesterday in a hotel near First and Hill streets. The body was discovered by other inmates of the hotel, who heard the shot.

Police who investigated found the following telegram, sent from Cincinnati, near the body:

"Father was operated on. Is dying. Answer. Mother."

Ross was a foundry worker, according to the police.

SAFE IS HAULED AWAY.

Three Hundred Dollars in Loot Secured; Skylight Workers Busy.

Thieves early yesterday morning cut their way into a grocery store at 2507 Sunset Boulevard and carried away a safe containing more than $300. The safe, the police say, was loaded into a truck by the burglars.

Skylight burglars early yesterday entered a jewelry and Indian store at 621 South Hill street and, after ransacking the place, carried away several thousand dollars' worth of merchandise. The burglary was not discovered until the store was opened for business.

Yesterday morning the water test conducted prior to the drilling through the cement was found to be satisfactory. Late yesterday afternoon the tools were started through the cement.

SHAKES GROUND.

At midnight, Dan F. Delaney took charge of the morning tower shift of workmen. Twelve minutes after Mr. Delaney had started work the well rumbled heavily, the ground shook as if a heavy earthquake were occurring, and within thirty seconds a great volume of gas rushed through the mouth of the ten-inch casing and shooting more than 200 feet in the air, caught fire.

Mr. Delaney, hearing the rumble, shouted to his men: "Here she comes, boys. Run!" He shut off the steam, ran back along the platform and unhooked the twenty-foot walking beam. As he took his hand from the steam control wheel, the gas caught fire.

Dozens of explanations were advanced today as to the igniting of the gas, the principal one being that offered by Mr. Delaney, who stated that the first "heave" of the well resulted in the hurling of thousands of small stones, pieces of shale and cement into the air, one of which, it is believed, broke a light on the derrick. The bursting of the globe resulted in an electric spark which fired the gas.

DERRICK COLLAPSES.

For fifteen minutes the derrick burned before the uprights were weakened enough to collapse. The great crown blocks fell almost straight into the cellar of the well. The derrick engine shed and drilling engine cable tools, 800 feet of cable and various other equipment were lost. The heat from the gas was so intense that a steel shield and two streams of water were used to protect the workmen carrying hose lines fifty feet from the well. Their clothing caught fire several times.

When the gas ignited the flames shot more than 400 feet into the air. Early today they dropped to approximately 150 feet and throughout the day they have been approximately 100 feet high.

However, the Possession Was Largely a Technical One.

Mrs. Sadie Dennison.

MRS. SADIE DENNISON had $300,000 or a little more at her disposal a few days ago. Now she is "busted."

But, to start the story at the beginning.

The "Poo Bah" of the county is not any official, but a young woman in the employ of the County Auditor. She has the last say. On her action depends whether or not the 3000 employees and numerous others receive their pay checks.

Mrs. Dennison is that woman, and her agile pencil checks over the pay rolls and the warrants, and when she puts her O. K. on them, they are ready to go through, and not before.

The county pay roll sometimes runs over $300,000 a month. Last June the high-water mark was reached with $304,659.49. In July it dropped to $299,312.71. For August it was just a little over $300,000, and it was this sum that Mrs. Dennison had at her disposal.

Mrs. Dennison's highly responsible position has not added hauteur to her dignity. She is affable, accommodating and sympathetic.

SHOT ENDS LIFE.

Man Believed Grief-Stricken Because of Father's Illness Kills Self.

Believed to have been grief-stricken because of the serious illness of his father in the East, Lee Ross, 28 years of age, shot and killed himself yesterday in a hotel near First and Hill streets. The body was discovered by other inmates of the hotel, who heard the shot.

Police who investigated found the following telegram, sent from Cincinnati, near the body:

"Father was operated on. Is dying. Answer, Mother."

Ross was a foundry worker, according to the police.

DAIRYMEN ALL-YEAR BOOSTERS.

Firms Pledge Aid in Drive to Advertise Southland Throughout United States.

Another group of new contributors to the All-Year Club of Southern California was reported at the meeting of the club's executive committee yesterday and included the Hansen Dairy Company, Western Farms Dairy, Roberti Brothers, Roberts-Cohen Company and Jules V. Riviere. Pledges from these subscribers were turned in by D. H. Jones and K. L. Carver.

The All-Year committee also was informed that the Retail Meat Dealers' Association of Southern California had indorsed the All-Year movement at the regular meeting of the association held Thursday night. William Clifton, president, and W. J. Estill, secretary of the association, are arranging the appointment of committees through which financial support of members of the association will be assured for the All-Year Club.

Still another organization whose members are aligned with the All-Year movement, according to an announcement made yesterday, is the Retail Grocery Distributors. Members of this body were addressed regarding the All-Year plans by D. H. Jones, of the club's executive committee, and the plan met with enthusiastic favor. Mr. Jones, who also addressed the Retail Meat Dealers, is completing plans for the indorsement of the club by organizations representing the retail grocers.

Enough of Rum Running, Says Bay City Man.

"No more for me," said Mike Benso, a San Francisco cafe man, in U. S. District Judge Trippet's court yesterday, when he paid a fine of $250 for transporting liquor in violation of the Volstead Act. "I have had all of the hootch-running I want," he declared, after pleading guilty.

His little "flyer" in the liquor business cost Benso nearly $4000. He had sixty gallons of whisky, for which he said he paid $40 a gallon in Los Angeles, and this was ordered destroyed. His machine, a Haynes, worth not less than $1000, was confiscated, and in addition he paid the fine.

Benso is proprietor of a cafe at 734 Green street, San Francisco. He ran out of liquor at his place, and, learning that some good stuff was for sale in Los Angeles, rigged up his automobile with a half dozen copper tanks, and came down here to replenish his stock. When he reached Burbank, August 17, on the homeward trip, he was overhauled by a traffic officer for exceeding the speed limit. The liquor was found and Benso and a companion placed in the County Jail. Later Benso was released on a bond of $1000. He exonerated his companion.

HAY THIEVES HUNTED.

Thefts of large quantities of hay, stacked in fields near the city, are being investigated by Deputy Sheriffs Strong and Dewar.

The City Marshal of Hyde Park and his deputy came upon several men loading five tons of hay on a truck in a field and caused the men to flee yesterday. It was reported to the Sheriff's office. The truck was taken in charge and the officers are seeking the owner to question him. It was thought the truck may have been stolen, though no report of that nature was made.

Joe Nelson of Hyde Park was largely instrumental in stopping the theft yesterday.

Surprising Ignorance.

Recently a writer in the American Forestry Magazine was addressing a large audience of New England people, and asked how many knew the location of Lafayette National Park. Not a single hand was raised. Yet Lafayette Park is the only national park in New England, a gift of land by public spirited residents of Mt. Desert Island, off the coast of Maine.—[Indianapolis News.

LIQUOR FINES' TOTAL IS HIGH.

Assessments for Year Pass Hundred Thousand.

Large Additional Sum Got from Sales of Autos.

Many Liberty Bonds Used as Bail by Suspects.

Enforcement of the national prohibition law is remunerative, according to figures furnished yesterday by Clerk Williams of the United States District Court. Collections of fines totaled $112,987.49 here for the fiscal year ended last June 30. Receipts in the various months were:

In 1920—July, August and September, $10,606; October, November and December, $24,623.50.

In 1921—January, February and March, $20,645.43; April, May and June, $57,112.56.

Fines of $3000 each were paid by J. Sloto, M. J. Feinberg and H. Leib. F. Ray Groves paid the next highest amount, $2500, and there were scores of assessments ranging from $50, which was the lowest, up to the Groves fine.

The figure of $112,987.49 is not the total revenue derived from the liquor traffic, as thousands of dollars have been realized from the sales of automobiles used to transport the liquor.

It is believed that the coming year will show still larger receipts, as under a ruling of the Attorney-General, the good liquor seized is to be sold for medicinal purposes, instead of being destroyed, as is the present practice.

During the year covered by the report of Clerk Williams, U. S. Commissioner Long has handled more than $300,000 worth of Liberty Bonds, that had been deposited as bail for asserted violators of the prohibition law. Many of these securities were used in the payment of fines, having been accepted at their par value. A charge of 1 per cent is made for caring for the bonds by the clerk and commissioner, but they get no part of this fee.

SAFE IS HAULED AWAY.

Three Hundred Dollars in Loot Secured; Skylight Workers Busy.

Thieves early yesterday morning cut their way into a grocery store at 3507 Sunset Boulevard and carried away a safe containing more than $300. The safe, the police say, was loaded into a truck by the burglars.

Skylight burglars early yesterday entered a jewelry and Indian store at 621 South Hill street and, after ransacking the place, carried away several thousand dollars' worth of merchandise. The burglary was not discovered until the store was opened for business.

DAVIS CUP NOT LIABLE TO TRAVEL THIS YEAR.

BY FRED HAWTHORNE.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—America swept the field in the first day of play for the Davis cup on the turf championship courts of the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills, William T. Tilden II of Philadelphia defeating Zenzo Shimidzu of Japan by a score of 5-7, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2, 6-1, and William M. Johnston of California conquering Ichiya Kumagae of Japan by a score of 6-2, 6-4, 6-2, in the first match played.

Yes, we swept the field, in truth, but final victory did not come until this erratic tennis genius, Tilden, had stirred the thousands packed in the stands as tennis galleries have rarely been stirred before.

The world's singles champion faced what looked like certain defeat in the third set, when little Shimidzu, with two sets in and leading at 5-4, and 30-all in the third, needed only two points for the match, but then we saw the typical Tilden, the same wizard who had pulled out of hopeless situations so many times before by a sudden burst of added speed, or a shot of superbrilliance, that left his opponent dumbfounded and the gallery amazed by the sheer daring of the shot.

STROKE OF GENIUS.

And it came today, this single stroke of genius. After a vicious drive to the corner of deep court had made the score 30-40 in Tilden's favor, Shimidzu in an exchange of drives from the base line sent one of his low forehand shots whistling down the side line as Tilden came racing for the net. The world's champion was caught out of position and only desperate measures would save the day for him then, but he was more than equal to the demands made upon him.

Taking the flying ball on the full volley on his backhand, Tilden brought a tremendous outburst of applause from the wrought-up gallery by executing a marvelous block volley, short, and to the side line. Shimidzu, who had believed the point his and had remained rooted to the base line, saw the ball fall gently into his court twenty feet away, but made scarcely a move to make a return. It seemed though, the little Japanese was too amazed at the daring of the shot, and the brilliancy of it to recover in time to try to get up to the ball.

WINS THE MATCH.

That one stroke really won the match for Tilden. It seemed to inspire him and urge him on, until he was hitting an unbeatable streak of tennis. Winning that game and squaring the set at 5-all he took the next two games for the set at 7-5, and that was the start of the thrilling uphill battle that was at last to end in a Tilden victory.

In the last two sets the champion was himself again. Confidence showed in his every stroke, there was a new power in his shots and an aggressiveness that had been sadly lacking before. Shimidzu, apparently not greatly worried by the loss of that third set which he had come perilously close to winning, still maintained a friendly little smile as he left for the locker room in the intermission rest before the start of the fourth set. He was tired at the end of the third set, but Tilden was exhausted, physically and mentally, and the tide of battle still appeared to set strongly in favor of the Japanese.

But when they came out for the fourth set after some fifteen minutes of respite from the furious expenditure of energy in the first three it was Tilden who seemed the fresher and the more eager to renew the struggle. After the games had reached 3-2, the world's champion ran wild against his plucky little opponent and won the last three games with the loss of only three points. It was unbeatable tennis he was playing at this stage and Shimidzu was well nigh helpless before the onslaught.

I think the Japanese realized for the first time in the middle of the fourth set that the victory which had so nearly been his was to finally go to his tall foeman.

There is little to be said concerning the match in which Johnston overwhelmed Kumagae in straight sets. The Californian's game rarely rose to spectacular heights, for Johnston does not build on the sensational in his tennis, but rather on an intense concentration and never slacking determination that only super-tennis can offset.

PERFECTION ITSELF.

It was mainly a case of Johnston's furious forehand drives against Kumagae's rather erratic back-court game. The Californian was sending the ball back into Kumagae's court so speedily that the Japanese star was forced to hurry his own strokes to make the return. There was a deadly perfection about Johnston's game today that frequently disguised its great strength. His service appeared to give Kumagae all kinds of trouble and when the Japanese rallied, as he did on several occasions, the opposition only seemed to rouse Johnston to new heights of tennis might.

Kumagae was crushed by the power of Johnston's ground strokes, and when he attempted to take the net position it was only to be met by the Californian's deadly overhand volleys that sent Kumagae scuttling to safety again.

GRAY IS GUILTY ON FILM CHARGE.

OMAHA, Sept. 2.—Clarence Gray, Jersey City, N. J., charged with transporting films of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight from New Jersey to Nebraska, entered a plea of guilty in Federal court here today.

Federal Judge J. W. Woodrough announced sentence would be deferred sixty days.

A private exhibition of the pictures was given to newspaper men here shortly after the charge was preferred recently against Gray, who is a representative of the Tex Rickard company.

GRAND JURY IS AFTER RICKARD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 2. — Tex Rickard, promoter of the Dempsey-Carpentier championship boxing bout, was indicted by the Federal grand jury today on charges of transporting moving pictures of the match in violation of the Federal law. Rickard was arrested recently when he brought the film from New York to Chicago and was released on bond.

Angels Salt Battle Away in the Sixth Inning.

McCabe Adds Zip to Game by Being Thrown Out.

Apparently Bill Wrigley's new baseball team has made up it's mind to win one ball game a day. In the case of doubleheaders the club is perfectly content with 50 per cent of the victories. When it comes to one whole afternoon given over to one single ball game, however, nothing less than the whole works will do.

CALL IT A DAY.

The Angels scored two runs in the sixth inning, juggled them thoughtfully while Portland was scoring one in the seventh, and then called it a day. Nothing occurred from then on to make the task of keeping a score card an intricate or difficult proposition.

Walter McCredie picked Ross to do the pitching for the Ducks, with Red Killefer pinned his faith on Hughes. The selections were good and both artists ran things along into the sixth inning without even getting it into tepid water. Ross allowed one hit during this time and managed to keep it well scattered. Hughes fanned eight Portland players and kept three or four innings between each of the two hits he passed out.

In fact, the only event of pith and moment in the early stages of the game was when McCabe was heaved boldly out of the line-up in the second for crabbing at the umpire.

ACTION STARTS.

The sixth brought action. Hughes, feeling that it was up to him to win his own ball game, singled infield. Statz knocked one to the right-field fence, but was forced to slow up at second for fear of running over Hughes, who panted into third but couldn't go any further without catching his breath. McAuley then singled to right, Hughes scored, and Statz was held on third. Carroll popped a long fly to Gingiardi and Statz easily scored after the catch. Griggs flew to Grantham and McAuley was nipped by a quick throw to first which caught him so far off the sack that he couldn't get back or anywhere else.

Portland made it's dying gasp in the seventh, scored one run, and died. Cox singled to left. Poole forced him at second, Niehoff to McAuley. Wolfer singled to right and Poole hustled around to third. Grantham sent a long high fly to Crawford and Poole scored after the catch. Fisher, batting for King, singled to left, but Ross forced him at second, McAuley to Niehoff, before anything startling could happen.

SMALL CROWD.

A small crowd turned out for the game. It is feared that the Angel fish have become so accustomed to a double bill-of-fare that they will not bite on a single game. Fishing looks good, however, as doubleheaders are scheduled for today, Sunday and Monday, all to start at 1:30 p.m. and all for the price of a single game.

TO EXAMINE COVELESKIE.

CLEVELAND (O.) Sept. 2.—Pitcher Stanley Coveleskie of the Cleveland Indians, returned from Detroit today to undergo examination by Dr. H. M. Castle, club physician, as to the extent of the strain to Coveleskie's side sustained in a game yesterday in Detroit.

MEXICO INVITES GOLFERS.

Gen. Alvaro Obregon, the President of Mexico, has offered two beautifully engraved cups as prizes for the open golf championship of Mexico, to be played on the course of the Mexico City Country Club, Sunday, September 18.

This match is open to everybody of amateur standing, and invitations have been addressed to the members of all the country clubs in the Southern and Western States, inviting them to participate.

Due to the variation of method in handicapping, all visitors will play from scratch, and all members of the local club will play with their club handicaps. A trophy for each class eliminates any hardship that might result if there were only one trophy.

The prizes will be presented to the winners by President Obregon in person at a Grand Ball on September 22, with which the members of the Mexico City Country Club are assisting in the celebration of the Centennial Festivities.

Mr. Harry Wright, the president of the Mexico City Country Club, is anxious that as many as possible from clubs in the States enter this contest, and will be glad to reply to any inquiries concerning it.

The entry list closes Friday, September 16.

INTER-CITY PLAY CARNIVAL.

Today at Paddock Field, Pasadena, more than 500 young people between the ages of 10 and 19 years will compete in a program of sports in the Inter-City Play Carnival under the direction of John H. Sigler, in charge of summer playground work in Pasadena.

All boys or girls who present themselves at the entrance to the field before 1:30 o'clock today with a bike will be admitted without the charge. The bike represents their ticket of admission. They will also be allowed to enter the big parade that circles the field before the carrying out of the athletic events. The program starts at 2 p.m.

At least twelve communities have sent contestants. With the exception of the old-fashioned high-wheel bicycle racers, there will be no contestant over the age of 18 years. The old-fashioned bike race is expected to be one of the amusing events of the afternoon. Several former champions have agreed to attempt a race on these wheels.

In the evening the Pasadena section of the Drama League of America will hold a community dance, the American Legion post of Pasadena backing the project.

CUT BOXERS' PURSES SOME MORE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Further action to decrease heavy purses offered boxers was taken today by the New York State Boxing Commission, which recently ordered that participants in the bouts be paid on a percentage basis instead of a flat guarantee.

Today the commission ordered that total payments to the participants in the main event of a boxing exhibition be limited to 50 per cent of the net receipts. Neither participant shall be given more than 75 per cent of the boxers' share.

Payment for preliminary matches were fixed at not less than $10 a round. The winner will receive compensation for entire number of rounds scheduled and the loser for only the length of the bout. The maximum price for admission to a fight was raised from $15 to $25.

CINEMA CENSOR MUST BE NAMED.

Mayor Says He Has No Choice in Enforcing Law.

Repeal of Ordinance the Only Way to Forestall Action.

Producers and Exhibitors Likely to Protest.

Los Angeles is to have an official film censor to be known as Commissioner of Films, who is to pass on all motion pictures before they are shown in this city. This was indicated by Mayor Cryer last evening, following his examination of an ordinance enacted in 1917. Because of the opposition of the motion-picture producers and exhibitors at that time, the enforcement of the measure was left in the hands of the City Prosecutor under the promise of the film men to co-operate with the prosecutor in keeping the screens of the city clean of immoral or otherwise objectionable films.

The protest over Mrs. Clara Smith Hamon Gorman's picture, "Fate," resulting in an order from the City Council to the City Prosecutor to prevent the exhibition of the picture here, brought to light the ordinance calling for the creation of an official film censor at a salary of $2100 a year, the city to receive 25 cents for each film viewed by him. Speaking of the ordinance, Mayor Cryer said:

"The ordinance is a law of the city until it is repealed, and I can see no other course for me than to appoint the Commissioner of Films. It is mandatory upon me to do so. If the Council should repeal the ordinance, the position would be automatically abolished."

Mayor Cryer said that he had not had sufficient time to go fully into the matter or consider whom he should appoint as the official motion-picture censor. Motion-picture producers and exhibitors are certain to urge the Council to repeal the ordinance on the ground that the City Prosecutor is enforcing the law against improper motion pictures, and that an official censor is unnecessary, and that the 25-cent fee would be an unjust burden on the exhibitors.

Chief Deputy City Prosecutor Friedlander said that, in compliance with the order of the City Council to enforce the ordinances regulating motion pictures, special investigators will be sent out to inspect films being shown at local theaters to determine whether the laws are being complied with.

George Shires, who died at an advanced age in 1919, desired to give one-third of his $90,000 estate to religious work. His will, which is now being attacked in the Probate Court, gave $5000 to the Bible House, $30,000 to the Bible Institute, $10,000 to his sister, Elizabeth Brown; $1000 to Rev. Augustus B. Pritchard, a Presbyterian pastor, and bequeathed the balance of the estate to his care with this expression, that he relied upon him to use it according to the dictates of his conscience and to the glory of God.

Theodore Allen, a nephew, contesting the legacies, asserts that a trust is created and, being more than one-third of the estate, the religious bequests are void. He asks that they be set aside.

Robert Young represents the Bible House; Nathan Newby, the Bible Institute; Attorney McElroy is counsel for Rev. Mr. Pritchard, and Marshall Nuckolls of San Francisco is attorney for Mr. Allen. Judge Myers is hearing the contest.

MASS FOR CARUSO.

Memory of Tenor Will be Honored at Local Church.

A solemn high mass will be read for the repose of the soul of Enrico Caruso, whose death has been mourned by the whole world, next Monday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Vincent's Church.

The music will be mostly in the Gregorian style, though some selections will be from classic composers.

The offertory will be a composition by Caruso's friend and compatriot, Father Tonello.

Mmes. Sprotte, Colby and Devereaux, and M. Campana, Bravo, Pla, Porter and others will be among the soloists.

A card with the portrait of Caruso will be distributed to all attendants to mass as a souvenir by Father Tonello.

"EXPERIENCE" WILL FOLLOW GLYN FILM.

"Experience," George Fitzmaurice's production, starring Richard Barthelmess, will follow the fifth week of "The Great Moment" at Grauman's Rialto. The picture will therefore open the 11th inst. Starting the final day of Paramount Week, the production will end seven days of marked activity at the Rialto. At both evening performances Wednesday Milton Sills will appear in person and discuss the rattlesnake bite incident of "The Great Moment." Elinor Glyn will speak next Friday night.

NAVAL OFFICERS VISIT LLOYD.

Gold braid and gold buttons flashed brilliantly yesterday on the oriental street set constructed at the Hal E. Roach Studios for Harold Lloyd's comedy under production "A Sailor-Made Man" when the following officers and their wives from the U.S.S. Frederick were guests of the comedian: Admiral and Mrs. H. O. Stickney, Capt. W. S. Sexton, Lieut.-Commander and Mrs. E. M. Woodson, Lieut.-Commander and Mrs. F. L. Conklin, Lieut.-Commander and Mrs. S. L. Wilson, Lieut.-Commander and Mrs. R. J. Weeks, Commander and Mrs. S. A. Taffinder, Lieut. H. Sinclair, Lieut. and Mrs. C. S. Padgett and Miss Mildred Padgett and Lieut. Reinburg. Mildred Davis and members of the Harold Lloyd company met the visitors, all of whom are ardent admirers of the comedian. The party was provided with cameras that clicked vigorously on Lloyd at work and in special poses. It was the first time the officers and their wives had visited a studio lot.

NEWPORT HOLDS YACHT SOIREE.

Three-Day Regatta is Billed by Southern Club.

Informal Hop Will Liven Up Things Tonight.

Admit Motor-Boat Men Into S.C.Y. Association.

Mapping out a yachting and motorboat program for over the holidays in the usual big league style that has made it one of the most successful yacht clubs on the Pacific Coast, the Newport Harbor Yacht Club is to hold a three-day regatta at Newport today, tomorrow and Monday.

It is announced by Commodore Albert Soiland that craft from the Los Angeles Yacht and Los Angeles Motor-boat clubs will leave today for the southern bay to contend in the various events to be put on. The ships from San Pedro are to leave the harbor at will for Balboa and will be met by towboats and pilots, furnished by the Newport hosts off the Balboa pier.

An informal hop for visiting yachtmen and members of the Newport club is to be held tonight at the spacious Newport clubhouse.

A race for sloops over a six-mile triangular course off Balboa and Newport is to be held tomorrow afternoon. The first trophy will be known as the regatta committee trophy. Second prize will be a sixteen-inch compass. Also on Sunday a race for ketches and yawls will be held over the same course with the Newport club trophy up for the winning ship.

On Monday, September 5, at 10 a.m., a twelve-mile handicap race for speed boats will be held over an inside course. The race will be open for boats under 800 cubic-inch engine displacement. The vice-commodore's trophy will be awarded the winner.

With most of followers of the yachting and motorboat game being at Newport for the week-end, some important doings in the Southern California Yachting Association will come up. Admiral Albert Soiland has called for a meeting of officers and representatives for Sunday evening at the directors' rooms of the Newport Yacht Club.

The body, which has this season put yachting on a level never before equaled in the West, will take up business matters in connection with the functioning of the association. Also at this meeting, representatives of the motorboat game will be incorporated into the yachting association.

This will be one of the biggest things in pleasure craft circles that has happened since the association was first talked over, nearly a year ago.

It is planned to make future motorboat and speed boat racing fully as successful as the huge regatta held recently at Santa Barbara, where over forty ships of the sailing class were assembled for a week. A. Lester Best, chairman of the regatta committee, was mainly responsible for that.

The yachting association, through Admiral Soiland, has received a resolution of the speed boat bugs to this effect, also that motorboat racing will be conducted in four classes.

The various officials of the yachting and motorboat clubs throughout Southern California are highly enthused over the outcome of the 1921 season, which is far from being finished.

The yachting association has received an invitation from both the Los Angeles and San Pedro Chamber of Commerce for the crafts of the association to participate in Discovery Day, which takes place at the Los Angeles Harbor on October 14-15. Admiral Soiland announces that the association intends to map out many interesting racing events.

OF ROMANTIC SCHOOL.

The "Nineteenth Century Musical Review," which Mischa Guterson has arranged for the Grauman concert Sunday morning will include "Ruy Blas" overture (Mendelssohn;) "Nocturne, No. 2" (Chopin;) "Bohemian Girl" selection (Balfe;) "Traumerei" (Schumann,) and "Mignon" selection (Thomas.) Miss Violet Cossack, the 16-year-old pianist, who shortly will leave for a concert tour of Europe, where she will also continue her studies, will be the soloist, rendering "Campanella," by Liszt.

IN "PILGRIMAGE PLAY."

WANT MORE (PROP.) PAY.

Tom Galloway and Charley Buck of the "Tailor-Made Man" company at the Morosco, have been demanding an increase in salary ten times a week for the past two months. On the stage, however, not in the manager's office.

WHAT CAUSES TAN.

Sun's Rays Burst Tiny Blood Vessels, Which Turn Brown.

A tanned complexion makes the plain person good looking, and the good looking better looking. We all like to be sunburned, but not all of us know how the tan comes.

The truth is that thousands of the tiny blood vessels beneath the skin have to be ruptured before we can tan. The heat rays of the sun first inflame and then rupture them. The skin cannot then resist the heat. The cooling shield beneath the skin has gone, and browning takes place.

Those unfortunate folk whose complexions change to a vivid red instead of an attractive brown have, contrary to the popular notion, tough, thick skins. The latter resists the rays, and these is surface inflammation instead of browning.

Those whose noses peel have skins in which the perspiration ducts are clogged. Thus there is nothing to "oil" the skin, and it peels because it is dry.

Finally—this will be news to many—only the white races tan, scorch, peel or blister from the action of the sun. A black man will get much hotter than a white man, because black skin absorb the heat and pass it beneath the skin. It has no external effect.

Freckles are but tan in patches, due to a varying thickness of the skin.—[Kansas City Times.

Annual Dipsea Race to be Run in North Today.

MILL VALLEY (Cal.) Sept. 2.—The seventeenth annual Dipsea cross-country race will be run from this town over the Marin county hills September 18. It is a gruelling contest of seven and seven-eighths miles, with two climbs of about 1000 and 1500 feet each before the beach is reached at Willow Camp.

The record for the course is held by Mason Hartwell, who ran it in 1912 in 47m. 54s. Hartwell, running as scratch man last year, finished in second position and with best time. He will be placed at scratch again this year and will run under the Olympic Club's colors.

Although the course is so severe—it starts with some 800 steps corduroyed into the hill—runners finish in good physical condition, due to weeks of training and elimination by physical examination. Last year there were 167 entries and 121 men finished.

Producers Predict General Business Betterment.

Elimination of Middlemen to be Brought About.

Economical betterment in the picture business, so far as it affects film distribution for many producers, was heralded yesterday by local business heads of the Associated First National, as a result of the merger consummated between the Associated Producers and that organization yesterday in Chicago. It is even indicated that this economy will result not only in an improvement in the artistic quality of productions, but also may enable a reduction in the admission prices of the theaters.

According to Associated Press dispatches, the deal between the two picture concerns, which involves a stated sum of $50,000,000, would eliminate the middleman of distributor. Announcement of the closing of negotiations was made by officials of both concerns in Chicago.

In regard to the amalgamation, John McCormick, western representative of First National, said last night:

"So far no word has reached the western officers confirming the Associated Press dispatch from Chicago. If the usually infallible Associated Press is correct, the union of the two organizations will have a far-reaching effect.

SAVING IS SEEN.

"The doing away with a double system of exchanges, which at present duplicates the work of picture distribution, will mean a great saving.

"This saving will enable First National exhibitors to meet the great expense now being borne in maintaining the fight against censorship throughout the country and the excessive film taxes. Theater owners who now pay seat taxes, license taxes, high insurance rates, real estate taxes, film rental taxes and music taxes, and who support both local and national appeals for charity will indirectly be relieved of their burdens.

"The cost of pictures such as are now being turned out necessitates the present scale of theater admission prices. The public does not want and will not go back to cheaper pictures.

"The union of Associated Producers and First National and a possible elimination of a dual system of exchanges would presumably enable the theater owners who compose the First National organization to obtain their pictures at a price which would enable them to make a reasonable profit. At the present moment exhibitors are barely able to keep their theaters open because of the high cost of pictures and their inability to charge more for admission.

RELIEF FOR PRODUCER.

"The producer will be relieved of the burden of supporting big staffs of distributing salesmen in a score or more of the largest cities in the country. And thus lightened of his load he can put more money into his plays. And thus the public which constantly demands bigger and finer productions will benefit in its turn."

Film men whose names appear on the contract are: Robert Lieber, president; Harry Schwalbe, secretary and treasurer of the First National; Thomas H. Ince, Mack Sennett, J. Parker Read, H. O. Davis, Oscar A. Price, Maurice Tourneur and others of the Associated Producers.

David Bershon, general manager of the local First National Exchange, states that he has already begun preparations for the expansion program, which will necessarily begin with the absorbing of Associated Producers' releases. Additional vaults and shipping facilities are to be added to the newly opened exchange on South Olive street.

IMPETUS RECEIVED.

Gore Brothers, Ramish and Sol Lesser, following the news of the deal, decided to centralize all their activities upon the completion of more than fifteen theatrical deals now pending for building, absorbing and rebuilding. They hold the western franchise for the pictures.

The Associated Producers, Inc., was originally formed to include Marshall Neilan, the late George Loane Tucker, Thomas H. Ince, Allan Dwan, Mack Sennett and Maurice Tourneur. Later J. Parker Read, J. W. Frothingham, King Vidor and one or two other producers became members. Mr. Neilan never transferred his own interests from First National, while Mr. Tucker died before he ever made a picture for the Associated Producers.

It is said that Al Lichtman, sales manager for the Associated Producers, will by the deal become similarly identified with First National.

THREE MEN SENTENCED.

Given Term in Prison on Charges of Burglary and Check Passing.

Three men were sentenced to San Quentin yesterday by Judge Willis.

George E. Webb, accused of burglary, changed his plea to guilty, waived time and was sentenced for from one to five years for second degree burglary of the shop of Benjamin Levy in the Delta Building.

A. E. Stinson, convicted of passing a fictitious check for $400 on the First National Bank of Monrovia, was sentenced to prison for from one to fourteen years.

SEEK MISSING MAN.

Officers Asked to Help Locate Italian Gone Several Days.

Search was started yesterday for Frank Lobaldo, whose occupation is given as a barber, of 1309 Channing street, who disappeared from his home on August 28, Jose Genco, uncle of the missing man, reported to the Sheriff's office yesterday Mr. Genco said that his nephew had two diamond rings and other jewelry and $150 in cash when he disappeared. He is an Italian, age 28 years, five feet, five inches tall and rather slender.

BUREAU AT POSTOFFICE HUMANIZED.

Scope Broadened to Give Tourists Information on City or All Southland.

Postmaster-General Hays's efforts to humanize the postoffices in the country appears in an order just received by Postmaster O'Brien.

Heretofore, there has been a department of the office on the first floor dedicated to the dissemination of information, but this has had to do only with postoffice business. Now, its scope is to be widened, and instead of the bureau being confined to telling callers why the postoffice is on earth, trying to "square up" on the nondelivery of a letter, or adjusting the grievances that are constantly arising in the postoffice establishment, it will be used for the benefit of the public, to the end that information may be had about anything in the city.

It will be the business of the clerks to advise tourists as to the best way to reach certain points, give the location and length of the network of highways that radiate in every direction from the city, furnish the names of the hotels at any designated point, the rates, and how to get there; give the location of the public buildings of the city and how to reach them—in a word, furnish any information to callers that may be desired, not only about Los Angeles, but Southern California. It will be a guide to the tourists, and it is expected that the attaches will be so proficient that they will be able to answer any query put to them.

That such an enlargement of the information bureau at the local postoffice would be a good thing for thousands of people, goes without saying. It marks another attempt of Postmaster-General Hays to place the postoffice establishment close to the people, and no doubt will be appreciated.

Building for Teachers With Tuberculosis.

Announcement was made yesterday of the decision of the executive committee of the California Tuberculosis Association to use the bequest left to the association by the late Bancroft E. Beeman of Los Angeles for a building at the Barlow Sanatorium for the exclusive use of teachers suffering with tuberculosis.

"This action was taken after carefully considering the various professional groups in the State," says Edythe Tate-Thompson, director of the Bureau of Tuberculosis of the State Board of Health.

"So many appeals in the last two years have been made to the association by teachers with tuberculosis, coupled with the fact that in many instances in the various schools they have helped send them to sanatoria," she said, "that considering the salary and the work done by the teachers, it is a splendid monument to Mr. Beeman's thoughtfulness and generosity."

The building will be a cement, one-story structure, with individual sleeping and dressing rooms. Ground will be broken and building begun at once.

Marriage Pact Smashed; Wife Seeks Divorce.

When John A. and Kate B. Lindstrom of Los Angeles Harbor were married in 1918, they entered into a partnership agreement, a provision of which was that the community property should be disposed of at the demand of either party. They accumulated $2700 in cash.

One day Mr. Lindstrom wrote his wife a letter in which he stated that he gave her twenty-five minutes within which to vacate the house.

Mrs. Lindstrom complied with the demand. At his request she signed a check for $2700 and gave it to him.

In doing this she was not as compliant as it would seem, for, in Judge Summerfield's court yesterday, where she sought a divorce on the ground of desertion, she declared she gave her husband all of the community money on the principle that if he was the man she thought he was, he would return her half. If he was not the man she believed him to be, he would keep it all. He kept it all, and her ideal was shattered, she said.

"Now I am happy in a partnership of my own, she concluded. The court took the case under submission.

SAYS LOVE IS KILLED.

Letters From "Misunderstood" Wife Help Husband Get Decree.

Mrs. Clara Fuller apparently found unhappiness after she married Benjamin B. Fuller. Mr. Fuller was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge Myers. He produced letters written to him by his wife, one of which read in part:

"I had no business getting married. No one understands me but one person and that one person's name I'll never mention."

She also wrote him that "I won't live with you and pretend. You simply killed my love for you with your selfishness."

TWO ARE BANKRUPT.

Levi M. Ralph, a merchant of Long Beach, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the U. S. District Court yesterday, giving his debts as $4634.33, and his assets as $1900, of which $1800 is in cash, something quite out of the ordinary in bankruptcy petitions. G. W. Turner, a pharmacist of this city, owes $1176.25, and has $50 with which to pay his bills, according to a petition filed in the same court yesterday.

TUJUNGA MOON FESTIVAL OPEN.

Unique Concessions Provided to Amuse Visitors.

Dancing is Most Popular of Features Offered.

Tujunga, the picturesque community which lies sheltered between the green Verdugo hills and the mountains of the Sierra Madre range, yesterday extended its hospitality to the great outside world, inviting the general public to attend and participate in the brilliant moon festival which is being held there for the benefit of Monte Vista Post, American Legion.

The festival is to be of five days' duration, closing Tuesday night with a special entertainment program, the announcement of the winner of the queen contest and a riot of fun-making in the way of a carnival dance with confetti and streamers.

It is a pretentious program of entertainment that is being offered the visitors by the Tujungans during the week of festivities. Many novelties will be staged as a part of the affair, these including the huge camp fire around which the visitors and campers will gather each evening for community singing, story-telling and other pleasure features.

HONEY-MAKING EXHIBIT.

There is an exhibition of honey-making by a gang of expert bees, who are ignoring all union laws by working at their trade this week without respect to the eight-hour a day edicts.

Another novelty scheduled for the big program will be the speed contest in cobblestone laying, to be held Monday afternoon. The contestants will be George Harris and C. G. Terry.

Yesterday's program featured the official opening ceremonies of the festival, including addresses, the presentation of the community flag to the boys of Monte Vista Post by the Woman's Club and the flag-raising ceremonial.

During the afternoon the members of the Woman's Club held an informal reception for the visiting women, and one of the special attractions of the evening was the special dance number presented by the pupils of the Pearl Keller School of Glendale at the dance pavilion.

NOVEL CONCESSIONS.

Many novel concessions serve to amuse and divert the throng of visitors to the Moon Festival, while dancing is one of the most popular of the entertainment offerings. A merry-go-round, unique show features and any number of other attractions are included.

Today will be observed as Fraternal Day. A general program of activities is scheduled, and the "Millionaires' Club of Happiness and Contentment" will keep open house throughout the day for the initiation of new members, and will issue drafts on the Bank of Happiness to all applicants.

This evening will feature a special entertainment as well as dancing and the amusement offerings.

"All arrows lead to Tujunga" during the next few days, and motorists will find the eighteen-mile drive a delightful one through Glendale, thence along the Verdugo road to the State highway, and west to Tujunga and the Grove.

Camp sites, with water and parking space free, are offered to vacationists for the week-end at a very nominal cost, and many Los Angeles citizens are planning for this unique outing during the Moon Festival.

TO REST IN HOMELAND.

Body of Filipino Editor May be Sent to Islands For Burial.

The body of V. Navarro Mercado, young Filipino newspaper man, who died of tuberculosis at his home Thursday evening, may be transferred to the Philippine Islands for burial, according to plans discussed at a meeting of members of the local Filipino colony last night.

Sr. Mercado was editor of the Philippine Advocate, a monthly, devoted to the cause of Philippine independence, and president of the Philippine Independence Club. His father is a wealthy Filipino planter on the island of Luzon. He was educated in the public schools in the islands, and graduated from the school of journalism at the University of Missouri. Until a month ago he was employed on a morning newspaper in Los Angeles. He was 25 years old.

The Philippine Advocate will be edited hereafter by B. M. Gancayco. Teodoro Buenaventura, a senior in the College of Law at the University of Southern California, will serve as associate editor.

EIGHTY NEW CITIZENS.

Subjects of Great Britain Lead With Total of Thirty-two.

In two sessions of the naturalization court yesterday, U. S. District Judge Trippet admitted eighty applicants to the honors and responsibilities of American citizenship, as follows:

Subjects of Great Britain, thirty-two; Austria, eight; Germany, nine; Italy, six; Russia, five; Belgium, four; France, three; Norway, two; Sweden, four; Switzerland, three, and one each from Greece, Holland, Denmark and Rumania.

There were 210 names on the list of applicants, but an unusual number of aliens failed to appear at the morning session of the court.
